4-H Club Members Judge Holstein Dairy Cows

Thirty county and guest Holstein breeders, their families and friends, and forty 4-H club members and leaders attended the annual Washington County Holstein-Friesian picnic at the A. J. Evers' farm Tuesday.

Two classes of Holstein cows were judged by the 4-H members in the morning. H. A. Mathiesen, field agent for the Holstein-Friesian association, made the official placings in the judging contest. At noon the entire group assembled around one long table for a basket lunch.

In the afternoon the breeders inspected Evers' irrigation project and listened to a discussion on herd development by Mr. Mathiesen. Annual ball game between the breeders and the club boys was the closing event of the picnic.

Townsend Pension Plan Wins Praise

(Continued from page one) new currency that we could not only have paid the bonus, but also "reduced the interest of the country fifty per cent."

He also quoted W. J. Bryan, and Woodrow Wilson as well as Lincoln as prophets of present conditions. Answering the argument that the two per cent transaction tax would make higher prices on commodities, Mr. Bennett, declared the volume of business would increase to such an extent that merchants could run on a small margin of profit and still reduce prices instead of increase them.

Next meeting of the Townsend club of Hillsboro will be July 28. At that time a play under the direction of Mrs. H. H. Stannard is to be presented. Definite announcement will be made next week.

New Work Plan Set August 1st

Minimum monthly wage in that portion of the county classed as metropolitan will be $55 and the lowest wage in the balance of the county $40. Men assigned to projects will not be penalized for loss of time due to bad weather or conditions outside of their control. Four separate divisions will be established under the new set-up, namely: Works progress, social service, re-employment and rural settlement and rehabilitation. Definite details of the various offices, personnel or of administration are not available.

Hillsboro relief canyery unit started operations Tuesday at the new Hillsboro Grange hall and the cannery at Huber started Wednesday. Forest Grove and Tigard units are expected to be ready for operation the first of the week.

The government is supplying cans, sugar and supervision on the work in order to preserve products in relief gardens. The canneries will be open each week day and clients will be notified by case workers as to the times assigned to each.

Members of the county relief committee met Tuesday evening at the court house to discuss the canyery projects and the request from state relief headquarters to reduce the administration force. One clerk and a case worker will be dropped by August 1, it was decided. Funds sufficient to continue direct and work relief projects in Washington county for at least another week and a half were received Monday from the state office by R. W. Weil, chairman of the county relief committee. Shortage of funds last week led relief officials to fear a shut-down on the program during the balance of July.

Codling Moth Spray Urged

Many Eggs Reported Laid in Past Few Nights

Apple and pear growers in the Willamette valley should apply a codling moth spray now for control of codling moth. Following a long period of almost total inaction, the codling moths are again being taken in the bait traps. Many eggs were deposited last week and more may be expected. Under ordinary Willamette valley weather conditions, these eggs will hatch in six to eight days. The spray should be applied before the eggs hatch. Recommended spray is powdered lead arsenate used at the rate of three pounds to 100 gallons of water. In orchards where codling moth is not a serious problem, two pounds of powdered lead arsenate to 100 gallons of water is sufficient to give control.

Calcium arsenate has been used successfully in the Willamette valley for codling moth control. Tests carried on by the entomology department of the Oregon Experiment station over a period of five years indicate that under Willamette valley conditions calcium arsenate is only slightly less effective than lead arsenate in codling moth control.

Because of the long interval since the last cover spray was applied, and the rapid growth made by the apples, thoroughness in application is especially essential in this spray. The foliage as well as the entire surface of every apple and pear should be covered thoroughly with the spray solution if worm injury is to be prevented. Special care should be taken in spraying the upper portion of the tree, as more than half the codling moth eggs are laid in the upper third of the tree.

Motor Firm Opens Modern Quarters

Enthusiasm over the success of the grand opening of his new quarters on East Main street Saturday was expressed by James Whitlaw, proprietor of the Hillsboro Motor company. He estimated that 500 people attended the free picture show in the evening and stated that the salesroom and shop were crowded all day. Approximately $3000 has been spent in improving the building and in buying new equipment. Whitlaw stated. Doorways have been widened to provide safe entry and exit, a new greasing hoist has been installed, facilities provided for painting, washing and brake adjustment. Attractive departmental signs have also been installed. Whitlaw declared that his shop and salesroom would be second to none in Portland. Parking for customers has also been provided in the rear of the new quarters.

Christensen Named Leader New Group

William C. Christensen, vice-president of the Commercial National bank, was elected secretary-treasurer of the newly formed Independent Bankers of Oregon at the organization meeting in Salem Saturday night. He was also elected on the executive committee. C. E. Williamson, cashier of the Bank of Albany, is president. Fifty independent bankers from 30 different communities were present at the first meeting. Independent bankers are those who are not branch bankers, and the purpose of the organization is said by the officers to meet occasionally and discuss matters of peculiar interest to themselves in which branch bankers would not be interested. It was made clear that none of the functions of the Oregon Bankers' association would be taken over, but, rather, that the independent bankers would concern themselves with their own problems and would work hand in glove with the senior organization.
