Meaning of the Last Supper

Text: Matt. 26:17-30
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 26.

AS, shortly before His crucifixion, Jesus partook of the Passover with His disciples in an upper room in Jerusalem, the Lord's Supper was instituted. The occasion is memorable for the intimate picture that we have of the disciples in the last great act of fellowship before their Lord's death, and for the element of tragedy, foreshadowing Calvary itself, that entered into the occasion as Jesus announced that one of His own very circle would betray Him.

Did Jesus intend to found a formal rite in the church, or was He emphasizing the sacred nature of a Christian fellowship and communion? We can never know regarding that, but the remembrance of this upper room and the record of what happened there so took hold of the life of the church that very early the Lord's Supper, and the partaking of bread and wine in common, became the most sacred symbol of Christian faith and fellowship.

Paul very definitely establishes this rite of the Lord's Supper, and, recalling the example of Jesus in which He gave the bread and wine to the disciples as symbols of His body and blood, he represents the act of communion in the Lord's Supper as one of remembrance, showing or making manifest, the Lord's death until He comes.

THE disciples believed that in that act, embodying the spirit of Jesus, they were participating in His real presence, and it is no wonder that this conviction became so strong that it developed into doctrines of transub-stantiation and consubstantiation. The Christians of today are not likely to be involved in the sharp and intense controversies that the historic church has witnessed concerning these matters. One may venture the belief that the presence of Jesus in the communion of Christians and in the Lord's Supper is not a formal or mechanical matter. The Lord could hardly be present among those who were not met in the depth of sincerity and faith, and He could hardly be absent, concerning His own promises, from the communion of those who in deep simplicity of faith and earnestness were met in His name.

TOO often the rite of the Lord's Supper in the Church has been a formal thing—a symbol of the fact of fellowship in the Church rather than a symbol of the union of souls with Jesus in sacrificial love and service. It is a solemn thing to call to mind the dying of the Lord Jesus and to symbolize a union with Him so intimate that He comes into our lives in such a way that He is our sustaining power and our inspiration.

Much of our religious thought and action today is altogether too shallow. Religion is not merely a matter of doing, even though with sadness one contemplates the lack of vital Christian action on the part of those who make Christian profession.

The Christian life is a matter of being. It is linked with the life of God, with the life and death of Jesus, and with the life of that great company in the church militant and in the church triumphant who have loved, and sacrificed, and served in witnessing to the world the divine compassion and the fullness of the gospel of grace.
