Economy, Convenience

R. Frank Peters, prominent Hillsboro attorney, is an outstanding candidate for the office of circuit judge for Washington and Tillamook counties and this newspaper is happy to earnestly recommend him to the voters of this district.

Mr. Peters is a native of Washington county, a man of sterling character—honest and capable. Everyone who truly knows Frank Peters has the highest respect for him.

Not only would the people of the district be electing a man well qualified for the position of circuit judge, but being a resident of this county it is economy because of the great amount of legal business in this county in comparison with Tillamook county. Travel expense to the state would be increased by the frequent trips to this county that would be required if the candidate from Tillamook were elected. Also because of the larger amount of court business conducted here it would be much more convenient for the litigants to have the judge a resident of this county.

Mr. Peters is thoroughly qualified for this position of trust and honor. He is entitled to your vote.

What Other Editors Say

Promises or Performances

Promises, or performance. That is what the voters of Oregon will have to choose between when they vote for Governor of Oregon this fall.

General Martin has not made many promises, and the promises he has made he knows he can fulfill. He has promised to reduce the bonded debt of the state of Oregon, and he has told just how he plans to do it.

He has promised to be governor of Oregon, not in name only, but in performance as well. There will be no hidden hand back of his chair, guiding it for the interest of a selected few.

General Martin is close to President Roosevelt and to the leaders of the New Deal. He is far closer to them than any other man in Oregon, and in name only, but in performance as well.

A vote for General Martin is a vote for performance and ability.

A vote against General Martin is a vote for promises, the same thing that Oregon voters have voted for for the past many years.

Isn't it about time to draw a halt to wasted voting, and discourage candidates for office in their belief that promises, plenty of them, will win any election?—Medford News.

Our Veterans

Veterans in Lane county have organized a Martin for Governor club. Some Dunne partisans and newspapers assail General Martin, saying he is a military man. But when did it become a fault to fight for good old U. S. A.? Was it wrong for George Washington to be a "military man"? Did Andrew Jackson do wrong in being commander-in-chief and winning an overwhelming victory over the British at New Orleans? Was it sinful and degrading for Abraham Lincoln to be a commander of troops in the Indian wars? Was it wrong for these and other military men to become presidents of the United States?

These criticisms of General Martin for having served in the army are an insult to every veteran. They are example of ingratitude by the critics toward the men who sacrificed and suffered on No Man's Land or on the march.

Time cannot compensate, nor words adequately acknowledge, the service of our veterans. Together with General Martin, they fought for humanity and country in the Philippines, and side by side they battled for humanity, democracy and country in France and Flanders. Theirs is the fellowship and a fraternity that years cannot dim nor memory extinguish.

By every consideration of mutual sacrifice, by every obligation of association, every veteran ought to be an ardent supporter of the man who, like them, knows the costs where soldiers lie and the chores that soldiers do.—Oregon Journal.

Do You Want a Sales Tax?

If you want a sales tax, vote for the 20 mill limitation of personal property taxes on November 6. For, as we see it, the situation which would result from passage of the measure would make it imperative that an emergency source of revenue to meet the cost of state government be provided.

The appeal in this measure lies in its avowed purpose of reducing tax levies on real property and, were it not for the fact that the curtailment of revenue for state and school purposes would make it necessary to seek some other form of taxation, we would recommend its passage. But, as we all know, the sales tax, although killed several times, is endowed with as many lives as the proverbial cat, and the record at the state legislature discloses that some of our senators are willing to do all in their power to revive the sales tax whenever opportunity offers—voters to the contrary notwithstanding.

Under the circumstances, it would be better to play safe and vote this measure down on November 6.—Hood River News.

Rescued Farmers

Oregon led Washington, Idaho and Montana in the number of federal land bank loans in the week ending September 19. The number for Oregon for the week was 107 for a total of $237,400. In the 12th reserve district 270 loans were made in the week for a total of $824,100, raising the total loans for the district to nearly $47,000,000.

It means that in 16 months this huge sum was loaned to 20,000 Northwest farmers to counteract threatened mortgage foreclosures. More than 85 per cent of these loans refinanced and substantially reduced long-existing indebtedness that was bearing down on farmers. This and lower interest rates will materially help the 20,000 farmers to get out of debt. It is government "of, by and for the people" brought back by President Roosevelt to the Abraham Lincoln idea of people's government instead of government of, by and for the Wall Street Big Boys.

The biggest issue in the Oregon state election is whether, by electing Martin, to approve the Lincoln plan, or to approve the plan of the Big Boys.—Oregon Journal.

If anything more were needed to defeat the proposed 20-mill tax limitation amendment, the opposition of Grange Master Ray Gill should be sufficient. Gill is for property tax reduction with a vengeance, but he doesn't believe in wrecking the state, which is what the 20-mill tax limitation would do.—Cottage Grove Sentinel.

If there are changes in the New Deal program they will come because President Roosevelt is keeping faith with the people and his own promises.—Hood River News.
