Volunteer Workers at Banks Repair Church; Benefit Held

Banks. — Thursday morning a group of volunteer workers gathered at the church and began the work of re-shingling the roof. The work progressed very rapidly under the leadership of Chris Ricben, and was completed by Friday night with the exception of some extra repairing and tinning, to be done on the belfry. This was done Saturday. The women of the church were on hand both days with a bountiful dinner and hot coffee. They also served supper Friday night. The church board extends a vote of thanks to those who so generously gave their time for the work and to those who gave money for the nails, tin and like supplies. A special vote of thanks is extended to A. H. Wolford, who bought the shingles and had them delivered on the grounds. Mr. and Mrs. N. J.
