

Timber Youth Dies Suddenly in Washington

(By Miss Julia A. Morse)

TIMBER—Coming as a terrible shock to his many friends in the timber vicinity was the news Thursday morning of the sudden death of Raleigh Shiffer at Prosser, Wash., of heart trouble.

Raleigh was born in Timber October 13, 1913, and had lived here all of his life up until the time when he went to Washington three weeks ago to be employed by the Pacific Fruit and Produce Company. He was associated with his father in the garage business, and had attended grade school at Timber and high school at Forest Grove. He was the only son of Oscar Shiffer, and is survived by his father and three sisters, Gladys, Sylvia and Hazel, all of Timber.

Funeral services were held Sunday at the Prickett Funeral Home in Forest Grove and interment was at Forest View cemetery. He was buried beside his mother in the family plot. Services were conducted by the Rev. Claude Sabin. Pall bearers were boys who had been constant companions of Raleigh. They were Paul Hankins, Paul DeRemer, Dean Kiesel, and Harold Beyers, of Timber; Harold Bateman of Washburn; and LaVerne Forbes of Portland.

Mrs. Leona Scarborough of Prosser accompanied Mr. Shiffer to Timber. Raleigh made his home with her during his stay in Washington. She expects to return to her home sometime this week.

Weiler has the bus contract for transporting the children to and from school, and Mrs. A. Armstrong has the contract for the janitor work.

Mrs. Boyd M. Wright entertained several friends at a bridge party Thursday afternoon. Two tables were in play, and Mrs. Laura Gilmore was high, and Mrs. S. D. Willis was low. Miss Lois Richmond assisted in serving. Those present were Mesdames M. F. Weiler, S. D. Willis, Ray Elliott, W. E. Gilmore, John Richmond, Accie Payne, M. Gilmore, William Huffman, Morrie Kochman, Elmer Spooner, Albert Fichte, Boyd Wright, and Miss Lois Richmond.

order of State Forester Cronmiller closing all activities in timbered areas making use of power equipment for the period of the extreme fire hazard brought about by the high temperature and low humidity. The order applied to all that portion of the state west of the Cascades and north of Douglas county. Operations affected included loggers, saw mills, planing mills, wood cutters and highway construction work in the timbered areas. This was the first occasion for invoking this arbitrary vested in the state forester by an act of the 1933 legislature. In the opinion of Cronmiller the disastrous timber-moak fire of last year with its loss of some $20,000,000 to timber interests could have been prevented if precautions now in effect could have been enforced at that time.

Small loan sharks are to be put on the spot at the next legislative session if present plans of the legislative interim committee materialize. Recommendations which will probably find expression in proposed legislation include material reductions in the interest rate, especially on loans of $30 or under, and greater supervisory authority vested in the state banking department. Small loan legislation has enlivened several previous sessions and can be expected to provide its share of diversion for the lawmakers who come to Salem next January.

District attorneys, meeting in Portland last week, are said to have agreed to an aggressive campaign of tax foreclosures to be launched early in November. State officials have always blamed the heavy tax delinquencies on Oregon's light penalties for non-payment of taxes and laxness on the part of county officials in enforcing the collection laws. It is not expected that many property owners will permit their holdings to go on the block, but will manage somehow to pay their taxes once they are convinced that a serious effort is to be made to collect.

Gasoline tax evasion has developed into the proportions of a racket in the opinion of George Flagg, deputy secretary of state. Neither is the racket confined to Oregon. Both Washington and California are having similar difficulties with fraudulent attempts to chisel the state out of money through the use of fictitious refund claims.
