

Elmonica on Airport Site

Preliminary Survey Work on 600-Acre Plan

ELMONICA—Elmonica is fortunate in having been selected as one of five possible sites for the new national airport to supercede Swan Island, located in Portland. Much preliminary surveying is now taking place. The new site covers 600 acres of farms beginning at the "Old Meadow Farm," owned by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Olds, and extending west to the Henry Tonnes place. The Oregon Electric railroad tracks mark the boundary on the south. It has been said that this site compares most favorably with the other four possible locations.
