A Swimming Pool

City authorities and the planning commission are giving justified attention to the question of a swimming pool for the people of Hillsboro. There are few projects that would be more appreciated. With the government giving money for SERA work it seems like the logical time for the city to take action. It would also furnish considerable work here.

The Northfield, Minn., News cites the experience of the city of Traer in Iowa, with a population of 1500, where a pool was built at a cost of $8000. Due to the condition of the bond market when the pool was constructed in 1931 it was impossible to sell through the regular channels, so the bonds were issued in units of $100 and sold to citizens by the Traer post of the American Legion. The bonds are to be retired from the earnings of the pool.

The Traer pool is built of concrete, is oval in shape and the dimensions are 80 by 120. Patrons for the pool come by automobile from many other surrounding towns and the tributary rural territory. The month following the opening 10,000 people were admitted with gate receipts something over $1800. Minimum daily attendance was 770. Season admission tickets were sold at the following prices: Adults, $4; children, 10 to 15, $2.50, and children, under 10, $1.50. Single admissions are 20 cents for adults and 15 cents for children in afternoon and evening.

Discussion of the desirability of a swimming pool has been heard in Hillsboro for several generations. Undoubtedly the people of the community, who like to swim, and hundreds do, would be willing to pay for the privilege of indulging in this very fine exercise. Why not consider the Traer plan?

New Relief Projects to Stress Self-Help

 This week as a part of the sewing project already under way and will probably be started at Aloha and Tigard Monday. Materials for the covering are to be provided by the relief office and will be filled with cotton furnished by the government.

Proposed woodward project under which persons on relief may work up their own wood is in a formative state and it is expected that an application will be submitted to the Portland office within a short time. An option has been obtained on 15-acres of stumps and woodwards will be established in Forest Grove, Hillsboro, Beaverton, and Tigard as soon as a project is approved. Applications for wood will be issued by the relief office, according to Leon S. Davis, personnel manager, who declared that wood will not be supplied to anyone who can get wood any other place.

Establishing a project for rebuilding furniture is still being considered by the local office as an additional self-help project. Many families on relief are in need of furniture and the program contemplates the reconstruction of furniture for this purpose. Persons having broken furniture are requested to deliver it to an SERA warehouse to be repaired later.

Shortage of funds has made it necessary to stop work on the Sherwood-Tonquin road, Aloha-Elmwood road, Forest Grove union high school and other relief projects. Plans for clerical work in providing records of the distribution of commodities from the SERA office was approved Saturday and work started.

Two Washington county girls, Miss Ruth Holcomb of Reedville and Miss Mary Yantzi of Hillsboro, were selected Wednesday for the summer camp to be conducted at Willamette university during the coming month. Funds for this educational camp were provided by the government and will provide room, board, travel and classroom supplies for those attending the school. Training in vocational, educational and recreational subjects will be given to 60 single unemployed women in the state. The school opens today and will continue for a month.

Garment making is the self-help program from used clothing donated by Washington county citizens are on display in Wells' window.

Seek Fair Deal

Considerable resentment is being voiced by dairymen throughout the county at the inspection methods of some Portland inspectors. The element of fairness to all should enter into the action of the inspectors. Dairymen have been mighty hard pressed and arbitrary action does not set well with them. The great majority of these Washington county dairymen are inherently honest and want to do the right thing. The city of Portland should absolutely see that they get fair treatment. These dairymen are entitled to a fair return for their product and should have it. The business people of Hillsboro have supported the dairymen of the county in their every effort for better conditions and will continue to do so.

Outlaw Un-American Parties

A communist quiz is being conducted in Los Angeles by a congressional committee and the evidence is so poisonous that the hearing was closed to the public, due to fear of international complications. Witnesses have brought out information about plans and efforts for overthrow of the American government, for whose principles men have fought and died.

The head of the Los Angeles police communist investigation has recommended national legislation to outlaw this un-American party. It should be forthcoming without any question for the protection of American people and American institutions.

Of course the communists and radicals will yowl about any such efforts because they want their dirty work to continue unhampered. Furthermore, they don't like the idea of citizens organizing to protect American rights and institutions. How far would opposition to their plans get if they were in power? It would be stamped out immediately as in the case in Russia and other countries today.

Let the millions of good American people back up plans for legislation to properly control these enemies of our country.

Some Work

That at least a few jobs are available was indicated the last of the week when answers came in to the Argus on an advertisement seeking work. Several local farmers wanted to get in touch with the man, who only gave a general delivery address. Every bit of information should be given in an advertisement. The Argus has always stood ready to help the unemployed with free "work wanted" ads and will extend the same privilege to farmers seeking helpers. Undoubtedly there is some work around if one will scratch for it.

Outstanding Herd

The dairy herd of David Hag & Sons at Reedville is making an outstanding record in the Yamhill-Washington Herd Improvement association. The work of the association is commendable and the results should be profitable to the members.

"Grandma" Elizabeth Crandall was a beloved resident of Hillsboro for many years and she leaves a host of friends who mourn her death.

Independent?

The Oregonian made a great deal of fuss a couple of years ago when it announced that its policies would be "independent republican" in the future. There has been little to indicate much independence in that period of time and it is now taking great pains to criticize the Medford Mail-Tribune, the Astoria Astorian-Budget and other estimable republican papers for supporting Congressman Charles H. Martin for governor.

A few months ago the Oregonian was looking with some degree of favor on the Martin candidacy, but as election time comes along it just can't get away from strict party loyalty.

General Martin is strong for the New Deal and his record in congress is such that this state can well be proud of his service in Washington. He has served with distinction, but the "independent republican" paper with its aversion to the New Deal is doing everything possible to defeat this exponent of the New Deal in Oregon. This, in spite of the big vote accorded Roosevelt policies in the Literary Digest poll in this state.

No Self-Starter

General Martin, democratic candidate for governor, was no self-starter in the present gubernatorial campaign. It was only after considerable pleading on the part of hundreds of friends in this state that he consented to enter the lists and forego further service in congress, where he gave such excellent service and supported President Roosevelt's "new deal." The Argus more than a year ago pointed to the fine record of General Martin and suggested his candidacy at that time.
