Must Face Facts

Teddy Roosevelt, son of the great Teddy, flays the Franklin Roosevelt administration because of the big national debt that has been piled up to provide relief and recovery activities. What would he have the country do, let the jobless and unfortunate starve with little or no national effort in their behalf as was the case in the previous administration.

Selfishness in its narrow sense must not rule. In a nation so rich and great we cannot have a large percentage of our people living in want if our form of government is to live and prosper. Selfishness must give way to the realization that those with incomes must share it with the government in helping to tide people over the emergency of unemployment. A love of our country and its institutions demands it and people with property and income should realize that it is for their own eventual good.

Reverting to Young Teddy it strikes us that perhaps much of it might be attributed to family jealousy and the fact that when the New Deal came in Teddy went out as governor-general of the Philippine Islands.

Building Oregon

The Oregon state board of control has taken a strong stand for the purchase of Oregon products, which is as it should be. Governor Martin has said it would be "the policy of this board to so let our bids that we will buy Oregon products almost exclusively."

Patronizing of home industry will reflect to the benefit of the state in the long run through the building up of local institutions that too often have not had the square deal to which they are entitled. It will increase payrolls. This is a policy which must be followed in the various subdivisions of the state as well.

Money spent at home by the state, the county and the city keeps the wheels of industry moving here instead of those in other sections. Practically anything desired can be purchased at a fair price locally.

It is a good policy always for everyone, regardless of whom it might be, to give the local business firm or industry the first chance. Make it your policy to do this wherever and whenever possible. The spirit of the Golden Rule demands it.

Given 'Em Good Send-off

The baseball season opens here Sunday with the local Sunset league team meeting the Aloha nine, while the following Sunday the Hillsboro Tualatin valley sluggers will cross bats with Amity.

In the not too distant past Hillsboro was a good baseball town, but support in recent years has not been anything like it should be. An inadequate fence has also been a factor in cutting down receipts as some fans have found it more to their liking to stay on the non-paying side.

The management of both teams and the players are going into the season with a great deal of enthusiasm and spirit. They promise to give the county seat two good ball teams. What they need most of all to make a good showing is a good old-fashioned send-off that would warm the heart of any ball player.

Congratulations, Neighbor

All honor is due our neighboring publisher and contemporary, Hugh McGilvra and the Forest Grove News-Times, which has been selected on Casey's 1934-1935 All-American weekly newspaper eleven. Our neighboring paper is one of the outstanding weeklies in the country and the honor is thoroughly deserved. It speaks well for the publications of Washington county that of four Oregon papers ever selected on Casey's All-American that two of them are from Washington county, the Argus having been selected in 1930. Other Oregon papers to win this honor are the McMinnville Telephone-Register and the Hood River News. All of these papers have also been winners in the Sigma Delta Chi contest for the best weekly newspaper in Oregon.

Keep Out of Entanglements

A strict neutral policy to keep America free from entanglements in foreign wars was shaped last week by President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull. Right, Mr. President, lessons learned during the World war should make us realize the necessity of keeping out of European affairs. Resolutions presented in the senate would impose a virtual embargo upon American loans to belligerent nations for the purpose of purchasing munitions or other contraband and would empower the president to keep venturesome Americans out of the war areas by the simple expedient of refusing them passports.

No man can tell what the future may bring forth, and small opportunities are often the beginning of great enterprises.

Footpaths Needed

Pedestrian deaths on the highway between here and Portland bring out forcibly the need for footpaths along all major highways. Building of such paths at a nominal cost under present federal set-ups should prove a great help in "Let's Quit Killing" campaign.

Two traffic fatalities have occurred in this county so far this year and both of them of pedestrians walking on the highway. Washington county traffic fatality records are full of just such cases.

The driver is under a severe handicap in meeting the pedestrian on the highway at night. Some times the bright lights of approaching cars, together with weather conditions, make it a physical impossibility to see a person walking on the highway, particularly if the pedestrian is wearing dark clothing.

Chamber of Commerce, American Legion, Grange, Farm Union, Coffee club, Business and Professional Women's club, Rotary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Garden club and in fact every organization in the community should interest itself in an effort to provide these footpaths as an aid in "Let's Quit Killing."

Let this community be the first to organize a campaign to provide paths along our major highways and if brought to a successful culmination we will find that traffic deaths are materially reduced.

Hillsboro students at both the university and the college are making a mighty fine scholarship standing. The honor roll at both places carried the names of local students. These students realize that an education can be one's greatest asset.

What Other Editors Say

Americanism First

We are registered as republicans and we believe in tariff, the chief battle cry of the republican party, but we are first and foremost American citizens and we are getting disgusted with a certain large republican daily newspaper not too far distant which for the past several weeks has been having headlines saying that the NRA was ruining the country, that business was going downhill and that unless the democrats and President Roosevelt were stopped that the world would certainly come to a swift and sorrowful end.

We sometimes find the NRA inconvenient and hard to live up to, but we do believe that it is the biggest reason why business has improved in the several months. We believe that the people as a whole are back of the NRA. A year ago buyers were trying to beat prices down below cost, they are now willing to pay a fair price and allow a reasonable profit—a necessity if business is to continue.

The NRA has put between 200 and 300 additional men to work in St. Helens. And at the same time business houses which were losing money a year ago now report a profit.

Of course business may have slowed up for two or three weeks. That is the way it has been appearing for months. It spurts ahead a bit and then slows down for a couple of weeks, but no one will deny that business has greatly improved during the past year.

This daily newspaper of which we speak has a circulation of nearly 100,000. It has been running these headlines on the front page nearly every day for weeks. There could be no more insidious propaganda than the stories they run as news which tell of the decline in business or the fact that the administration is losing the confidence of the public and not accomplishing what it should.

We are in the newspaper business and believe that we have as high a standard of newspaper ethics as the next fellow. If we had stories coming to our desks such as those which have been appearing in this metropolitan daily, our newspaper ethics would demand that we either leave them out or relegate them to an obscure corner of the paper.

The United States is coming out of the depression. Why not be big enough to forget petty party politics and give a boost instead of knocking just from the force of habit? Of course it is election time, but why not give the democrats a fair trial? Such stuff as that which is being run will soon undermine the confidence of the most optimistic democrat and can, of itself, stop the progress which the country is making.

We hope that everyone thinks as we do when we read their republican propaganda. We say, "Sour Grapes"—St. Helens Sentinel-Mist.

A Better Day Looms

With the signature by President Roosevelt of the work relief act this week, a broader ray of hope presents itself to several million Americans who were unable to participate in the smaller projects provided by PWA.

We still hear complaints against further increases in the public debt—but they invariably come from those who cherish the hope that the old reactionary program may yet replace the progressive and humane policy outlined in the New Deal. And, also invariably, those who complain of the huge expenditure of public money have not, to date, experienced the savings and want.

Today, a large percentage of public money is being invested in American lives and as we see it, there is no more profitable investment for the nation than the returns which will come to all through the raising of the standard of living of ten to twenty millions of Americans who have, for several years, barely existed and who have been fast drifting from the ranks of the unemployed to the ever-increasing groups of unemployable.

We agree with the reactionaries that we are in the throes of a social revolution, but for our part, we prefer this type of revolution—invariably as it is—to any of the bloody changes which have come in other lands, when the masses have broken the bonds which have been placed upon them by reactionary leaders, who could see no farther than the interests of a privileged minority.—Hood River News.

Local Workers Cite Situation on Wages

(Continued from page one) county wage level is lower than in other counties, committee men said. Information by White indicated that 11 counties have cut the minimum wage below 50 cents an hour and only two of that number have a minimum of over 40 cents.

That the county committee was doing everything possible to readjust budgets and to equalize the distribution of available relief funds was the declaration of the workers' committee. They also stated that Miss Alice Maxwell, executive secretary of the chamber, is doing everything in her power for the welfare of relief clients and that she should have the cooperation of all concerned. Assistance by workers was pledged.

Readjustments of the wage scale are made by a county wage board with the approval of the county and state committees. Representation of laborers and employers on future wage boards was promised.

Members of the committee acting for SERA workers included Rudy Graff, L. E. Olsen, Fred Bascom, Cain Sears, Clinton Duxbury, Orville Quaring, A. C. Colley and William Burnett, all of Hillsboro.

Baseball Season Opens on Sunday

(Continued from page one) Joos each collected two hits each. Two new teams have been added to the Sunset league, Tigard and Sherwood.

Rushlow Speaks at Coffee Club Meeting Friday

Original compositions were read by members of the Hillsboro Coffee club at their meeting Friday in the chamber of commerce rooms. L. J. Rushlow also spoke on safety in driving. He complimented the women for their caution in driving, saying that they had fewer accidents than did the men. He urged particular care in driving behind another car on a dusty road, suggesting that the following car wait until the air had cleared somewhat.

Mrs. E. E. Bentley read several original poems, including "I Would Be in Oregon," "April," "Beautiful Isle of Dreams," and "Colors." Then Mrs. V. W. Gardner, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Sewell, club president, sang "The Songs My Mother Sang," and "Spring in Oregon." Mrs. A. H. Blasing wrote the words for both songs and Harry Pearson, also of Hillsboro, composed the music.

"At the Foot of Literature Hill," a play written and directed by Mrs. H. H. Stannard, was also presented. Cast included Mrs. Wilbur Bonar, Mrs. Stannard, Mrs. Sewell and Mrs. Thomas G. Bronleewe. Mrs. J. M. Person read two selections.

Next session, scheduled May 10, will be a theater party at the Venetian theater, use of which has been donated by Orange Phelps. Members of the club have invited guests as the affair is to be strictly invitational. A high-type comedy, put on by local talent, will be staged at 2:15 p. m. Mrs. Stannard, chairman of the dramatic department, announced.

Mrs. Stannard, Mrs. Holt, Mrs. J. F. Buckland, Mrs. Lois Walworth and Mrs. Elwood Johnson were selected as delegates to the county federation convention April 26 at Metger.
