Union High District

Debt Load Slashed

Board of Non-High School
Area Will Organize

John W. Kamna Jr. of Farmington was unanimously re-elected as director on the Hillsboro union high school board for a five-year term Monday during the annual Hilhi district meeting. A total of 64 votes were cast at the election, a marked increase over the 24 ballots received at the local elementary district vote the previous Monday.

Reduction in the warranted and bonded debt of the district during the past year of $29,750.23 was reported by L. C. Lomax, clerk. The board of non-high school general fund warrants was retired and the bonded debt was reduced by $15,000, according to the report.

Debt Load Slashed

Outstanding loan warrants at the present time amount to $27,300, while endorsed general fund warrants are non-existent. The total for these two items at the close of the 1933-34 school year was $42,050.23. Bonds now outstanding total $118,500 as compared with $133,500 at the same time last year. The Hillsboro union high school district is practically on a cash basis, Lomax stated.

Receipts of the district during the past year totaled $87,064.86. These funds were obtained as follows: Taxes, $65,652.62; tuition from the non-high school district, $10,050.31; transportation from the same source, $533.34; loan warrants issued during the year, $555.00; and other sources, $675.59.

Expenditures were reported as follows: General control, $2342.13; supervision, $1890; teachers, $18,925.94; operation of plant, $3800.80; maintenance, $855.37; transportation, $13,667.03; domestic service, $110.30; manual training, $301.25; library, $108.49; lock fund, $306; insurance, $27.43; equipment, $524.60; street assessments, $388.80; payment on bonds, $15,000; payment on old warrants, $11,300; payment on old warrants, $889.23.

Ray Plans to Build New Home at Farm

Mission-type Ranch House Begun
Last Week on Cornell Road

Construction of a two-story Mission-type ranch house was started last week by H. W. Ray, chairman of the Ray-Maling cannery board of directors, on the south side of the Cornell road opposite the Ray breeding farm. The house will be a quarter of a mile and will have between an acre and an acre and a half in lawn and grounds.

First story of the building will be of white-washed brick and the second story of vertical boards and batting. Exposed beams will be hewn timbers taken from an old barn constructed in the seventies, according to Ray.

The ranch house will have eight rooms, a sleeping porch, and three fireplaces. Heat will be provided by an oil burner.

Charles W. Ertz, Portland contractor, and Tom Burns, associate in charge of the work. The house will be named after the state's early history and will be built by E. Maling's home at Whale Cove and the new warehouse at the cannery.

Pioneers, Native Sons and Daughters Recall Olden Days

Early days in the Oregon country were recalled and the place of Washington county in the state's early history was cited at the annual meeting and picnic of the Washington County Pioneers and Native Sons and Daughters association at Shute park Sunday afternoon. More than 300 were in attendance and the gathering was so enjoyable that it was decided to make the organization permanent with as large a membership as possible.

L. E. Wilkes, who presided, was district president; F. N. Brown of Laurel is vice-president, and Mrs. Emma C. McKinney of Hillsboro secretary-treasurer. All officers were re-elected.

A humorous comparison of pioneer days with those of the present was made in the principal address of the day by Miss Dulcinea Brown of Portland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Brown of Hillsboro and the great-great-granddaughter of William W. Whitmore, founder of Pacific university. This talk was the highlight of the program. Qualities of a pioneer as given by Miss Brown include vision, courage, sacrifice, hard work and perseverance.

Mayor J. H. Garrett made the address of welcome and Mrs. Edith Tozier Weathered responded. Hillsboro, in the opinion of Mrs. Edith Tozier Weathered, because of the great part played by the pioneers of Oregon history by the pioneers of Washington county, should be made a great historical center. She said that many of her friends had offered to contribute to a historical Outstanding among the attractions scheduled will be baseball games on each afternoon of the three-day event. Hillsboro's junior team, sponsored by Carl Russell, and the Cornelius Juniors, managed by "Burr" Huson, will clash in the opening game at 2 p. m. Tuesday. Roy of the Washington County league will meet Cedar Mill of the Farm Union loop at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the second scheduled game. The game will be at the Cedar Mill of the Farm Union loop at 2 p. m. Patriotic, floral and pet parade, which is to start at 6:15 a. m. July 4 from the corner of First Avenue and Main streets under the sponsorship of the Hillsboro Rotary club, is attracting considerable interest. All entries must be in line at 5:30 a. m. and report to the chairman, Richard E. Wiley. Cash prizes will be awarded in all classes. Entries should be filed at the Argus office by noon July 3.

Free Venetian theatre tickets and free merry-go-round tickets will be distributed at 9 p. m. Tuesday.

Complete separation of direct relief and re-employment service offices and personnel in Washington county will be completed on or before Monday, according to an announcement today by R. W. Weil, chairman of the county relief committee. This action is being taken following notification from federal headquarters and is believed to be the first step in setting up the new government work program.

The new program will be handled by the works progress administration, the letter received by Weil stated. Placement of all employees on the new works program will be made by the National Re-employment Service.

Prior to this time the county relief committee has assisted the National Re-employment Service by providing personnel and facilities for registering and placing unemployed workers. Under the new set up, this work would be handled by a staff entirely separate from the relief personnel.

First word that a federal re-employment service office would be organized in Washington county was received last week by Donald T. Templeton, county judge. At that time the county was asked to contribute $100 a month to aid in conducting the work. The county is now handling up the various cities to assist.

That the first set-up would probably be of a temporary nature and would insure establishment of a permanent office under the social security act after the first of the year was the opinion expressed last week by Judge Templeton. At that time he stated that between four and five persons would be employed in the office.

SERA canners are expected to start operation in Washington county on or about July 5, according to Weil. Equipment has been purchased for units at Hillsboro, Forest Grove and Aloha, while the cannery at Tigard is already in operation. The general supervisor and assistants will be provided by the county SERA.

Five new projects were approved this week, according to W. J. Mills, manager of the SERA. The projects are to produce rugs and carpets from waste from the sewing projects, cleaning approximately six miles of drainage ditch north of Beaverton, clearing and leveling about 100 acres of land near South school, shingling and repairing the Pleasant View school, and construction of 25 tables at Shute park.

Total of 34 juniors left Hillsboro Tuesday afternoon for enlistment in CCC camps. Sixteen of this group were sent to Camp Boynton at Astoria and the balance to Vancouver Barracks. The county quota was 28, but the additional six were sent as cooks.

The local unit of the Oregon National Guard arrived here Tuesday at 6 o'clock, glad to be home after a dusty, but interesting two weeks' camp with the 41st Division at Fort Lewis, Wash. The general comment among the boys was that they would not trade one county of Oregon for the whole state of Washington.

Generally, the local soldiers conducted themselves in a reputable manner, not only in camp, but also on leave. One Hillsboro group ran afoul of Military Police in South Tacoma, but nothing serious resulted.

The company has a high reputation for its technical training, and usually works hard to maintain the reputation. The unit also belongs to the famous 2nd Battalion which is called the "Pansy Battalion" by the jealous, because it is called upon to act as escorts for governors, generals and other prominent men. This also calls for exacting drill in order to keep the standard of the battalion where it is.

No one was reduced in grade or subjected to any more serious discipline than confinement to camp over a Saturday night or an extra tour of duty, peeling potatoes. There were no accidents, and no serious illnesses, although the clouds of dust encountered daily were not helpful. We are looking forward to the next camp at our own Camp Clatsop, which is a paradise as far as Camp Murray is concerned.

The entire guard paraded in Portland Tuesday on their return.

Receipts of Recent Tax Sale Reported

Sale of 293 tracts in the recent auction of property foreclosed for delinquent county taxes netted $34,420.13, according to figures released this week by Miss Gladys Elsner, tax deputy. Since the sheriff's sale started on May 18, 106 parcels of property, involving $28,497.12, were redeemed by owners.

Total of 600 tracts were neither redeemed nor sold and were turned over to the county, Miss Elsner stated. Taxes involved amounted to $73,622.23. These properties will be appraised by the county court, prices set and re-advertised for sale.

Plea for Early Copy Next Week

The Argus will go to press Tuesday night in order to allow distribution throughout the county on Wednesday and permit the newspaper staff to celebrate the glorious Fourth of July along with other people in the community. This edition will carry last minute news of the "Happy Days" Fourth of July celebration here, including the Goddess of Liberty and attendants selections together with their pictures.

Correspondents and advertisers are asked to please have their copy in earlier by a day if possible. Classified columns will close at 11 a. m. Tuesday for this edition. Correspondents and others sending in news should send in as much copy as possible the last of the week. A mail slot has been placed in the Argus office door as a convenience to those wishing to leave material here when the office is closed.

Local Scouts Attend Camp at Lee Falls

Ten Boy Scouts from Hillsboro are attending camp at Lee Falls above Cherry Grove this week. The campers left here Sunday for a one week stay.

Local Man Gets Postal Contract

O. R. Westcott of Hillsboro was awarded the contract this week to carry mail from the local postoffice to the Portland office. He has star route between Hillsboro and Banks. The messenger service was formerly handled by J. J. Mockley of Hillsboro.

Plastering on the new Hillsboro postoffice building is about half completed, according to Fred Holz-nagel, postmaster. The structure is expected to be ready for occupancy between the middle of July and the first of August.

Local Auto Dealer Plans New Location

Hillsboro Motor to Move About
July 1 to Main Street Site

Plans to open a new sales room and repair shop for the Hillsboro Motor company on Main street near the new postoffice building shortly after July 1 were announced this week by James Whitelaw, proprietor. The firm has also opened a new branch in the auto mobile business in Hillsboro for the past three years, handling Chevrolet and Oldsmobile cars. He reports that he now has six mechanics employed in his shop, twice the total for a year ago, and has also increased his sales force.

Weil, chairman of the county relief committee. This action is being taken following notification from federal headquarters and is believed to be the first step in setting up the new government work program.

Savings, Loan Firm Declares Dividend

Local Concern Reports Gains in Reserve for Past Six Months

Three per cent dividend, the twentieth consecutive semi-annual dividend to be declared in the past 10 years, has just been ordered by the Washington Savings & Loan association of Hillsboro. The payment is effective July 1 and checks to investors will be sent on that date.

The association holds the unique record of having gone through the depression without missing a dividend and without impairing its reserve fund account. J. M. Person, manager of the association, reported to the board that the association has added more to its reserve fund than in any other year.

Decision to form one super power district of eight northwest Oregon counties and to organize Multnomah and Tillamook counties as separate units was reached here late Thursday afternoon following a conference of delegates from 10 counties at the Hillsboro Grange hall. The Northwest Oregon Power District association, consisting of the counties represented, was also set up.

Counties to be included in the proposed super district are Washington, Clackamas, Clatsop, Polk, Columbia, Marion, Lincoln and Yamhill. In the ballot for the large district, seven counties voted favorably, the Washington county delegation alone voting against the plan.

The original organization motion was drafted to include all 10 counties, but was later amended to exclude Clatsop and Tillamook counties. The latter area has already organized a people's utility district, while the former was permitted to withdraw following a request by Ray W. Gill, state Grange manager, and delegate from Multnomah county.

Temporary officers of the group, selected at the first meeting in Hillsboro on June 2, were declared officers of the permanent organization for the coming year, while present chairmen of the various county delegations were named as members of the board of directors until such time as permanent chairmen were chosen. G. W. Thieszen of Clackamas county and John D. Bozart of Bay City this became chairman and secretary, respectively. Dr. Elbert Slaughter of Portland was named as advisor.
