

Boy Drowns Banks Sunday

Senior Class Play Friday: Win Track Places

(By Mrs. Fred Wolford)

BANKS—Residents of Banks and vicinity were shocked Sunday afternoon over the drowning of Minora Shigeno, a little nine-year-old Japanese boy. The boy accompanied by two younger Japanese boys, Kogi Shigeno and Tomi Ishii, was fishing in Dairy creek not far from Banks.

Minora slipped into the water, which was seven feet deep at that place, and after struggling to keep on top went down. His little companions did not seem to realize the danger Minora was in so did not hasten to get help. Their inquiries for a good swimmer finally revealed the tragedy and then the response was quick. Austin, Mary Paul Resencron and Brandon Hall plunged into the water which was very cold and so muddy that the body could not be seen. After a frantic search by the three it was finally located fifteen feet below where it went in by Brandon Hall who brought the boy out. He was rushed to Forest Grove where a pump motor was used, but to no avail. He had been in the water approximately forty minutes when taken out.

Minora was the son of Mr. and Mrs. K. I. Shigeno, a berry grower near Banks. He also is survived by two brothers, Shizue and Koji at Banks, and two sisters, Keizo at Banks, and Mrs. Eiko Tanaka at Cornelius. He was a pupil in the fourth grade at the Banks school.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon in Forest Grove and the body later taken to Portland for cremation.

"BASI-COP" REVOLUTIONIZING BORDEAUX SPRAYING

A Message of Unusual Importance to Walnut and Fruit Growers

● Sherwin-Williams announces Basi-cop, a true basic copper sulphate that is neutral and requires no lime to make a copper spray. It is especially suitable as a foliage spray on delicate varieties such as the peach or walnut. Official tests for control of Walnut Blight in Western Oregon, shows Basi-cop non injurious to the foliage, whereas home made Bordeaux caused foliage injury in nearly every case where it was applied.

Basi-cop contains 52% metallic copper, while ordinary copper sulphate or blue stone contains only 26%. Only 2 pounds of Basi-cop are required to 50 gallons to make a 4-4-50 Bordeaux Spray while home-made, or two package, Bordeaux requires 4 pounds of vitrol and 4 pounds of lime to equal 2 pounds of Basi-cop in copper content.

The Sherwin-Williams Horticultural Advisor will gladly cooperate in suggesting an effective and yet economical spray program.

TESTED FOR VALUE -- MEASURED FOR SIZE

A. B. C. FACTS

ARE VITALLY IMPORTANT

Down in Washington there is the Government Bureau of Standards. Contained in this official department are numberless devices and amazing equipment to test and measure a range and quantity of materials and products that are almost beyond conception.

Lacking an official system for testing and measuring newspaper circulations until twenty-one years ago, the Audit Bureau of Circulations (A. B. C.) was formed to function for advertisers and publishers in the authoritative way the Bureau of Standards serves commerce generally.

Mysterious gadgets and higher mathematics don't enter into the A. B. C. picture. The process itself is a simple matter. An experienced, impartial auditor spends several days every year inspecting and thoroughly examining every detail of an A. B. C. member's circulation.

This auditor reveals, through a formal audit report of several pages, vital information that every advertiser must follow if he expects to know what he's getting for what he is paying.

For instance, the audit report shows press runs of various editions of each issue—identifies territories in which this total circulation is distributed—shows inducements, if any, that were used to obtain subscriptions—specifies what percentage of the circulation is in arrears beyond allowed time—shows what copies were distributed, if any, without payment.

Then—and not until such unprejudiced information is available—does an advertiser know how many prospective customers his sales message is reaching.

Short measure or short count can't get by an A. B. C. auditor's report any more than the U. S. Bureau of Standards would give its approval to a product or material that was masquerading under false claims and, therefore, under false values.
