If "Big Chief" Manning's name had been "Rain-in-the-Face" it might have helped matters somewhat, but the Hillsboro sluggers had no respect for the "Big Chief" and hammered his offerings in all directions to defeat Oswego 7 to 3 in the second game of the Portland Valley league at Athletic park Sunday afternoon.

"Poison Ivy"
Sammy Iverson twisted his slants around the Oswego crew in good fashion and let them down with six hits. "Ivy" was poison ivy to the last year's champions and hurled eight innings without being scored on. Sam would have registered a shutout but in the last canto he weakened and eased up a little, permitting a walk, a single, another

Tax Money Rolls In Slow; Force On Duty 12 to 1

First half tax payments have been coming in slow and statements are not being called for, according to Arthur Kroeger, deputy sheriff in charge of the tax collection department. May 5 is the last day for the payment of the first half without penalty.

Argus Cooking School Opens Tuesday; Many Awaiting Mrs. Bartlett

"Delectable Left-Overs" Will Be Subject at First of Four Free Lectures at Venetian Theater, Sponsored by Newspaper and Gas Company; Appetizing Dishes, Well Within the Pocketbook of Family, to Be Prepared.

"Delectable left-overs" Who ever heard of such a thing? We've all had left-overs, but most of us have few fond memories of them. Nevertheless "delectable left-overs" will be featured by Rose Bartlett at the Hillsboro Argus Cooking School, which will open Tuesday, April 24, at 2:30, at the Venetian Theater, on Main street. Come and learn how it is done. This will be the first of four free lectures and demonstrations given by Rose Bartlett under the auspices of the Hillsboro Argus and the Home Service Department of the Appetizing new dishes, well within the means of the average family, will be prepared. Something different will be demonstrated every day, and an entirely new program from that of last year will be given. Those ladies who attended the school in previous years know how much valuable information is obtained and how interesting these talks are.

You have heard the story of the baker's boy who, when told to roll jelly rolls with a hot towel, rolled the towel into the jelly roll! At the Tuesday class Rose Bartlett will demonstrate a quick, inexpensive jelly roll that doesn't crack, that is unless it becomes "temperamental." If you have ever argued with a "temperamental" jelly roll, you will appreciate a recipe with the "temper" removed. As usual Mrs. Bartlett will tell you of various changes to be made in this recipe, a chocolate roll or a change in filling.

The menu Tuesday will also include tea rolls, a fancy biscuit all dressed up with fruit and nuts; prune nut bread, planned especially for Oregon's prune orchards; the luncheon loaf, a meat substitute wherein prunes again figure prominently; and then to fill the ever-present need of something quick and appetizing for lunch, a cheese fondue and cottage cheese sausages.

Recipe sheets, covering the full details of each item on the program, will be handed out to all attending the class lectures. In like manner, the recipe sheets will be furnished later classes and should be preserved for future use in the home. Rose Bartlett will prepare all the recipes used for demonstration during the class period. The ladies present will have the pleasure of seeing the food prepared, placed on the modern gas range or in the oven with automatic control and removed on schedule time perfectly cooked.

While preparations have been made for seating a large attendance, it is suggested that the ladies come as early as possible to be sure of getting a good seat and admittance to the class.

One Board for State Schools Is Advocated

Candidates Talk at Grange Meeting Saturday

Income Tax Is Urged

Ability to Pay Should Be the Basis for All Taxation, Says Banker

That the state's two institutions of higher learning—the University of Oregon and the Oregon State college—should be under one board in the interests of business economy, was the statement made by Edward Schulmerich, local banker and candidate for the republican nomination for state senator from this county, in an address before an open meeting of the Hillsboro Grange Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Rollins Arranges
The program, which was arranged by the lecturer, Mrs. Tom Rollins, included short talks by a number of candidates.

Mr. Schulmerich said the two schools were competitive rather than co-operative. He said the institutions were spending millions without an accounting. The senatorial candidate wanted it understood that he was not opposed to education, for he felt that all advancement had been made through education. He called himself the best friend the two big schools had. The speaker classified the normals as the biggest pork barrels within the state.

The local banker advocated an income tax and described the talk that such a tax would drive industry out of the state as "bunk." He expressed the opinion that little progress would be made on the tax question

Chicken Thefts Are Confessed

George Miller was arrested on the Spring Hill farm near Dilley early Friday morning by Sheriff J. E. Reeves and Deputy William Halloran and placed in the county jail on a charge of stealing chickens. Sheriff Reeves says the man has confessed the theft of chickens and feed in that section of the country over a period of several months and of selling the stolen goods at a Forest Grove feed store.

His activities, according to the sheriff, aroused the suspicions of neighbors, who notified Mr. Reeves that he drove out at all times of the night and returned early in the morning. Sheriff Reeves was called, found Miller's car parked outside and four sacks of chickens in it. The officer went into the house, which he carefully searched and finally discovered the man hiding in a place in the attic, just large enough for a man to crawl into.

"It Can't Be Done" To Be Given Friday

The Royal Neighbors will give a musical comedy entitled, "It Can't Be Done," at the M. W. A. hall Friday evening. The characters are a brother and sister from New York and a brother and sister from the little country town of Tinkersdam.

The scene is the country farmyard of Mr. Hoskins, who is called away by the illness of an uncle, and the city folk try to run the farm. The country folk try to pose as city folk, and there is one grand mixup. Mrs. Victor Batchelor is Joan, the city girl, and Charles Douglas is her brother. Mrs. W. F. Lormor is Jill, the country girl, and J. E. Wiley is her brother. The members of the chorus are Ida Lormor, Esther Brown, Lorana Rea, Claud Morley, Richard Lormor, and Lester Batchelor. Mrs. H. H. Stannard is director. After the play dancing will be enjoyed.

Sportsmen Report Many Good Catches

The trout season was officially opened Sunday and county sportsmen, generally, report good catches. The first two men queried by the Argus Sunday were Seth Miller and Frank Schulmerich, and they had bagged the limit within a short time in local streams. A number of fishing parties were made up for coast streams.

Women and Suffrage Discussed by Hare

That women should vote was one of the points stressed by Senator William G. Hare in his address before the Coffee club Friday. He traced the evolution of legislation pertaining to women's rights, touching on married women's property rights, dower rights, courtesy right, and homestead act. Mr. Hare told the club that he once disapproved of women serving on the jury, but he now considers it one of their rights and duties.
