Gubernatorial Battle Promises Interest for Oregon

SALEM — Whatever the outcome, the gubernatorial campaign in Oregon this year promises to be a most interesting one and one which will be anybody's race until the final result is announced.

Pageant Presented

Already the strategists in the three political camps are busily laying their battle plans while the candidates themselves have let no grass out onto the firing line. Joe Dunne, the republican nominee, has been hopping around the state with an his portly style of architecture, atworking organization during the sponsibility for the well being primary campaign and it has con- our fellow citizens and that, if tinued to function without so much as a pause for breath, Peter Zimmerman, the choice of the "true" America's great liberties will be ob and has let it be known that en, who feel their responsibility onnel of a board of strategy upon men. to time, General Charles H. Local Funds Given for Relief, SERA High During June

Contributions by Washington county and county communities for SERA projects and relief totaled approximately 50 per cent as much as the federal allotment during the month of June, according to a report submitted this week to Elmer R. Goudy, state SERA ad-ministrator, by the local office. This statement would tend to re-fute rumors that have been circulating through the state to the effect that local conributions in Oregon amounted to only 12 per cent of the allotments by the government.
