RED CROSS NURSES PROTECT HEALTH OF FUTURE CITIZENS

Red Cross nutritionists have taught Little Miss Muffett proper food habits. At right, this little girl's best friend is the Red Cross Public Health nurse.

The grave necessity for the protection of children's and mothers' health, if good physical standards of the American race are to be maintained in the future, is illustrated in statistics made public by the American Red Cross in connection with its health services in Red Cross Chapters.

Of the 45,000,000 children in this country, only about 35,000,000 are reasonably normal. The greatest menace to children's health is through malnutrition; 6,000,000 children are shown to be improperly nourished. The second most prolific defect is in impaired hearing—1,000,000 children suffering from this. Weak and damaged hearts and defective speech affect one million children each, and lesser numbers

Its Nutrition Service reaches thousands of children through schools, and mothers through adult classes, teaching proper food selection and food habits. The 769 Red Cross public health nurses made 1,338,550 visits during the past year.

This highly important work by the Red Cross is supported through funds resulting from the annual roll call for members, which occurs on Armistice Day in Thanksgiving Day. By enrolling members in Red Cross Chapters, all citizens participate in this work for better health for mother and children.
