Hillsboro Business and Professional Women's club was well represented at the joint Regional conference of the Western and Central Western states at Yellowstone park last week. Forty one of the fifty members attending from Oregon. Two visitors were also present from this state. Oregon and Washington were joint hostesses at the Tuesday noon luncheon. More than 300 women were in attendance, including several national officers.

The next conference of the Western Region will be held at Reno, Nevada, in 1936. The Western Region passed a resolution requesting the national body to make the highway signs bigger and of a different color for the west of the Rockies, due to the landscape having so much green in its coloring.

Misses Annie Harrington and Cussie Sigler, Mesdames L. M. Townsend, C. E. Wells and Emma McKinney were the local club members in attendance. Following the conference, Mrs. Townsend visited friends at Great Falls, Mont., returning home Sunday night, and Misses Harrington and Sigler returned Saturday night. Mesdames Wells and McKinney who made the trip by auto, returned home Monday evening. While en route to the park they called on Rev. Leroy Walker at Burley, Idaho, and found him located in that city. Rev. Walker was the former pastor of the local Methodist church. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Max LaLande and family at Nampa, Idaho. Formerly a member of the city, Albert and Herman LaLande are conducting the LaLande Bakery in that city and Mr. LaLande is manager of the city park. Returning over the John Day highway and Ochocho mountains Sunday, they found the mountain route as scenic as the Siskiyou route in Northern California. Mrs. Wells visited her sons and families at Redmond, and Mrs. McKinney was a dinner guest Sunday evening of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. (Jerry) Heston at Powell Butte, formerly of this city. Mr. Heston is farming 120 acres of irrigated land at Powell Butte and has some fine looking crops.

The ladies made the trip from Redmond via the Wapinitia cut-off and were in a severe hail storm near Government Camp.

Class Recital to End Series Here Friday Evening

Friday evening Erma Taylor Sparks closes her series of piano recitals at the Baptist church with a recital given by the entire class in solo duets, duos, trios and two-piano quartets. The program will begin at eight o'clock and the public is invited.

The six previous solo recitals were given before interested and appreciative audiences by Misses Evelyn Haworth, Marion Haggl, Ann Peters, Dixie Lee MacDowell, Helen Godfrey and Blanch Finegan. They played programs of classic and modern compositions with smooth technique, rhythmic precision, refinement and ease of style. In all instances each seemed to have a grasp and intelligent understanding of artistic playing. Misses Vivian Bump and Ardis Ellingson assisted with charming readings on the programs given by Misses Haworth and Peters. Robert Peters showed much musical ability in assisting his sister with duets and duos.

Vocal soloists assisted on all other programs. Miss Minerva Fuller, pupil of Mrs. Ruth Harbison Gardner, was in joint recital with Miss MacDowell. Her numbers were given with admirable feeling and taste. Merwin Dant appeared with Miss Haggl, Philip Gault with Miss Godfrey, and Ruth Harbison Gardner with Miss Finegan. Each of these artists has a voice of clear quality and warmth, and their diction and dramatic ability is outstanding. The accompanists, Miss E. Lucille Cummings, Miss Blanche Finegan, David Gault and Mrs. Fred Sewell, were excellent.
