This Week's Patterns
 No. 460
 No. 461

A SIMPLE, yet charming, morning frock of gingham, percale, or linen is available in Pattern 460. The waist and front and back panels of this slender creation are cut in one piece and the side flares add just enough fullness to be comfortable. Patterns come in sizes 36 to 52. Size 44 calls for 4 3/4 yards of 32-inch fabric with 3/4 yard contrast for short-sleeved dresses or 5 1/2 yards with long sleeves.

A smart frock that may be made with or without tulle is that in Pattern 461. The surplice closing trimmed with softly full revers is flattering to the larger figure, and the white vest provides contrast. The same pattern can be used for a wrap-around frock.

Patterns are sized 36 to 52. Size 44 requires 6 3/4 yards of 39-inch fabric for the tunic dress, and 1 1/4 yards of 35-inch fabric for the upper part of the foundation skirt. The vestee needs 9 by 12 inches of contrast. For full length skirt without underskirt, 6 3/4 yards of 39-inch fabric are needed. Crepe, printed, or plain silk should be used.

Clubs in Scholls District Meet Friday at Hall

(By Mabel B. Allison)
MOUNTAIN HOME—A moving picture, presentation of club pins and achievement cards will be held Friday night at Scholls Grange hall. Assistant County Agent L. E. Francis is expected to be present with a seven-reel movie. Members of 4-H clubs adjacent to Scholls, their parents and leaders, and others interested in club work are invited to attend. For further information see or telephone John Schmeidler, director of Chehalum Mountain Potato club.

Program, Social Attract
 Mountain Home school house had standing room only at the program and social held Friday evening. About $12 was realized from the sale of candy and other refreshments. Features of the program besides the three-act short play and the scenic slides of China drawn and painted by the children of the sixth grade, were a recitation by George Allison Jr., followed by a flag drill and song about the flag by the entire school; a vocal solo by Mary Boulton, accompanied by a pantomime by Wilma Boulton and a song by the entire school.

Crowd Smaller
 Gibbs Dramatic club presented its three one-act plays to a somewhat smaller audience than usual Thursday evening. About twelve dollars was cleared by the small admission fee, sale of candy and popcorn. This group will sponsor a community dance Saturday night.

Albert Kruger Buried
 Meeting of Mountain Home Bible club was postponed from March 23 on account of the funeral of Albert Kruger, who was buried in the cemetery here after services at the Mountain Home church. The Rev. W. E. Simpson preached the sermon.

Mrs. Ernest Brunton of Eugene arrived at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bryan, Thursday morning for a visit of several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodson and daughter, Miss Catherine Hodson of the amina, attended the school program.

Mrs. Eva Schnaz and small son of Portland are at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Grimm and children, who formerly made their home in this district, were present for the school social.

Mrs. W. E. Burke and son Billy spent March 9 and 10 in Portland as guests of Mrs. Burke's sister, Mrs. Fred Healey, and Mr. Haley. James Middleton and Earl Jones were recent visitors of friends and relatives at Dallas.

Chapman school has set April 26 for their program and social.

Harry Saunders of Portland spent the week-end at his farm home in this district.

Classified Ads Bring Results

Many local people have found the classified columns of the Argus the quickest and cheapest road between buyer and seller. The more than 2,000 families in this county that are paid subscribers of the Argus make up the "big market place" of Washington county.

Max Berger at Hazledale advertised some pigs last week. Not only did he sell the pigs, but a cow as well on the day the paper came out.

Mrs. L. M. Townsend lost her cocker spaniel dog and an ad in the Argus found the dog's son as the paper was issued.

Herman Glaske of West Union ran a horse for sale ad at a cost of 32 cents. The horse was sold the next day and paper came out and he had two more buyers the next day.

unable to take his part in the Mountain Home school program. His part had to be learned by others in the cast, after their arrival at the school house that evening.

Kitzmilller and Hall to Head Local Card

George Kitzmilller and Bill Hall, both of Portland, are billed as headliners for Promoter Coulter's wrestling card tonight at the V. F. W. hall. Bill Avery of Eugene will clash with Jack Stewart of Portland in the semi-windup and Jack Kiser of Kenton will meet Dewey VanLoof of Gaston in the curtain-raiser.

Heinie Olsen of Portland defeated Bill Hall of Aberdeen Thursday night in the main event of the local wrestling card which featured three rough bouts. Hall won the opening fall with a series of Sonnenberg head-butts followed by a body press. Olsen then came back to win the bout with a body slam and a Boston crab hold.

Vic Potter of Elmonica continued his string of victories on the local mat by taking the measure of Bob Koglin of Portland in the semi-windup. The Portlander applied a leg split to take the first fall. Potter took the second with a Boston crab and the third with a body press.

Curtain-raiser was a rough, vicious bout in which Farmer Stewart of Portland won over Jack Kiser by default. Stewart took the opening fall and then threw Kiser out of the ring. Kiser was unable to return and the bout went to Stewart by default. Stewart added to his unpopularity by kicking Kiser viciously after the decision.

Rodent Control Advised Now

County Agent Prepares Bait for Poisoning Squirrels

(By L. E. Francis, Ass't. County Agent)
 Every ground squirrel poisoned now means four less squirrels this summer and saves the farmer from 50 cents to $1, the amount of damage done by one adult squirrel during the season. The cost of the damage done by one squirrel would, if spent in poisoning them, serve as adequate control in most cases.

Average litter size is eight, which results in an increase of approximately four young a year for each adult squirrel. March is the breeding season for this rodent pest.

Consequently, now is the time to get the poison out. A thousand pounds of poisoned barley have been prepared at the county agent's office and will be distributed to the various community stores where it may be purchased.

One tablespoonful of poisoned grain should be placed near the entrance of each of the burrows or scattered along the runs. A three-pound sack of poisoned barley is sufficient for 60 to 80 baits. The amount of poison used or put out will depend on the number of squirrels on the farm.

Bait used for poisoning squirrels does not kill game birds. Trials have definitely shown us that grouse, quail, pheasants and similar birds can consume relatively large quantities of the bait without producing any harmful effects. However, where ducks, geese, turkeys and other domesticated fowls are ranging over the ground, it is necessary to use considerable care as they are more or less susceptible to the action of the poison.

It is further important that the poisoned grain be kept where stock cannot get any sizeable amount of it at one time. If the bait is spread as directed above, it will be impossible for livestock to pick up enough to do them any harm. It is advisable, wherever practical, to keep the dead squirrels buried because these dead squirrels usually contain enough of the strychnine to kill a dog.
