Sunset Squad to Play Here

Undefeated Squads to Clash Local Diamond Sunday

'ualatin, both undefeated this sea-on, will clash on the Shute park diamond here Sunday afternoon. Both teams are anxious to stay at the head of the league and a bang-

Don Shattuck, substituting at third base, turned in the outstand-ing performance of the game. He got two hits out of five trips to the plate and uncorked an unassisted double play. Catcher Darety also starred, throwing out every Tigard runner who attempted to steal second and cracking out a two-bagger in the fifth to bring in two runs. He has not allowed a single stolen base this season.

single stolen base this season.

Results of other Sunset league games found Willamette breaking into the win column by defeating Gaston 15 to 13 in a free-hitting game, Orenco defeating Cornelius 7 to 2. Tualatin trouncing Laurel 10 to 5 and Aloha taking the measure of Sherwood 5 to 4 in 10 innings.

Games scheduled this week are as follows: Tualatin at Hillsboro, Cornelius at Gaston, Willamette at Sherwood, Tigard at Laurel, and Orenco at Aloha.

Calf Fitting Shown

Demonstration on the fitting of a dairy calf for show will be given by L. J. Allen, assistant state club leader, at the W. T. Putnam & Sons dairy farm, one-fourth mile west of the River road on the Farmington road at 1:30 p. m. Saturday, according to L. E. Francis, assistant county agent. Four-H club members will be shown how a dairy animal should be groomed, fitted and trained to lead for the show ring.

Particular stress will be placed on the method of feeding in order to get an animal in the best condition for exhibition. Any farmers interested in this demonstration are welcome to attend.

The Repentance of Sin

Text: Luke 15:11-24.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 5.

THREE things that have been very real all through human history are dealt with in this

The reality of sin needs very little emphasis. We see the evidences of it on every hand, and the records of the past speak chiefly of what we find in our

Here is this tragic record of the prodigal son, leaving a good home and a kind father, going out into life to have his fling, to waste himself and his substance. It is the old, familiar story of sin and the allurement of sin that turns out to be a snare and a tragedy.

In this, also, the story is not old. It is the story of what is happening in many lives today. If that were the whole story, life indeed would be dark and dismal. But the worth of our study of Sunday school lessons, and of our teaching of them, is found in the fact that there is a way out of the abyss of sin.

MAN may rise from his mis-takes and errors. He may still be the bird with the broken pinion, never able to soar quite so high again; for it is true that though sins be forgiven, they often leave their indelible marks and their effects.

But even broken by sin in body and soul, man may find a new peace with God and the beauty and glory of a new life.

How can this be found? The

When the prodigal son came to himself and turned from his sin, he had made the first step toward the new life. In coming to himself he was on the way to his father's house, and on the way to God. Sin is always a departure from one's self and from one's best. Repentance is the way of return to oneself as well as to God.

Repentance is the first great evidence of faith. It is not the full flowering of faith, though it is something more than despair and disgust with sin.

REPENTANCE is disgust with sin in effective action. It is the strength of one's turning that constitutes his repentance. Repentance is the beginning of what faith fulfills in man, in the salvation of man from sin.

Paul said, "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." It is the nature and quality of the Gospel that it is defined by its fruits. It is not a theory; it is not even just a beautiful teaching; it is an effective power of God upon which men may lay hold and under which they may find their lives transformed. Would God that in every story of prodigal sons there might be as happy an ending as in the great parable of the Scripture! Why not? The same power is working in the world today as then, and those who have wan-dered far away may return and find a father's grace.

If human fathers fail, there is no failure with the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ and Our

Pasture Grass Use Explained

Use of pasture grasses for the control of soil erosion as well as for supplying a permanent pasture for livestock is of growing importance in agricultural practices. This was the statement E. R. Jackman, extension agronomist, made at a pasture grass field meeting at the Elmer Guerber farm Saturday. Eighteen club members and farmers were present at this disthe community hall Wednesday evening at the annual chicken dinner given for the Hillsboro Chamber of Commerce and business mea, in Hillsboro, for the benefit of Commerce and business mea, in Hillsboro, for the benefit of Commerce and former types of posture grasses.

Thirteen types of pasture grasse are being grown in trial plots on the Guerber farm. These grasses are: Astoria Bent, Reed Canary, Upland Canary, Meadow Fescue, Kentucky Blue grass, English Rye grass, Domestic Rye grass, Orchard grass, Timothy, Tall Oat grass, Chewing Fescue, Tall Fescue and Smooth Brome. Jackman discussed the advantages and disadvantages of each, when grown under Will-amette valley conditions.
