A MESSAGE TO THE FARMERS OF TOMORROW

For more than half a century The First National Bank of Portland has witnessed the improvement and development of Oregon farm lands. During all of these years we have aided in a considerable way the financing and marketing of crops from this district.

We have noted with pleasure the increasing growth of 4-H clubs . . . and their promotion of pure-bred livestock and improved farming methods.

To these young Club members . . . who will be the Oregon farmers of tomorrow . . . and to the Club Leaders who are so earnestly assisting in this development, we wish to extend an invitation to visit this bank and discuss their own affairs with us at any time.

"We know that the majority of women think of refrigeration merely as a cold place for the storage of food, and this "Cooking with Cold" school will certainly dispell this theory. Now every woman can learn how valuable a refrigerator can be in the preparation and serving of food. It will probably surprise you to learn that you can save yourself many hours of tiring kitchen work in hot weather by simply taking advantage of the suggestions that will be brought you in this school. Junior High Five Winner in 11 of 15 Games Played Hillsboro Junior high school won every game except the one with St. Marys in the grade school tournament at Beaverton last week Junior high won games from Tigard, Forest Grove, Gaston, thus winning the pennant, which is equivalent to second place in the county tournament. St. Marys placed first, winning the silver loving cup, Hillsboro boys have had a good season winning eleven out of fifteen games and being the only team in the county to win a game from St. Marys this year. The locals are the smallest team in the A class, their lack of height being felt severely in scrimmage under the basket. The comparative scores for the season were: opponents 150 points and Hillsboro 243 points. The twelve players who made their letters this season are as follows: Bill Grogan and George Tsugawa, forwards; Louis Graiff, center; Bud Hines, Loren Bronleewe and Elmer Rollins, guards; Dan Nosler, Francis Brown, Akira, Tsugawa, Jack Butler, Teddy Gardner and Bud Knapp, substitutes.

Here, we believe, is one of the most fascinating discoveries of modern cookerythe scientific use of electric refrigeration in the preparation of food.

Don't confuse this with an ordinary cooking school demonstration, for it is entirely new and unlike anything hitherto presented. It deals entirely with the problem of cooking with cold and if it did nothing more than show you how to keep out of the kitchen in extremely hot weather it would be worth triple the time you will spend to learn these interesting facts.

We know that the words "Cook with Cold" read like magic, and to women accustomed to thinking of refrigeration as merely a cold place to store things, it is magic.

Accept our invitation. Note the time and place and take advantage of this unusual event.
