Farm Increase Highlight '34

Agriculture Income Shows Gain of 30 Per Cent

Authentic statement by Koger W. Babao BABSON PARK, Florida, January 25, 1935—The highlight of 1934 was the recovery on the farm. As a result of the drought, the American farmer finds himself better off today than at any time since 1930.
The farm income of the country for 1934 totaled approximately $8,000,000,000 compared with $6,250,000,000 in 1933—an increase af about thirty per cent for the year.
The improved financial position of the farmer today is one of the most promising factors in the business outlook for 1935. We cannot have prosperity in the factory without prosperity on the farm!

Farmer Held Spotlight in 1934

Farmer Held Spotlight in 1934 agricultural prot A year ago the agricultural prob-lem was one of our major issues Nineteen hundred thirty-four op-Nineteen hundred thirty-roun of some, and large excesses of practically all, farm products. Due to the 1934 drought, these supplies, in most cases, were entirely wiped out and cases, were entirely wiped out and even shortages in certain commodities developed. The result has been "dollar" wheat and correspondingly sharp gains in most other farm products' prices — the average advance being twenty-nine per cent for the year. Hence, the farm picture today has changed entirely. The farmer is once again feeling nappy for he has more cash in his pocket than at any time since the depression began.

prices have also influenced the poultry picture by substantially reducing layers in farm flocks.

Cotton Exports Cut in Half Southern cotton growers are also feeling much better. Prices in the last year have averaged 42 per centabove 1933. The fly in the ointment in the cotton situation is the sharp drop in exports. Cotton has been our biggest export item for years. If we continue to follow the AAA curtailment policy we may eventually find ourselves produced for home consumption on the AAA curtailment policy we may eventually find ourselves produced for home consumption of the South as wheat and hogs. For the time being, however, control is bolstering cotton prices.

But prosperity for the farmer is not measured in price increases alone. It is the gain in his "real" buying power which brings back "good times." "Real" buying power is calculated by comparing the prices of farm products with the prices of the goods which the farmer must buy. Last year finished goods' prices tapered off after their sharp jump in 1933. On the other hand, farm prices rose spectacularly. Another encouraging feature to-day is the relief of pressure on farm real estate. The value of land, like

Mrs. Marr H day is the relief of pressure on farm real estate. The value of land, like the value of a common stock, is based primarily on its earnings. Banks in agricultural regions report the best demand for farm lands in years. Prices are rising and interest payments are becoming more regular. Hundreds of hopeless situations have been saved by the increase in farm income. This has a far-reaching effect. Not only does it relieve the government of farm mortgage aid, but it strengthens the position of those insurance companies and banks which are heavily involved in farm mortgages.

Outlook for 1935 Outlook for 1935

Outlook for 1935

The drought dealt most farmers a good hand in 1934 but its effect on 1935 is a big question mark. The most important result of the drought from the viewpoint of the coming crop year is the necessity for many farmers to buy new seed. The latter, when not adapted to the locality, may bring extremely poor yields. Agricultural experts agree that the terrific heat and drought of last summer has seriously injured the fertility of farms west of the 100th meridian. We must have heavy snowfalls and rains this winter and spring to replace subsoll moisture. We must have cold weather to reduce pests, such as the weevil and chinch bugs, which have hibernated in unusually large numbers this winter.

Some long-range weather forecasters are predicting another hot and dry summer. Short crops again in 1935 will bring still higher prices indicated by the bottom line in the the following year. graph above, there have been three peaks of heavy hog slaughter-the marketing years of 1923-24, 1928-29, and 1933-34. Because of this fundamental relationship, effective control of corn acreage is a vital factor in controlling hog production.

The 1935 corn-hog contract now being offered farmers provides control of corn acreage and, therefore, will be doubly effective in preventing excessive hog production during the next year or so. Lack of adequate acreage control in 1935 not only would result in a large surplus of corn and low feed prices, but undoubtedly would be followed in 1936 and 1937 by heavy hog feeding and

And who is the Babe?

Let time tell. Thirty-odd years pass. He comes forth and presents Himself to Isreal as Almighty God tenting in a human body; doing what God alone could do, raising the dead beside many another mighty wonder. Then they crucified Him and up from the grave He arose.
