The last game of the 1928 football season is being played on the high school athletic field, starting at 10 a. m. Thanksgiving morning, when the Hillsboro union high school eleven meets their traditional rivals, Forest Grove.

Dope Doesn't Count

Hilhi has had a more successful season than their opponents, but nothing matters and all defeats are put aside if a Thanksgiving day victory is scored.

High School Rostered for a Rally

High school rosters had a rally down town Wednesday evening and climaxed the evening with a huge bonfire at the new high school.

The Name of John Hare was Written

permanently in the Hills hall of fame Saturday when he returned from Vancouver, Wash., as the hero of the day. With his team trailing 6 to 0 he made an end run from a punt formation play and ran 85 yards for a touchdown. Hare played the game of his life and won the big gun on defense as well. He kicked goal.

Fail to Score

After failing to score in the first quarter when they had three chances, the blue and white squad was backed 55 yards down the field in the second period while the trappers went over for their score.

The Game was Featured by Passing

Vancouver completing six out of 20 attempts and Hillsboro seven out of 19 tries. On a whole Hilhi had the better team, making more first downs than their heavier opponents.

Church Benefit Is Financial Success

The Methodist Episcopal church benefit at the Venetian theater on Thursday night was attended by 800 persons, and materially reduced the church debt. There were fifty entertainers, including Chief of Police L. V. Jenkins, police quartet, firemen's band and the Portland Ad club quartet. The entertainers were at their best and a splendid concert was given.

The Church is very appreciative of the support which made the event a financial success.

The women of the church served a supper to the entertainers, in the church basement, after the concert.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Orange Phelps and Fire Chief and Mrs. Walter Tew. Chief of Police and Mrs. Freeman could not be present. Interesting talks were made by Chief Jenkins, Mr. Phelps, Chief Tew and Dr. Lockhart.

Convention Sunday Schools at Bethany

More than 300 persons were present at the Sunday school convention at the new Bethany Baptist church Sunday. Talks were given by Rev. E. J. Scheidt of the German Reformed church, Rev. George Pratt of Orengo, and Rev. William Graf of the Baptist church. Rev. Dickman was quarantined for smallpox and unable to be present. John Cronin, and Henry Karath who is president of the Sunday school district, gave talks.

Musical numbers included a mixed choir, male quartet, mixed quartet, orchestra music and a zither solo.

Famous Lecturer Is Heard Here by Many

"Christianity, civilization and progress," was the subject of an address by Peter W. Collins, internationally known lecturer, before more than 250 persons in the Commercial hall here Friday night. The talk was given under the auspices of Hillsboro Council, Knights of Columbus.

He made an appeal to good citizenship to realize the danger that is threatening the world under the name of communism.

Mr. Collins urged that there be no substitution for our present institutions.

Angling Season Is Ending on Friday

The angling season closes Friday, although 10-inch fish may be caught in coast streams in tide water throughout the winter, according to V. F. McFarland, deputy state game warden for Washington and Yamhill counties, who was here Wednesday. The bass season also continues during the winter.

The heavier trapping season opens December 1 and closes in February.

THANKSGIVING

We need more than ever the ability to find contentment. Contentment is peculiarly a condition of home life, and it is therefore, through the family dinner that Thanksgiving can so aptly be expressed. In the savory steam from the turkey, in the tart appetizement of the cranberry, and in the reverie of the hour afterward, let us contemplate the real pigment of happiness. Let us, in short, bow our heads to the triumph of Home, where all happiness must begin and endure. Home—the inspiration of Plymouth Rock.

License Fees Discussed at Rotary Meet

The automobile license fee reduction was discussed at the meeting of the Hillsboro Rotary club Thursday by Ray Conway of the Oregon state Motor association. Mayor M. P. Cady was chairman of the program.

Mr. Conway called attention to the promise that had come out of the last political campaign, that of reducing the automobile license fees.

Three plans were being considered by the legislative committee, a cut in the license fee and increase on the gas tax, a marked decrease on the fees of used cars, and lastly a cut of 30 per cent in the license fee and bond to the limit, which would be $8,000,000, to finish the present highway system. The latter plan, he said, would have had much opposition a few months ago, but now it is receiving the active support of good roads men throughout the state.

The speaker pointed out that many sections of the state had been paying into the state highway fund without receiving any work.

The bonding plan, he said, would enable the whole state to secure the roads and they would be of great value in the development of the country.

California and Washington have lower license fees, according to the speaker, who brought out the point, however, that automobiles in those states were on the personal property roll.

He said that in the first five years in Washington that it does in Oregon.

All Into Construction

Mr. Conway explained that all the money from license fees and gas tax went into road construction. The three-cent gas tax is expended by the highway department as well as 75 per cent of the license, the other 25 per cent going to the counties for road work. That 4,392 miles of road are on the system and that 3,500 have been completed, was the statement made by Mr. Conway. A hundred and ten millions have been spent, part from the federal government and some from the various counties in co-operation.

He said that some motorists were now paying more on old cars than the car would bring in a sale.

The problem, he stated, was to keep faith with the people and make an honest effort to revise the present license fees and provide for payment at a time when the car owner will be more able to pay.

Old-Time Music

Dr. W. H. Pasley was in charge of the five-minute program. Dr. Pasley on the violin and Frank Clark on the dulcimer played some old-time tunes.

The football team from the high school will be entertained at the luncheon next Thursday. The players will vote on the player that was the greatest inspiration to them during the season.

R. Frank Peters will speak before the Forest Grove club next Wednesday.

Valuation of County Takes Big Decrease

Report Friday Shows Figure On Utilities Low

Farm Values Reduced

Cutting Off of Timber Lands and Farm Decreases Make For Reduction

A marked decrease in the assessed valuation of Washington county is shown by the figures given out Friday by Earl Fisher, state tax commissioner. ## Reduce Farm Values

The biggest decrease came in the values outside of corporations, due to cutting off of timber lands and to reductions on farm land. This valuation last year was $24,853,620 as compared with $24,026,640 this year. The value of utilities last year was $2,983,032.15, decreased to $2,939,522.97, or a loss of $43,510. From 1926 to 1927 utilities took a gain of $65,785.

Change in County Road System Advocated By W. T. Putman of Farmington; All Roads In County Should Be Under the One Head

Dear Editor: A few months ago I wrote you suggesting a change in the management of our roads, that the funds be administered by a central authority, an engineer having jurisdiction over all the roads in the county, and acting under the direction of the county court, instead of the road bosses of the various districts, and the funds to be raised by a flat rate on all taxable property instead of a variable rate assessed by the freeholders of each district.

The theory of this plan is that one man having all the roads of the county under his direct supervision has a more comprehensive knowledge of the needs of the county than a large number of local road bosses, as many as there are districts, and a better knowledge of costs, methods of work, etc. Consequently he can get more for the money expended. Moreover, individual groups of unprogressive citizens, local jealousies, and a host of other factors, which at present

Present Show at M. E. Church Next Wednesday Night

The Junior bible class of the Methodist Episcopal church will present "The Barnesville Choir Spruces Up," a three-act comedy, at the church next Wednesday.

In the first act more interest is shown in gossiping and in nagging at each other than in the welfare of the choir. In the second act the choir gets down to business and shows a big improvement, while the third act is given over to a program of solos, quartets, readings and instrumental selections.

The cast, in order of their appearance, includes George Woodworth, Mrs. Henry Stasek, Mrs. David Sanders, Miss Leota Regnier, Mrs. R. H. McAninch, J. N. Wiley, C. M. Krueck, Miss Mary Shirley, Mrs. L. E. Regnier, Mrs. E. B. Lockhart, M. B. Bump and Mrs. E. G. Cox.

Business Men Pay Honors to Club Workers

Local Girls Place High in Hard Competition

Mr. Plummer Speaker

Boys and Girls Termed Greatest Asset of County; Budget Item Favored

Hazel Blades, 12, and Juanita Kerr, 13, Hillsboro baking club members, were honored at the chamber of commerce luncheon Monday for winning the state championship in baking at the state fair in Salem in competition with 21 other teams, and for coming within a half point of winning the northwest honors at the Pacific International Livestock show in Portland and month.

True Champions

The angel cake served with the ice cream was baked by Miss Blades and the sentiment at the table was that the girls were true champions. Faith in the country coming back to its former position through boys' and girls' club work, was expressed by O. M. Plummer, manager of the Pacific International, who was introduced by C. D. Minton of the fair board as the man who has done more for club work than any other person. Mr. Plummer paid tribute to the faithful leaders and others that are responsible for promoting this work throughout the county.

The speaker said that club work put constructive ideas along the lines of "Make the best better," in the minds of children at the plastic age, and created the honest purpose that makes for good citizenship.

Good Investment

The boys and girls of the county were classified as the county's biggest asset, and Mr. Plummer urged the adoption of the $500 item in the budget for an assistant county agent, half of whose time is to be devoted to club work in co-operation with the other officials of the county. The federal government pays the salary of approximately $2,500, and all the county has to do is to pay the expenses. Mr. Plummer said that nothing could be cultivated that would reflect as much credit and prestige to the county as our boys and girls.

He called attention to the national honors won by Oregon boys, the most recent being Edward Grimes of Harrisburg, Oregon, he said, was recognized as doing the best club work in the nation.

Big Men in Work

More than 700,000 boys and girls are taking part in club work in throughout the country, according to Mr. Plummer, who said that many of the biggest men in the country were active and giving their time to stimulate this work.

Mr. Minton also introduced the two baking club girls and Mr. Thompson, their leader. Mrs. L. L. Lee, another club leader, was also introduced.

J. G. Oliver, vice-president of Willamette university, who was introduced by Rev. E. B. Lockhart, said the right kind of education worth much more than a $50,000 cash inheritance.

A dinner given for the benefit of club work will be put on in the grand hall December 5.

President R. W. Weil announced the annual chamber of commerce Christmas banquet for December 17.

The luncheon program Monday will be in charge of the Business and Professional Women's club and Miss Manche Langley, Forest Grove attorney, will speak. Miss Mildred McLeod will be chairman.

MacKenzie Awarded State Contract

Moreover, individual groups of unprogressive citizens, local jealousies, and a host of other factors, which at present make any well ordered plan of road work impossible, would be eliminated. An example of just this kind has occurred in this neighborhood within the past few days. District No. 3, in which I live, held its road meeting on November 2. The road boss presented us with a budget totaling 10 mills, apportioned to the various roads in the district, 2 mills to this, 1 to that, half a mill to another, and so on. He was able to do this because his work enabled him to know the needs of the various roads. The budget was then thrown open to discussion and with the shifting of a fraction of a mill from one road to another to enable a farmer on an outlying road to get his milk out in the winter, the budget was accepted, a vote was called and the budget voted as amended with but two dissenting votes out of 39.

Compare this with what happened in district No. 6, north of us. I am writing from Farmington, (Continued on Page Ten)
