ties and is in no sense a state tax. Another $1,394,290.31 of the 1935 levy is accounted for by the general fund deficit, which, according to the constitution, must be met if this can be done without exceeding the six per cent increase.

While the financial needs of the levy tax-supported state departments and boards and commissions for the year are estimated at $6,944,455.47 revenues from miscellaneous sources other than property taxes are expected to yield $4,680,749. These miscellaneous sources include income, intangibles and excise taxes estimated to yield $1,900,000; inheritance taxes, corporation and insurance fees, titling fees, etc., estimated at $2,150,000; transfers to the general fund from the motor transport division, fish and game departments, etc., for support of the state police, totaling $430,749; and unexpended balances from the 1933-34 budgets amounting to $200,000.

Special millages alone impose a burden of $1,764,485 upon the taxpayers of the state or approximately $400,000 in excess of the total property tax for current expenses.

The most recent verbal tilt between Governor Meier and State Treasurer Holman, that centering about the Mulkey building, seems to be just another case of much ado about nothing in particular.

Holman, it seems, suggested that the legislature should investigate the feasibility of converting the building into office space for state

Blood on My Hands

I am concerned for my neighbor who heeds not the Bible truth as to his eternal soul.

For the Good Book says that they who reject Christ, shall go out into endless anguish of soul, forever away and away and away from God who made man for himself. They live on in that blackest sin, the sin of rejecting Christ as Saviour.

And I ought to be concerned for every man whom I might reach; until I have warned them their blood is on my hands. "The same wicked man shall die in his iniquity, but his blood will I require at his hand."—Ezekiel 2:18.

Hear the apostle—"I am innocent from the blood of all men." He was commanded to go to nations—"to open their eyes and to turn them from darkness to light and from the power of Satan unto God." Day and night, both publicly and from house to house he went, testifying both to the Jews and also to the Greeks that they must turn to God and have faith in our Lord Jesus Christ. "I purpose to know nothing among you save Jesus Christ and him crucified," he reminds them.

"The saved must stand before the judgment seat of Christ to receive their reward as God's messenger people; rewards or censure. In that awful hour let me not see my neighbor's blood upon my hands, but let me hear my Lord say, "Well done good and faithful servant." Come on men, let's give the truth as it is in Christ Jesus to the last unsaved soul in our county George N. Taylor, Beaverton. (Paid Ad)
