

Mrs. Hutchens Buried Sunday

Banks Woman Dies After an Extended Illness

BANKS—Friends and relatives from near and far gathered Sunday afternoon in the Banks church to pay tribute to the memory of Mrs. J. J. Hutchens, who died at her home here Friday morning.

Mrs. Hutchens had been ill for several years, but had maintained an active interest in church and lodge affairs to the last as she was only confined to her bed since Wednesday evening when she was stricken with a brain hemorrhage.

Rev. M. S. Woodworth, pastor of the Hillsboro Baptist church, conducted the funeral services, assisted by Rev. Tilton and Rev. Mudge, who led in the prayers. The Hillsboro choir had charge of the music. Interment was in the Banks cemetery with graveside services conducted by members of the Banks Pocatontis Rebekah lodge.

Josephine Ellen Hutchens was born in Glenwood, Iowa, March 12, 1879, and was married to John J. Hutchens February 19, 1899, in Glenwood, Iowa. The family moved to Nebraska in 1902 and to Oregon in 1901. They settled near McMinnville, where they lived until 1906 when they moved to the vicinity of Banks.

Mrs. Hutchens was a member of the Hillsboro Baptist church, Pocatontis Rebekah lodge of Banks, the Mothers' club of Banks, and Gale Grange.

She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Alta McCalm of Portland and Mrs. Clara Thompson of Banks; four sons, Orval and Delbert of Forest Grove, Caddie of Blaine and Claude of Taft; eleven grandchildren, and two brothers and two sisters in Nebraska.

"The overwhelming majority of our people seek a greater opportunity for humanity to prosper and find happiness," President Roosevelt said.

Jesus, Saviour of Mankind

Text: John 3:14-17; Romans 5:6-10; Philippians 2:5-11.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for April 14.

THE fact that he had come to the world as a Saviour of men was one thing that Jesus taught clearly and directly.

Again and again through different parables He illustrates the reality of the fact that He had come to seek and to save the lost. His mission as Saviour is from God the Father, who loves men and who will receive them with pardoning grace if they will turn from their sins and seek His mercy and the power of His salvation.

Depth and the extent of this gospel of salvation are alike set forth in John 3:16—"For God so loved the world, that He gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but have eternal life."

The passages in our lesson from Romans and Philippians may be regarded as expositions of this elemental gospel concerning the love of God and the sacrificial mission of Christ. When Jesus hung upon the cross, His enemies rallied upon Him contemptuously, saying, "He saved others, himself He cannot save."

THERE was more truth than they realized in their sneer. Even in ordinary human life we see often how men can save and help their fellow men only through giving themselves. Jesus gave Himself with the glory of a complete sacrifice—"God commendeth His love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us."

We ought to notice the way in which Paul expresses this. It has not always been put in that way, and men have sometimes taken even the language of Paul to express quite a different conception of the gospel; namely, that God could forgive man's sin only by making his own suffer the penalty.

Paul does discuss the nature of the sacrifice of Christ in reference to the conception of sacrifice in the Old Testament and among the Jews to whom his epistles were for the most part addressed. But when he comes to express the reality of the gospel on its positive and constructive side, he makes it plain that what Jesus was, God is.

THE love and sacrifice of Jesus were the expression of the Divine Father himself. If God had not loved men, Jesus would not have gone to the cross, and the cross would have been of no avail. It is not God who is reconciled to us by the death of Christ, but it is we who are reconciled to God.

But our lesson, concerning Christ the Saviour has its human application. It is possible for us to have the man which was in Christ Jesus. We can live, also, in the sacrificial spirit of love. We can so learn to know Christ and so receive into our hearts and lives the power of His salvation that we become saviors.

"We are co-workers together with Him," said Paul, and we could not be co-workers with Christ without participating in the great work that He came to accomplish in the saving of men.

Nor is this salvation that Jesus brings merely an individual or isolated thing. Men are saved into a fellowship. Through the salvation of Jesus we are brought into communion with the great company of those who everywhere bow in reverence and devotion at the name of Jesus.

Make Long Trip

Many fishermen were on the river banks as soon as the trout season opened Friday morning in spite of the bad weather. Joseph Wenzel and three of his scouts, Clarence Tschabold, Henry Bishop and Walter Hershey, went to the Salmonberry river as soon as school closed Friday. They returned Sunday with a limit catch of fine trout. The boys had to pack their grub and bedding 14 miles. Many farmers spent the week-end fishing as it was too wet for farming.

Declared the Best

"The 1935 advertising of Acme beer will continue to major in newspapers," stated Karl Schuster, president of the California Brewing association. "Our list includes more than 300 western newspapers and our increased 1935 budget is due to the splendid results we have achieved by past newspaper advertising. We give newspaper advertising full credit for helping create the two-year consistent leadership enjoyed by Acme beer throughout the western states and intend to continue to liberally use this proven medium," stated Schuster.

The advertising of Acme beer which is prepared by Emil Brisacher and staff, national advertising agency, last year won national recognition, being selected as one of the three best beer advertising campaigns in the United States.

How Do Your Meals Measure Up?

People of all ages require certain food essentials every day in order to be well nourished. The day's meals supply, or fail to supply, these needs depending upon the quantity and quality of foods chosen. To what extent they meet the family's needs can be told only by the application of a dietary measuring stick.

A suggested measure of this type for the homemaker is presented here, one in which standards are converted into terms of common foods. It also suggests a workable pattern for planning meals. It must be remembered that tasty, satisfying food is essential to the contentment and efficiency of each member of the family.

A good rule to apply in planning your meals will include the following foods every day:

Milk—Every: One quart for each child and for pregnant or nursing mothers. One pint or more daily for other adults. Cheese—Each week, once or more.

Vegetable—Every day: Two if possible, beside potato. One leafy, green, or yellow. Preferably some raw. Fruits—Every day: Two if possible. One citrus fruit or tomato, at least for children.

Cereal grains—Every meal: In form of bread or any kind, other breadstuffs, crackers, or breakfast foods. At least one-half as whole grain product.

Fats—Every day: About two-thirds of a pound per person each week. At least one-half of this

Special Services

Planned Sunday

Branches of palm trees cut from the Palestine road along which tradition says Jesus of Nazareth walked on the first Palm Sunday as He entered Jerusalem, will be blessed and distributed by Pastor Henry S. Haller at the 10:30 a. m. service of worship celebrating the holy day, at the chapel of Pilgrim House. This will be the 12th consecutive year Pastor Haller has received the Jerusalem palms for distribution, from a school friend now in the Holy Land. The house chapel will be open all Sunday afternoon, for those who care to view the special Palm Sunday floral decorations of the altar.

During the morning worship, a choir of male voices will sing. Solo parts will be taken by Elwood Colett, Willard Newton, Bud Person and Eli Beeler. Beside the soloists, the following will take part: Melvin Mariner, Harold Davis, Vernon Kreitz, Vincent Phelps, LuVerne Abeneth, Kenneth Short, Dale Berggren, Adalbert Haffner, Drexel Scott, Harold Armstrong, William Haffner and Hollis Scott. Morning sermon topic will be "Who Will Take His Cross?"

"We have undertaken a new order of things; yet we progress to it under the frame work and in the spirit and intent of the American constitution."—President Roosevelt.
