

Bowlers Close Half of Season

Resume Play on January 6; Start Winter Tournament

Final games in bowling league competition were played last week and winners are Fixit Shop in American, Hornback's in City, Fairway in Commercial, Headquarters company in National, and Shipping in the Cannery league. Play will be resumed January 6. The winter tournament now is underway for teams, singles and doubles.

High scores for individuals for past week were F. Corn, American, 203; J. Dickey, City, 218; A. Hatchelar, Commercial, 234; J. Patterson, National, 239; L. Hewitt, Cannery, 188. High averages for each league were: American, Corn 194; City, H. Ireland 186; Commercial, J. Coe 176; National, Dillon, 179; Cannery, Hewitt 161. Five high scores were Dillon, 238; Ireland, 237; Road, 235; Corrieri, 232; Coe, 244.

Hillsboro, playing a match with Longview bowlers Sunday at Longview, lost to the river team 2407 to 2355. Playing for Hillsboro were T. Road, A. Hatchelar, L. Congdon, Glenn Eslinger and J. Coe.

Winners in the prize contests, which closed with the league competition, were J. Corrieri, the Men's Shop prize; Union 76, won the league prize; Ray Dillon, the Perfection cake; Alvin Hatchelar, the Wick-Fixit cake. The managers of the alley extend thanks to donors of prizes.

Hornback of Hornback's store team, winner of first place in the City league, closed the first half of the season with a dinner to members of the other teams in the league. It was decided to hold a league dinner at the end of each half of the season's play.

In final league play, plant won 2 out of 3 games in the Cannery league from the office team while E. E. Maling took two of 5 from the shipping department.

In the National league, Pharmacy lost 3 games to Headquarters company, and Bristol's took 2 and lost 1 to Union 76. Ely's won 2 and lost 1 to Perfection in the Commercial league while Fairway won 3 straight from Dodge Motor.

Pastime won 2 and lost 1 in competition with C. C. Store in the City league while Lentz won 2 and lost 1 to Hornback's in the American league. Royal Soda won 2 and lost 1 to Fixit shop and Home Laundry won 2 and lost 1 to Chevrollet.

Final Standings—End of First Half: American League—W L Pct. Fixit Shop 21 15 .566. Royal Soda Works 18 18 .500. Home Laundry 18 19 .486. Chevrollet Garage 34 22 .608.

City League—W L Pct. Hornback's Used Furniture 21 15 .566. Lewis Auto Parts 19 13 .594. C. C. Store 18 18 .500. Pastime 14 22 .417.

Commercial League—W L Pct. Fairway Market 22 14 .611. Perfection Bakery 18 18 .500. Ely's Hardware 19 13 .594. Dodge Motor Co. 15 21 .417.

National League—W L Pct. Headquarters Co. No. 162 28 12 .700. Bristol Hardware 17 19 .472. Union 76 14 22 .389.

Hillsboro Pharmacy 13 13 .500. Cannery League—W L Pct. Shipping 23 15 .605. B. E. Maling 19 17 .528. Ray-Maling 10 26 .277.

Wins Big Prize

Thomas Edwin Morgan of Portland who was born and reared in Hillsboro, won third prize and $500 cash in the 'Famous Names' contest conducted by the Portland News-Telegram.

Winners in the prize contests, which closed with the league competition, were J. Corrieri, the Men's Shop prize; Union 76, won the league prize; Ray Dillon, the Perfection cake; Alvin Hatchelar, the Wick-Fixit cake.

Voters' Register Closed Tuesday

The handwriting of candidates seeking nomination for the various offices, until later in the summer, while the time between the primary and the fall elections will be short enough to insure plenty of interest from the time the primary results become known.

Seven county officials must seek nomination and election during the new year, their terms expiring on January 1, 1937. These include James Lewis, county commissioner from the eastern part of the county; Ed C. Luce, county clerk; J. W. Connell, sheriff; J. E. Carpenter, assessor; O. B. Kraus, county superintendent of schools; and G. Russell Morgan, district attorney.

Beaverton Youth Freed of Charges

Wilson was immediately placed under arrest and brought to Hillsboro for questioning. After the questioning was completed, the district attorney said it was decided that an inquest was unnecessary, and state action against Wilson abandoned unless further information justifies such action.

Christensen was an oldtime resident of the community, having lived at the farm on the canyon road for years, where he operated a rock crusher and quarry and worked for the county in the early days of road construction.

Wilson, in his statement to the coroner, estimated his speed at between 38 and 40 miles an hour. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Miller & Tracy chapel in Portland and interment was in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

Adult Educational Program to Start

Neighborhood news from 30 Argus correspondents in different sections of Washington county appear in the Argus each week. Learn what your friends are doing for less than three cents a week.

ing, English and current events. Mrs. Matilda Whitford of Oreno classes in drama, first aid, design, basketry and Americanization; Mrs. Helen Wilcox, of Hillsboro, classes in piano, choral music and Americanization, and Mrs. Rose Wilson of Huber, violin, first aid, vocal music.

Small Farmer Hit by New Spud Law

Every grower who receives a sales quota that is officially approved will, each year, receive tax exempt stamps for the amount of his quota provided that the acreage he is planting is sufficient to produce that quota. If he exceeds his quota, he will need to buy stamps at the rate of 75c per 100 pounds of potatoes, or he may be able to buy tax exempt stamps from the potato administration providing that some grower has not used his full quota.

As things stand at the present time the potato act is a law, enforcement of which is in the hands of the Bureau of Internal Revenue. It may be repealed. There are a good many who hope it will be but it does have considerable support among growers, particularly in the larger producing sections, according to Cruss.

Protest Forces Vote on School

Representing those interested in obtaining the school were Joseph Morehead, Sherwood; Ferd Langer, Clatskanie; W. S. Bowen, Ontario; Krebs and Dr. F. T. Rucker. In state politics, Charles L. McNary, senior United States senator, must seek re-election as must James W. Mott, congressman. At the state capitol, Rufus Holman will complete his term. The same is true of the attorney general, I. H. Van Winkle. Three supreme court justices also must be elected.

Wilson was immediately placed under arrest and brought to Hillsboro for questioning. After the questioning was completed, the district attorney said it was decided that an inquest was unnecessary, and state action against Wilson abandoned unless further information justifies such action.

Christensen was an oldtime resident of the community, having lived at the farm on the canyon road for years, where he operated a rock crusher and quarry and worked for the county in the early days of road construction.

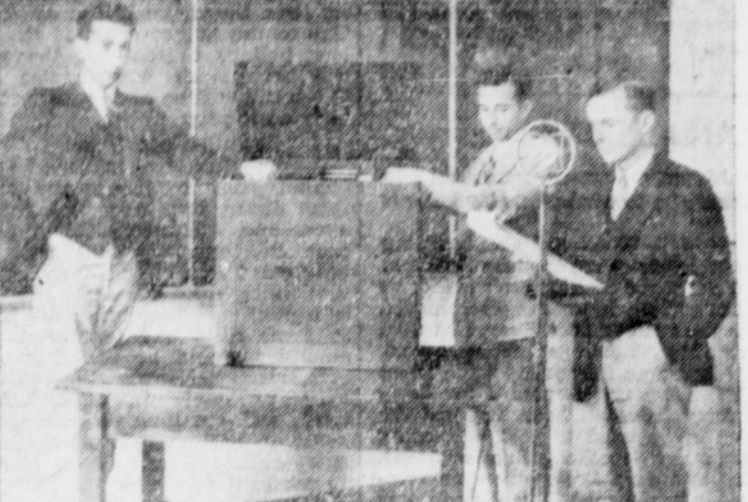

Wilson, in his statement to the coroner, estimated his speed at between 38 and 40 miles an hour. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Miller & Tracy chapel in Portland and interment was in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

Wilson was immediately placed under arrest and brought to Hillsboro for questioning. After the questioning was completed, the district attorney said it was decided that an inquest was unnecessary, and state action against Wilson abandoned unless further information justifies such action.

Christensen was an oldtime resident of the community, having lived at the farm on the canyon road for years, where he operated a rock crusher and quarry and worked for the county in the early days of road construction.

Wilson, in his statement to the coroner, estimated his speed at between 38 and 40 miles an hour. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Miller & Tracy chapel in Portland and interment was in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

'MIKE FRIGHT' DONE AWAY WITH AT U. OF O.

Students at the University of Oregon now get practical training in radio speaking, a field now held to be as important as that of oratory or after dinner talking. In this photo a student is giving a speech, which with the aid of the machine shown here, is electrically transcribed and can be played back as he will note the way his voice will sound over the air.

When he picked up a few pieces of meat and the rifle, Huxby spoke: "I should have the gun to protect Miss Ramill." "There's nothing here to attack you," Garth replied. "Just possibly, I may find game at the stream."

"Well, it's a bit of a stiff pull-up," he admitted. "But we'll soon make the downslope. I left the knife on the knapsack. Go up and slice that caribou meat." The girl whom her own father could not command met the order with a cheerful nod. She started briskly off up the gap. Garth's steady climbing brought him to the top of the pass a few paces behind Huxby and Mr. Ramill. Lilith was sprinkling salt on slices of the raw meat.

The pass was barren even of caribou moss. The meat had to be eaten cold or uncooked, or not at all. Six hours had passed since the party left the camp in the valley bottom. After the long, hard climb, even the girl was hawking, for the caribou meat was raw, and the first taste of salt since the party had come to the valley turned the meal into a feast.

Less than half of the 20-pound chunk of caribou remained by the time even Mr. Ramill found he could eat no more. All were so refreshed by the food and rest that no one objected when Garth gave the word to start on. There would be no more stalling up-hill, with lungs bellowing for air. One would only have to hold back.

But that was the rub—the holding back. The south side of the pass was far steeper than the north, and there was no glacier to offer up-hill, with lungs bellowing for air. One would only have to hold back. Between these high ledges were slides of frost-shattered rocks. Patches of ice here and there made the footing doubly treacherous.

In places Garth had to drop his pack down before him. Not infrequently, even Lilith had to be given a hand down slippery chutes, or caught in Garth's upraised arms when Huxby lowered her off the edge of a sharp drop. Still oftener, her father had to be helped by both Garth and Huxby.

Garth himself was ready to quit when, in the twilight, they came down to where the steep pitch eased off on a small patch of tundra. He opened his pack and spread the blanket on the dry gravel in a hole under a pile of boulders.

At sight of the fat with the frozen caribou and smoked moose meat in the pack, Lilith at once gathered dry moss. This time the raw caribou flesh was seared over a fat-fed fire of the moss before being eaten. After the meal, Garth opened the gold-mounted cigar case and handed one of the Havanas to his owner.

Mr. Ramill hastily bit off the end and lighted the cigar in the flame of the fat and moss fire. As he put it to his lips he hesitated, then, with a perceptible effort, he turned to offer it to his daughter. "Uh—ladies first, my dear." Lilith started to thrust out her hand. Something seemed to catch it. She glanced at Garth and stood up.

When he picked up a few pieces of meat and the rifle, Huxby spoke: "I should have the gun to protect Miss Ramill." "There's nothing here to attack you," Garth replied. "Just possibly, I may find game at the stream."

"Well, it's a bit of a stiff pull-up," he admitted. "But we'll soon make the downslope. I left the knife on the knapsack. Go up and slice that caribou meat." The girl whom her own father could not command met the order with a cheerful nod. She started briskly off up the gap.

Less than half of the 20-pound chunk of caribou remained by the time even Mr. Ramill found he could eat no more. All were so refreshed by the food and rest that no one objected when Garth gave the word to start on.

After that the pain overcame him. He refused to move. Garth looked doubtfully at the none too large supply of food that was left. His pack now weighed little more than the platinum alloy in Huxby's wolfskin knapsack.

When he picked up a few pieces of meat and the rifle, Huxby spoke: "I should have the gun to protect Miss Ramill." "There's nothing here to attack you," Garth replied. "Just possibly, I may find game at the stream."

"Well, it's a bit of a stiff pull-up," he admitted. "But we'll soon make the downslope. I left the knife on the knapsack. Go up and slice that caribou meat." The girl whom her own father could not command met the order with a cheerful nod.

Less than half of the 20-pound chunk of caribou remained by the time even Mr. Ramill found he could eat no more. All were so refreshed by the food and rest that no one objected when Garth gave the word to start on.

Wilson was immediately placed under arrest and brought to Hillsboro for questioning. After the questioning was completed, the district attorney said it was decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Christensen was an oldtime resident of the community, having lived at the farm on the canyon road for years, where he operated a rock crusher and quarry and worked for the county in the early days of road construction.

Wilson, in his statement to the coroner, estimated his speed at between 38 and 40 miles an hour. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Miller & Tracy chapel in Portland and interment was in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

Wilson was immediately placed under arrest and brought to Hillsboro for questioning. After the questioning was completed, the district attorney said it was decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Christensen was an oldtime resident of the community, having lived at the farm on the canyon road for years, where he operated a rock crusher and quarry and worked for the county in the early days of road construction.

Wilson, in his statement to the coroner, estimated his speed at between 38 and 40 miles an hour. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Miller & Tracy chapel in Portland and interment was in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

Wilson was immediately placed under arrest and brought to Hillsboro for questioning. After the questioning was completed, the district attorney said it was decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Christensen was an oldtime resident of the community, having lived at the farm on the canyon road for years, where he operated a rock crusher and quarry and worked for the county in the early days of road construction.

Wilson, in his statement to the coroner, estimated his speed at between 38 and 40 miles an hour. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Miller & Tracy chapel in Portland and interment was in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

Wilson was immediately placed under arrest and brought to Hillsboro for questioning. After the questioning was completed, the district attorney said it was decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Christensen was an oldtime resident of the community, having lived at the farm on the canyon road for years, where he operated a rock crusher and quarry and worked for the county in the early days of road construction.

Wilson, in his statement to the coroner, estimated his speed at between 38 and 40 miles an hour. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Miller & Tracy chapel in Portland and interment was in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

him that the girl was still following. Yet he did not once slacken his gut or look back until, three hours later, the brook began to meander through a stretch of muskeg.

When he picked up a few pieces of meat and the rifle, Huxby spoke: "I should have the gun to protect Miss Ramill." "There's nothing here to attack you," Garth replied. "Just possibly, I may find game at the stream."

"Well, it's a bit of a stiff pull-up," he admitted. "But we'll soon make the downslope. I left the knife on the knapsack. Go up and slice that caribou meat." The girl whom her own father could not command met the order with a cheerful nod.

Less than half of the 20-pound chunk of caribou remained by the time even Mr. Ramill found he could eat no more. All were so refreshed by the food and rest that no one objected when Garth gave the word to start on.

Wilson was immediately placed under arrest and brought to Hillsboro for questioning. After the questioning was completed, the district attorney said it was decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Christensen was an oldtime resident of the community, having lived at the farm on the canyon road for years, where he operated a rock crusher and quarry and worked for the county in the early days of road construction.

Wilson, in his statement to the coroner, estimated his speed at between 38 and 40 miles an hour. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Miller & Tracy chapel in Portland and interment was in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

Wilson was immediately placed under arrest and brought to Hillsboro for questioning. After the questioning was completed, the district attorney said it was decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Christensen was an oldtime resident of the community, having lived at the farm on the canyon road for years, where he operated a rock crusher and quarry and worked for the county in the early days of road construction.

Wilson, in his statement to the coroner, estimated his speed at between 38 and 40 miles an hour. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Miller & Tracy chapel in Portland and interment was in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

Wilson was immediately placed under arrest and brought to Hillsboro for questioning. After the questioning was completed, the district attorney said it was decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Christensen was an oldtime resident of the community, having lived at the farm on the canyon road for years, where he operated a rock crusher and quarry and worked for the county in the early days of road construction.

Wilson, in his statement to the coroner, estimated his speed at between 38 and 40 miles an hour. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Miller & Tracy chapel in Portland and interment was in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

Wilson was immediately placed under arrest and brought to Hillsboro for questioning. After the questioning was completed, the district attorney said it was decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Christensen was an oldtime resident of the community, having lived at the farm on the canyon road for years, where he operated a rock crusher and quarry and worked for the county in the early days of road construction.

Wilson, in his statement to the coroner, estimated his speed at between 38 and 40 miles an hour. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Miller & Tracy chapel in Portland and interment was in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

If you change your address kindly notify the Argus direct and at once.

New Year's Greetings! ELRY'S Chateau East of Park on Highway Hillsboro, Oregon Music - Dance Wednesday - Saturday Nights No Cover Charge All Reservations Sold New Year's Eve

Greetings... 1936 May the New Year bring you all Fortune, a wealth of good luck, and happy days.

McFall Jersey Dairy Phone 2104

NOW HERE, THE 1936 Hudson Six Come in and see it!

USED CARS 1935 TERRAPLANE TOURING SEDAN A good, well cared for car. Sold last spring for $895 $695

1933 CHEVROLET MASTER SEDAN $475 1929 FORD COACH $185 1929 FORD COUPE $180 1931 FORD TRUCK—Long wheel-base, duals, fine rubber. Motor perfect. A real buy $350

Thomas S. Sholes QUALITY REPAIR WORK 152-158 S. 3rd Ave. Phone 217W Hudson - Terraplane Willard - Mohawk Used Cars

Happy New Year

We extend to you all best wishes for a Bright and Prosperous New Year and welcome an opportunity to serve you in 1936.

POWERS' GROCERY

Where Will Your Advertising be when the ink is dry? Will It Be Thrown into the Gutter? Hidden Under Shrubbery? Blown Against the Hedge? Just Rubbish on the Lawn? Thrown into the Waste Basket? Consumed by Trash Burner?

Or Will It Be

Under the reading lamp inside the home—a cherished and INVITED member of the family circle? This is where your message will be if inserted in The Argus, which is a welcome visitor in the homes.

The Argus is ordered and is not an unwelcome intruder on the premises. It is eagerly awaited by the reader, who desires to keep abreast of the happenings in the community—including news concerning merchandise—prices offered by stores and firms. Nothing else can take its place as an advertising medium and business-getter for you—nothing else can compare with it in cost of prospect-coverage or results obtained. The Argus has "reader interest." Advertising, to be effective, must have quality as well as quantity.

Hillsboro Argus With Which is Combined the Hillsboro-Independent

ANNOUNCEMENT... Tom Rollins 24 Years Auto Repair Experience in Hillsboro Bill Elder have taken over shop at Used Car Exchange ALL TYPES AUTO REPAIR WORK - Taps, Bodies, Etc. Work fully guaranteed. 3rd and Washington Hillsboro

We take this opportunity to express our appreciation of your patronage. May our service and products always be of a quality to merit your continued patronage.

BUSH'S MARKET "PRICE CUTTERS" in connection with Hillsboro Meat Co.

Under the reading lamp inside the home—a cherished and INVITED member of the family circle? This is where your message will be if inserted in The Argus, which is a welcome visitor in the homes.