

Rev. Simpson Returned for Church Work

SCHOLLS—Rev. W. E. Simpson returned for his third annual conference of Evangelical ministers at Covallis last week and was returned to the Chehalis district, which includes the churches at Kinton, Laurel and Mountain Home, where the pastor has resided for several years.

A delegation from this vicinity will attend the pioneers reunion at Blaine park in Hillsboro Sunday and will assist with the program.

Condition Serious
Mrs. Iowa Taylor, who was injured when she fell on a log last week in a serious condition, she lives at the home of her son, Jesse Snyder.

Mrs. F. C. Leithold of Portland was guest at the L. W. Crowder home Wednesday and Mrs. Jennie Newman spent the past week there canning berries.

Mrs. Lucille Flint and H. T. Heise, delegates to Grand Lodge and Rebekah assembly at Tillamook, were guests of honor for a lunch party after lodge meetings last Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schmelzler, who returned to their home Sunday from a wedding trip to southern Oregon, entertained a church party with ice cream and cake Monday evening.

Officials Named
Annual school meetings in this vicinity Monday evening were very well attended. At the Mountain Side district only the school board was present and Joe Stricker became chairman for the next year and George Leveilyn was re-elected director for three years.

Others are Carl Wohlschlagel as director and J. E. Bennett for Clerk. No special tax was voted. All warrants have been paid and a bank balance is in reserve.
Three patrons attended Groner school besides the school board of four. Harry Reynolds was re-elected director, Mrs. Gladys Trask was named chairman, H. T. Heise, clerk and W. G. Heise a director for ensuing year. No special tax was voted.

At the annual school meeting at Midway three patrons were present beside the school board. Victor Boelen was elected the new director. Jack Raynard, chairman, Mrs. L. W. Guild, director and Mrs. Paul Christensen the new clerk. No special tax was voted. The teachers for the ensuing term are Fern Allen of Hillsboro, principal, and Miss Irene Stevens of Laurel, primary.

Miss Evelyn Hesse won the ticket sale contest held in connection with the father and son banquet Saturday evening and received a vase as the prize. S. A. Gotter won the father's prize, a picture of Franklin D. Roosevelt, for being the father present with the most sons.

Mary Kingston, who spent several weeks at Banks, has returned to the parental home.

Baptist service was given Miss Wilma Herd Sunday and Miss Dale Powers and Jack Powers became members of the Scholla M. E. church.

Fathers, Sons Dine
One hundred-three tickets were sold for the father and son banquet at the church parlor Saturday evening. Minor Hesse was toastmaster. Program consisted of talks and responses by fathers and sons and an address by Dr. Young, reading by Mrs. F. E. Rowell, poem by Mrs. H. L. Flint and a saw solo by Tom Stritcher, with music by the Scholla Orchestra during the evening.

Mrs. E. V. Edwards and small son baby dunks are at the El Kingston home several days this week.

Mrs. Will Lavid of Enterprise is a house guest of her sister, Mrs. S. A. Gotter, and family with her.

them and the L. G. Berge family of Hillsboro and Howard Herd spent June 10 at Netarts beach.

Mrs. Viola Demming, Sandy and Mrs. Theima Wolf and two sons of Sherman's mill spent June 13 at the Ed Deming home.

Mrs. Hart Cromwell of Battle Ground, Wash. is at the Jess Snyder home helping care for her aged mother, Mrs. Iowa Taylor, who is ill.

Mrs. Lloyd Robinson of Tucson, Arizona, visited the past week at the home of her uncle, C. Kirkpatrick, and family. Mrs. Elizabeth Bennett was also a guest prior to leaving for Canada to spend the summer.

Miss Powers Honored
About 40 neighbors gave Miss Dale Powers a surprise party in honor of her birthday Sunday evening.

Omar Moore of Cottage Grove was a Sunday guest at the Ray Moore home.

Mrs. Emma Hicks and Charles Fairweather of Portland were guests at the Kirkpatrick home June 10.

Ficken Directed
Jackson school district voted a special tax of one mill at the annual meeting Monday evening. Lawrence Ficken was re-elected director. W. C. Heaton was elected chairman, Charles Roseman, director, and Mrs. Charles Clark, clerk.

Schmelzler Named
John Schmelzler was re-elected director at Mountain Home school district meeting. Roy Jaquith was elected chairman; W. E. Peters, director, and Mrs. Cora B. Ego, clerk. No special tax was voted.

Four tons of blackcaps are being dried each day at the John Schmelzler prune dryer. They are for the Sherwood pool.

A meeting of the Evangelical Brotherhood was held Tuesday evening at the Mountain Home parsonage. A special feature of the evening was the male quartet from Carolina Evangelical church in Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schmelzler, newlyweds, treated those present to refreshments of ice cream and cake.

Wanda Lysel has been at Jones hospital for several days with infection in the knee resulting from a bruise.

No preaching services will be held at the Scholla M. E. church Sunday, June 24. Sunday school will be held at 10 o'clock.

Hodges Asserts None Can Deny Codes' Value
GREENSBORO, N. C.—“We should think straight and constructively and not let NRA be the thing that belong to NRA and unto other agencies and groups the things that belong to them,” said Luther H. Hodges, general manager of the North Carolina-Cotton & Woolen Mills division of the Southern Textile association in session here. “NRA has done more in less than a year than any comparable agency in more than a decade. In fact, more has been done under this act and its administration for both workers and industry than has been accomplished in a quarter of a century under any other auspices. And most of this has been done voluntarily by industry, with government advice, assistance, and supervision. Not only did our own industry give employment to an extra 140,000 workers at a time when they needed it as never before, but the average wage increase, with the change in hours, was about 25 per cent, most of this being for the lowest-paid group. We are proud to use our own industry as an example of NRA effectiveness because we know most about it. What we have said about our code can be said, certainly in part, for all of the codes and none can deny their value.”

Snell to Speak
Earl Snell, republican nominee for secretary of state, will be the Fourth of July speaker at the inter-community celebration at Sherwood, according to Dr. P. T. Ruck.

Beaverton's Winning Float at Portland Rose Show

Queen Martha Lehman of Beaverton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lehman of Bethany, and Princesses Aida Lehman, Isabelle Wallis, Mary Jane Junior, Jean Riley, Aline Boswell, Genevieve Johnson and Betsy Tolleson, who went to the royal court of Queen Beth of the Portland rose festival Thursday afternoon in an entry worthy of the finest traditions of regal ceremonies. Beaverton's float was awarded second place for cities in Oregon outside of Portland. Gene Brown carried the Beaverton banner, preceding the float and high school band. Ernest Lehman, father of the queen, was the driver of the float.—Cut courtesy Oregon Journal.

Tell Me Another ...

(By Ed. Scheidt)
Chris Luethe of Brooks Hill took a load of pullets to Scappoose the other day and when he arrived back home he discovered that two of the pullets came back with him by riding the exhaust pipe. Mind you these pullets were only three weeks old, but we'll give them credit for hanging on.

Verle Hays driver of the Bethany feed truck, tells about a kitten that rode to Portland and return by laying on top of a load of feed. And then we talk about dumb animals!

What made those chickens and the kitten hang on? Well they probably had an idea that it is better to stay put than to jump off and get hit by the next motorist!

The only difference in the rides, were that the kitten had a cool ride while the pullets had a hot ride because as a rule the exhaust becomes pretty warm.

The other day I discovered an old mail order catalog from 1909 and my, what fashions the folks had in those days! Caps, huggies, sunshades, and hats. The ladies had real mountains on their heads in their days and my, what mountains! Quite a few folks have giggled about the customs of the past and their modes of transportation.

But let's wait until 1964 and then we'll sure be tickled about the fashions that we are wearing now. And the modes of transportation will be relics, too.

So after all we aren't much wiser than our forefathers. They rode around in a buggy and then usually came back home and we travel by air or by car, and over 35,000 people are killed annually by the gas buggy alone.

The old timers had horses to feed and a few wheels to grease and we have a gas tank to fill and a oil eater to feed, let alone the rubber tires that blow out and have to be replaced.

Nevertheless they had a nickel or two that were absolutely their own while now days most of the nickels belong to the other fellow.

Regardless, I'd hate to drive a horse around again, but we never

A SUMMER RECREATION PROGRAM FOR TOWNS IN OREGON

By DR. JOHN F. BOVARD
Dean and Director of Physical Education, University of Oregon.

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of three articles outlining a summer recreation program for communities in the state, written by Dr. Bovard, nationally recognized as an authority in the field of physical education. The next article will follow in a later issue.)

Hazeldale Elects School Officials

HAZELDALE—W. P. Brooks was re-elected clerk, and Mr. Walker a director for three years at the annual school meeting Monday night. The SEPA project, which includes an addition to the schoolhouse and a basement, was approved by the taxpayers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thompson of Victoria, B. C., are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith. They spent last week in Portland attending the Canadian Legion convention.

Mrs. Faye Greer of San Francisco has spent the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Syverson. Sunday guests at the Syverson home were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Syverson and family of Mill City, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Robinson and family of Laurel, and Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Syverson and son Bobbie.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reed of Beaverton visited Mrs. W. A. Jones Sunday. Later in the day Mrs. Jones was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Junkin at Tigard.

Mr. and Mrs. R. V. McHenry and daughter Mary of Portland visited Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Brooks Sunday.

Dale Powers was honored Sunday evening at her home by a surprise party arranged by Mrs. Fred Clark and Miss Maud Pattee, it being her fifteenth birthday.

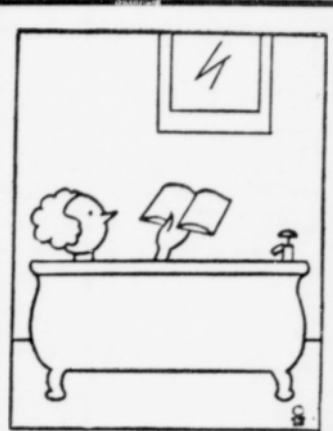

Mr. and Mrs. George Bain of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Newsham, and Mr. and Mrs. William Manley of Hillsboro visited at the J. C. Smith home Sunday. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Pat Murphy, June 18, a boy.

Stage Operated

Portland-Banks stage is now operating between Buxton and Hillsboro. It makes two trips daily except Sundays and holidays, leaving Buxton at 7:45 a. m. and 12:15 p. m. and leaving Hillsboro for Buxton at 11 a. m. and 6:15 p. m.

What are the aims of a summer recreation program? Some of these aims are quite obvious. We must provide a safe place in which to play. Our modern town street, with its rapid moving automobiles and traffic, is no place for children to play, and unless provision is made the town grows up without any safe place for children.
The second function is to decrease delinquency. Everyone knows that where there is leisure time there will be activity of some sort. Where these activities are undirected or misdirected, young people are mentally stimulating and help to absorb a part of his interest.
Fourth, to provide wholesome and ample competition for both young and old. There are few recreations which are not bettered by doing them with someone else, and the zest of competition, where this is possible, is one of the characteristics of the human race.

But every girl should know that FIR GROVE MILK is good for the health. Have it delivered to your home—Phone 4RX1.

Ridiculous Rosie is all wet when it comes to literature!

Why should they not plan and construct as fast as possible tennis courts, swimming pools, ball fields, picnic parks, and all the other types of facilities which make life more interesting and more enjoyable? A city can be famous for the character of its citizenship as well as for its water supply, its beautiful lawns, or as a center for apples, or hops, or wool.

When recreation programs are mentioned many people think only of the play and game side, such as baseball, or tennis, or golf, but in our terms we wish to include all of the activities which make for a happier citizenship, we want to include music, art, drama, the handicrafts, and all of the opportunities which affect people whether young or old. We want our participation in these activities to be just as extensive as the desires and capacities of the citizenship may direct.

To what extent, then, can a town develop a program of this sort? Certain limiting factors cannot be forgotten, such as the leadership which may be willing to give of time and energy; the physiographic conditions—what will apply to a coast town does not apply to one in an arid region; and the peculiarities of population which introduce traditional attitudes or peculiar customs.

But in laying out a program of this kind too much emphasis must not be placed on these restrictions. Standards of excellence must be set, visions must be dreamed, even though the full measure of activity cannot be realized. As time goes on, the program will expand to meet these standards. The function after all is not how great is the program now, but the thing for which to strive is the development of community spirit, team work, that ability to work and to play together.

What are the aims of a summer recreation program? Some of these aims are quite obvious. We must provide a safe place in which to play. Our modern town street, with its rapid moving automobiles and traffic, is no place for children to play, and unless provision is made the town grows up without any safe place for children.
The second function is to decrease delinquency. Everyone knows that where there is leisure time there will be activity of some sort. Where these activities are undirected or misdirected, young people are mentally stimulating and help to absorb a part of his interest.
Fourth, to provide wholesome and ample competition for both young and old. There are few recreations which are not bettered by doing them with someone else, and the zest of competition, where this is possible, is one of the characteristics of the human race.

Some of the other functions are less obvious but are just as important. First, a recreation program can provide for the education of its citizenship through plays, games, dramatics, and music. It has been said that “Education includes every purposive activity.” Certainly it is true that education never ceases. We are constantly making contacts which enlarge our vision and bring us face to face with new people and new things. Sixth, a good program promotes the qualities of good citizenship, helpfulness to others, a generous community spirit, a civic pride in bringing neighbors together for some pleasurable activity.
Seventh, a well planned program promotes, stimulates, and suggests new leisure time activities.
Under such a recreational program who are to be served? It is obvious that no one type of activity will be satisfactory for all. It is obvious also that the population of any town is divided up into very different and special groups.
