

With Which is Combined the Hillsboro Independent Hillsboro Argus estab. 1894 Hillsboro Independent estab. 1873

Liberties Dear

The following paragraphs from the National Republic fit the radicals and "red" situation thoroughly and express our sentiments far better than we could.

Read the following from this magazine, it furnishes much food for thought: Nowhere in the entire world is there today such freedom of speech, press and action as there is in the United States.

People must be tolerant in everything they do. The right of free speech and civil liberties has been taken away from the people in many other nations because minorities have been allowed to abuse that privilege.

In other countries where organized minorities have conspired against the existing form of government, taking undue advantage of the use of the free speech and civil liberties that once existed in these countries, dictators have ridden into power "on white horses."

Many of those creating disturbance and unrest on our soil today are men who have been oppressed in their own country because of subversive action. They weakened their own governments, paving the way for dictatorships.

Why America should allow these alien trouble makers to use its soil as their testing-ground we do not know. Stop these subverters now! Invite them to settle down, become Americans in practice as well as in name, or force them to return to their old countries.

An Important Day

Observance of Armistice Day, that memorable occasion which ended the World war, is urged by Governor Martin. It is hoped that a statute providing for observance of this day as a legal holiday can be passed by the legislature so that the matter of business houses closing will not always remain a question until the last moment.

Our Yesterdays

Fifteen Years Ago Argus, October 14, 1920—Banks arranging for big stock fair. Putting up $4000 building. A. E. Westcott is president of the fair board.

Thirty Years Ago Argus, October 19, 1905—Tillamook railway seems assured. E. E. Lytle expects to tap the big timber district.

Organized labor in California took a stand in state session recently, which, if followed by other units of labor throughout the country, would win many friends for labor.

Good Business

Voters of the city will go to the polls Friday to approve or disapprove a plan to secure proper sewer and disposal systems for Hillsboro.

The voters will be asked to decide whether or not they will accept an outright gift of $83,455 and a loan of $102,000 from the federal government for the construction of sewerage systems in those portions of the city not now served and for the building of a disposal plant that will serve the entire city.

Costs of retiring the loan and maintenance have been figured at low monthly charges, the same as one would pay for his water bill. Larger users pay proportionately more.

Stream pollution in the Tualatin river from the septic tank for the present sewer system may bring down the wrath of the state board of health at any time and force the construction of a proper disposal plant.

Still further is the need for providing work and helping the unemployed to security.

We commend to the readers a thorough study of the question as impartially outlined in last week's Argus by Mayor J. H. Garrett.

Evidence can be found in actions of business groups every place to refute statements made by Senator Borah and others that the now defunct NRA discriminated against and was injurious to the small business man.

Congratulations are due Mrs. Hazel Hollenbeck of the North Plains Pythian Sister temple on her elevation to the position of grand chief for Oregon.

Public Forum

SEES OTHER SIDE OF PICTURE Hillsboro Argus The current issue of the Hillsboro Argus made the following statement with reference to growers' antipathy towards the walnut marketing agreement:

Our bulletin of September 26, 1935, included with it a postal card giving you an opportunity to approve or disapprove the new proposed marketing agreement.

Work to Begin on Beaverton Sewer

Construction of a storm sewer in Beaverton to drain into the creek on the Boverdam east of the city, will begin October 31, it was announced this week by K. E. TWA, WPA engineer, in this county.

Capitol Site Ballot

If you are interested in where the capitol building should be located, register your vote below and mail it to The Capitol Hill, Hillsboro Argus at once.

Court Found Wise in Its Selection of Precedents in the Monetary Cases

Editor's Note—One of a series of discussions on constitutional questions prepared by members of the U. of O. faculty for newspaper use, through co-operation of the college of social sciences and school of journalism.

When the Roosevelt administration came to power in March, 1933 the banking system of the country had broken down, credit was contracted, confidence strained, gold was being hoarded by millions of dollars and the outgo of gold was threatened by the monetary policy of foreign countries, most of which had abandoned the gold standard, but were frantically striving to strengthen credit abroad and stabilize international exchanges.

The court held, in keeping with Juilliard vs. Greenman, that the power to set up this monetary system does not reside wholly in the coinage clause of the constitution but resides also in the sovereign powers that belong to the national government.

The full exercise of this power to set up a monetary system can not brook the existence of contracts calling for the payment of some other medium than that specified by congressional act.

In this important piece of legislation, contracts for the payment of gold were declared void, contrary to public policy. Obligations to pay money incurred either before or after the law was passed regardless of provisions contained in such contracts, shall be discharged upon payment in any coin of currency which at the time of payment is legal for public and private debts.

Despite the far-reaching importance of the legal issues involved the devaluation of the dollar was of little practical importance. The gold dollar was merely shrunken to correspond to the weight and fineness of the paper money that had taken place since suspension of the gold standard.

Work to Begin on Beaverton Sewer Construction of a storm sewer in Beaverton to drain into the creek on the Boverdam east of the city, will begin October 31, it was announced this week by K. E. TWA, WPA engineer, in this county.

A PARABLE The Departure of the Three Graces The funeral bells are ringing, The last farewell is said, And a requiem they're singing, For Miss Modesty is dead.

Where weeds their vigils keep, O'er worshippers of style, Miss Modesty lies sleeping, 'Neath fashion's rubbish pile.

Capitol Site Ballot If you are interested in where the capitol building should be located, register your vote below and mail it to The Capitol Hill, Hillsboro Argus at once.

U. O. TO TRAIN SOCIAL WORKERS IN PORTLAND

Workers for the many social agencies that are becoming more and more important, will be trained in the new graduate division of social work training of the University of Oregon, established this fall in Portland.

Blooming Resident Fifty Years, Dies

Henry John Helms, 55, resident of the Blooming community for the last 50 years, died at his home last night. He was born in Overton, Minn., August 4, 1880.

Walnut Drier at Wenzels Burned

KINTON—Walnut drier on the Mrs. Martha Wenzel place on Cooper mountain was destroyed Friday afternoon by fire, which is believed to have started near the drier. The drier was running full capacity, including most of this year's crop.

School Patrons to Build Across Line

Future patrons of the proposed Bonny Slope joint school district north of Medford, Mill met Monday night and decided that the school building should be located in Multnomah county.

Motor Association Contest Successful

PORTLAND—The Recreational Photo contest, sponsored by the Oregon State Motor association to obtain good "action shots" for use in travel development literature, has met with widespread approval in the state, according to an announcement from the motor club.

Work to Begin on Beaverton Sewer

Construction of a storm sewer in Beaverton to drain into the creek on the Boverdam east of the city, will begin October 31, it was announced this week by K. E. TWA, WPA engineer, in this county.

MODERN VACCINATION

(By Oregon State Board of Health) Until recently the vaccine virus in general use has been that contained in diluted calf lymph. The production of this virus is time-consuming and beset with many technical difficulties.

Capitol Site Ballot If you are interested in where the capitol building should be located, register your vote below and mail it to The Capitol Hill, Hillsboro Argus at once.

Recreation Class Meetings Monthly

A series of monthly recreational meetings to train recreational leaders, was begun last week under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Skow Sandford, extension specialist in community social organization.

The meetings are held in Hillsboro Grange hall and organization officers and committee social organization delegates should get in touch with the county agent's office.

Examinations Announced for Railway Postal Clerk

United States Civil Service commission has announced an open competitive examination for railway postal clerk.

Applications may be filed with the civil service district office nearest the applicant, or with the U. S. Civil Service commission at Washington, D. C. Applications must be on file not later than October 28, 1935.

We Are Enlarging Our Space

Soon we will show to the Hillsboro public The New 1936 Terraplanes and the New 1936 Hudsons with five things you never saw before on any automobile.

USED CARS

1928 Essex Coupe, rumble seat, good condition $95 Only

1929 Plymouth Coach $185 Only

Three Model T Fords $10 $14 $30

QUALITY REPAIR WORK Thomas S. Sholes 152 3rd Ave. Phone 21W

Where you can buy Mohawk Tires and Willard Batteries on weekly payments.

Poultrymen - Dairymen

Anderson's Dairy and Poultry Feeds will increase the production of your herd or flock. The Dairy Feed contains 16% protein, molasses and three oils.

FREE DELIVERY E. B. Anderson & Son Hillsboro Warehouse—Oregon Electric Depot Phone 1943

Did You Know?

that you can buy our Drain Tile under the Better Housing Program?

The increased yield will soon pay you back and then some. See us or the Washington County Better Housing Program manager in Hillsboro.

