

Hilhi Faces St. Helens

Locals Tie McMinnville 7 to 7 Last Friday

almost perfect interference for a touchdown gave Hillsboro a 7 to 7 tie with the Grizzlies Friday afternoon at McMinnville in a game featured by the relentless offenses and stubborn defenses of both eleven. McMinnville opened the scoring early in the second period with a 42-yard touchdown drive while Hilhi knotted the score a short time afterwards. The second half was scoreless with the fortunes of war slightly favoring the locals.

One of those perfect plays, possible on every attempt but seldom realized, gave Hilhi the tying touchdown after the Grizzlies had unleashed an offensive that seemed destined to roll up a one-sided score. Hillsboro had just taken the second kick-off from the local 37-yard line and carried it to the McMinnville 15 with two long passes and a series of line plays, only to lose possession on downs in the shadow of the goal line. Mac's punt was grounded on the Grizzly 38 and the stage was set for Hilhi's scoring play.

On the first play, Holscher took the ball on a center smash, went through a big hole in the line and burst into the McMinnville secondary defense. Ahead of him were Hilhi interference men blocking out would-be tacklers. Reversing his field, Holscher slipped twice, touched one hand to the field, recovered and continued on his way. At the 20-yard line Grogan cut down the Grizzly safety man and Holscher had an open field to the goal line.

McMinnville's scoring drive started late in the first quarter while Hilhi was playing ragged, spiritless ball. On an exchange of punts, the Grizzlies took possession of the ball on the Hillsboro 42-yard stripe and with Thurston and Duley packing the oval marched to the eight-yard line in nine plays. From this point, Thurston went over standing up for the score.

This score snapped Hilhi out of the doldrums and during the balance of the game the Hillmen displayed a sparkling running attack and an almost air-tight defense. Twice during the second half the Hilhi offensive, mixing passes, laterals, spinners and reverses, seemed destined to develop into scores but bogged down as a result of fumbles and incomplete passes. During the same period, Cook, elusive Hillsboro halfback, nearly got into the clear on an intercepted Grizzly pass and Grogan on the return of a McMinnville punt.

The Hilhi passing attack proved particularly effective during the game eight out of 17 attempts being completed for a total of 122 yards, an average of 15 yards each. McMinnville attempted but five passes, one being completed for a 16-yard gain, one being intercepted and three falling incomplete. Hillsboro gained 230 yards from scrimmage to 105 for the Grizzlies, but lost 46 yards to 15 for McMinnville, leaving the net yardage gained 184 for Hilhi and 90 for the home team.

Hilhi made nine first downs, five from passes and four from line plays, while McMinnville tallied five first downs, one coming from the Grizzlies' lone pass and four from line plays.

Coslett, Grogan and Samsel straggled in the line for the Blue and White while Cook and Holscher carried the brunt of the ball carrying in the backfield. Coslett opened big holes at tackle for offensive backs and proved a tower of strength on defense. Samsel and Grogan were continually dumping McMinnville ball carriers in their own backfield while Samsel blocked a Grizzly punt and was key man in the effective lateral pass play.

Corn-Hog Production Control Program to be Renewed 1935

College News Service—Definite announcement that the agricultural administration will offer a new corn-hog production control program for 1935 has been received by the extension service at Oregon State college. Details of the new plan will be announced about November 1, the officials were informed.

Decision of the AAA leaders to repeat the corn-hog program in some form followed compilation of preliminary results of the national referendum among present corn-hog contract signers showing a favorable vote in the ratio of more than two to one for carrying on a follow-up program. In Oregon the vote was favorable in the proportion of about nine to seven.

The vote was much closer on the second question in which the contract signers were asked to express their opinion on a proposed one-contract-per-farm plan starting in 1936 which would include all grains and livestock. The early reports showed a favorable vote nationally of only six to five, while Oregon farmers gave it an adverse vote of more than ten to six.

No announcement has been made from Washington as to any decision on this one-contract plan. Oregon extension officials find that western growers are skeptical of this idea and feel that it would be detrimental in this territory. In Oregon the wheat counties voted almost solidly against the idea.

"The referendum results seem to indicate rather clearly that corn-hog producers want a follow-up program," Dr. A. G. Black, chief of the corn-hog section, announced. "In view of this indication, it has been decided to offer a definite plan as soon as the necessary provisions can be worked out. Such a plan probably will offer the general outline of the 1934 contract, involving control requirements and benefit payments with respect to both corn and hogs."

A new program has also been recommended by a group of corn-hog committeemen and extension workers from 18 states called to Washington, D. C., by the national county, farmer member of the state board of review, represented Oregon. Representatives of the three major farm organizations are also said to have recommended continuation of the program.

County Men Hear Herd Test Plans

Compulsory. However, the machinery exists for making this compulsory if dairy herd owners generally care to put it on that basis. The Oregon law provides that the majority of cattle owners in any designated section or community may petition and have such an area designated an abortion control area. When this is done 80 per cent of the cattle in that control area are being tested, the testing of the other 20 per cent becomes compulsory.

This entire program of abortion clean-up has one main object, to eliminate contagious abortion from dairy herds. Some comments are made from time to time regarding the desirability of cleaning up this disease from a public health standpoint. This latter is not the main object of the clean-up program. Rather, the object is to eliminate the disease as a cause of heavy economic loss on the part of the dairy farmer. In other words, this is done in dollars and cents proposition with the dairy men.

Testing of local herds will get under way as soon as a sufficient number of agreements are signed to make it possible to line up the work so that it can be done efficiently and without a lot of duplication in travel.

Verboort Couple Observe Golden Wedding Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. George VanDehey of near Roy celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday with a party at the C. O. P. hall at Verboort. About 225 relatives and friends were present, among them being relatives from St. Paul, Woodburn, Portland, Grande Ronde, Lebanon, Albany, and Oregon City. Many beautiful gifts were received by the couple.

Mrs. Ed Wortman played a wedding march while the bride and groom of fifty years and their guests marched down the stairs to the dining-room, where the tables were beautifully decorated in golden colors. The centerpiece was a large gold cake, baked by Mrs. Al J. Vandehy. Golden candles were grouped around the centerpiece.

Accordian selections were played by Merlyn Soesbe of Oregon City and music by the Van orchestra.

Mary Smith and George Vandehy were married in Aikins, Nebraska, on October 18, 1884, and came to Oregon in 1887. They first settled on the Robert Walker place in Scoggins valley and the following year moved to the Roderick farm near Rippling Waters. In 1889 they moved to the Bellinger place near Greenville and after renting it for eight years they purchased and still own the farm. Ten years ago they bought the William Relling home south of Roy, where they still reside. Eleven children were born to Mr.

Representatives from Red Cross chapters of 14 counties attended the regional conference in Portland Monday. Don C. Smith of Washington, D. C., national director of War Service, was the principal speaker, and said in part: "It becomes apparent that the plan of the federal government contemplates co-operative effort with the public and private forces pulling together. Furthermore, just as the Red Cross expanded its program to become the first line of defense while the states and federal government mobilized for the unemployment crisis, it is highly probable that in the process of curtailment of government relief activities it must be prepared to meet the problems of transition from dependency relief to self-support."

A. L. Scahfer, manager of the Pacific branch, was another speaker, his subject being "Mobilized for Service." All phases of Red Cross work were discussed by capable leaders, and plans outlined for
