Growth Rapid in 15 Years

Beginnings of District and Development Cited

(By Ed Cassin)

"Aloha," a word associated with waving palms, white sands, rolling waves, peace and quiet. Residents of the community of Aloha, situated half-way between Hillsboro and Beaverton on the Tualatin highway, lay no claim to palm trees, glistening sand or ocean waves, but they do hold peace, quiet and tranquility to be the principal attribute of the area.

Located on what was originally the McMillan donation land claim, Aloha has made a rapid growth in the past 15 years. Many of its residents have retired from the busy workday world and have sought the quiet of country life. Many others are employed in metropolitan business, returning for a restful night away from the city's clamor.

Mrs. David R. Wheeler, one of the oldest living residents in the area, came to Aloha when Wheeler Junction 52 years ago. At that time the land was covered with dense timber, bear and deer were numerous. The Southern Pacific had just completed a line through the Tualatin valley, connecting the final rails with a golden spike. The old county road from Portland, over which all freight to the valley was hauled, was a sea of mud in the winter and a welter of dust in the summer.

A short time before Mrs. Wheeler came to Aloha from California, her husband's family had traded property in the Portland east side for 160 acres of the McMillan DLC. The old home place was located at the present site of the Paul Dudley Hatchery. About 23 years ago much of the Wheeler property was turned over to the Shaver company, the timber logged off (much of it being used as fuel for locomotives), and the land subdivided.

Similarity of the names Wheeler Junction and the Wheeler community (site of the Wheeler Logging company), both of which were located on the Southern Pacific, led to the final selection of the name Aloha, according to Mrs. Wheeler. Seeking to determine which of the towns would retain the name of "Wheeler," a representative of the Wheeler company and David R. Wheeler met at the railroad office in Portland and shook dice. The Wheeler company won and Wheeler Junction was forced to select a new name.

Mrs. Wheeler at first favored the name "Melva" in memory of her deceased daughter. However, at this same time visitors from Hawaii introduced the song "Aloha" in the community. Everyone liked the song and R. A. Caples, the visitors' host, suggested the name of the song for the town. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler confirmed Caples' suggestion and Wheeler Junction became Aloha.

Ray L. Antrim, retired from the railway mail service and who lives a mile north of Aloha on Vista avenue, has watched the rapid development of the town during the past 16 years. He came to Aloha for quiet, found what he was seeking and expects to spend the rest of his life there.

Antrim came to Washington county from Portland in July, 1919, on the hottest day of the year, when the thermometer stood at 103 degrees. At that time the first concrete was being poured on the Tualatin highway at Aloha and there were but three business places in town: Buck & Son's store, the Wheeler building and the E. C. Rush Feed store. Roads in the vicinity were rough and not rocked and the Southern Pacific was still running 11 trains a day to Portland and return.

The next few years saw business start coming into Aloha. Harry Sidwell and his partner put up a garage where the present service station is located, the Haulenbeck lumber yard (now the Aloha Lumber company) was established, the Garow Garage was started, a butcher shop and a shoe repair shop went into a building near the present church and the Shilling building came into being.

There's this DIFFERENCE in COD LIVER OILS

Different cod liver oils unquestionably vary in vitamin content, due to differences in the quality of fish, the methods of obtaining the oil, and its preparation and protection.

Whenever you buy Puretest Cod Liver Oil you can be sure of its vitamin content. For Puretest Cod Liver Oil is the cream of the world's supply—from the rich feeding waters off Lofoten, Norway. It is richest in precursors Vitamins A and D. And it is finest in flavor. It has been twice tested for vitamin content. And that is the oil you always get when you ask for Puretest Cod Liver Oil.

The community church was organized in 1922 through the efforts of Mrs. Viola Talbert and Mrs. Antrim. Residents of the community started a Sunday school under the sponsorship of the Baptist church. J. E. Maguire was the first pastor and meetings were held in the Wheeler hall. In 1924 the present church building was constructed on a site donated by the Shaw company with funds raised locally.

Prior to the establishment of county market roads in the area, it was almost impossible for residents living off the main highway to get into Aloha in the winter. Deep mud made it impossible for automobiles to travel and much of the supplies were brought out by horse and wagon or on foot. In 1922 Antrim and John Thompson presented a petition to the county board and obtained the first county road in the area—Vista avenue.

Aloha boasts an exceedingly active Grange and one of the best equipped halls in the state. Organized in 1931 through the efforts of C. J. Stickney, the Grange met for a time in the Wheeler building. In 1932 the present $9000 hall was built with labor and much of the material and money donated. Stickney gave the lot as a gift and was active with W. F. Norman in bringing about the construction of the hall. Starting with a charter membership of about 100, the Aloha Grange now has more than 150 members.

"Aloha has all the conveniences of the city with the quiet of the country." This was the declaration of Lee Holden, former Portland fire chief, who bought a three-acre tract in north Aloha for his home when he retired from active service in 1927. He re-modeled the house, built a garage and spends his time "fussing around" with flowers and improving his yard.

Chief Holden's one regret is that Aloha has no fire department. After 40 years of active service in Portland, a fire department is the closest thing to the ex-chief's heart. He still gets a kick out of a fire and can't resist taking a hand whenever the opportunity presents itself. Holden advocates the formation of a fire district under state law which permits unincorporated districts to organize for fire fighting. Residents of the area may vote a special tax of not to exceed two mills annually to provide apparatus. Water would be supplied from the town with a reservoir and in the farming district with ponds. Holden also believes that fire prevention education would be of inestimable value.

New Folk Move to Chehalem Place

(By Mrs. Bird McCormick)

CHEHALEM MOUNTAIN—Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kotera and children, Allen, James and Patricia, and his father, Joe Kotera, moved last week to their new home, recently purchased from Guy Strong. The Kotera family came from Klamath Falls last October and have been living at Six Corners, near her mother, Mrs. Albert Pordelch, while they were looking for a permanent location in the Pacific northwest. They looked at farms in Canada, Washington and various parts of Oregon before buying here. Marjorie Petroff had her tonsils removed at a Newberg hospital January 27 and was absent from the Buck Heaven school all last week.

Leonard Whitmore and Hodson McCormick went to Heppner Thursday for a few days' visit with Mrs. Lillie Young and Lauren (Pearl) Haynes, both well known here.

Mrs. Ira G. McCormick visited Mrs. Jessie Dezure at Vancouver, Wash., accompanied by Mrs. Allan Comber, Portland.

W. R. Reece returned from Meridian, Cal., January 29 and is employed selling merchandise.

No pupils in Buck Heaven school had perfect attendance for last six weeks. There are but seven children enrolled here. The children have been ill or quarantined.

Zimmerman Speaks

Peter Zimmerman spoke at the Rock Creek school to an audience of about 60 people one evening last week. He spoke briefly on the special election measures. Before that a program was given which included a reading by J. Dumas, Mr. Meihoff, piano solos by Mrs. Louis Zuercher, instrumental numbers by Mr. Gibbs, Allison Gibbs and Mr. Davis; short talks by Herbert Scheidt on student health measures and on the school health law, and a reading by J. Dumas.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ramsour of Orenco City were overnight guests of Mrs. Ramsour's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Getty, one night last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brawley of Portland spent the week-end at the Neils Nelson home and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hardin of Portland visited Sunday. Sylvan Nelson was a Sunday night guest of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hardin in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. William Luethe were home a short time last week. Mr. Luethe served on the election board at Burlington Friday. Mr. Luethe is employed as a foreman at Bonneville.

There have been several cases of measles in the community in the past few weeks.

Snow began falling in this section Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Linder and family of Sauvie's Island and Mr. and Mrs. Vern Dyle and family of Bethany visited at the John Linder home in the Liberty district Sunday.

Chevrolet Sales Take Safety Step

HillsboroMotor company, Chevrolet sales service, is co-operating in the "Let's Quit Killing Campaign," in a practical manner.

This week the local company began destruction of 13 automobiles declared unfit for further service and dangerous to traffic. Several other motor companies in Portland are following the same methods with cars taken in on trades in an effort to remove at least some of the traveling "junk heaps" from the highways.

Dairymen, Hog Producers, Poultrymen

If you want to know that your stock is in the best physical health for production, feed the best mineral you can buy.

"STERLING BODY BUILDER" is 100% mineral and contains no poisonous stimulants such as "Poke Root," "Blood Root" and no irritating laxatives, which should only be used as a medicine.

"STERLING BODY BUILDER" is a vital food, not a medicine, and should be fed every day of the year.

Bulletin No. 229, University of Minnesota, says: "The pasture season is the best time to feed minerals as the sunshine and vitamins aid the animal to assimilate more minerals."

Don't be misled by some high powered salesman that his mineral dissolves in water, as water will take up very little mineral, but will pick up drugs and medicines, very readily.

Do not experiment with your dumb animals, but give them "Sterling Body Builder" and they will show their appreciation in better offspring and heavier production, with less worry on your part.

Just drop a card to the "Sterling Mineral Products Co.," P. O. Box 136, Aloha, Oregon, and we will send you the name of some of your acquaintances who have been feeding our product for years and will testify to the fact that "Sterling Body Builder" has no equal at any price.

Manufactured right here in Washington county with no freight and high commissions or overhead added. You get what you pay for, direct from the manufacturer.

Aloha Firms Make Changes

Mrs. Dant Honored; Pepco Building Extension

(By O. B. Bennett)

ALOHA—Mr. McFarlane is moving the Town Pump restaurant into the corner store room of the Shilling building and the Aloha drug store will occupy the room now being vacated by the Town Pump.

Mrs. Frank Page had as house guests during the week Mrs. E. J. Colliers and daughter Eloise of Eugene and Mrs. N. Martin and H. A. Grimes of Newport.

Mrs. R. L. Snyder has returned from several weeks' visit with her son and daughter in Los Angeles.

Build Extension

The Cooper Mountain extension of the P. E. Co. is now being completed by 12 men being employed on the work.

L. E. Klatt was called to work in the machine shop at Bonneville.

In New Home

A. N. Taylor, Oregonian distributor for Aloha, is now occupying his new home on Hill Avenue.

Mrs. Dant Honored

Mrs. H. A. Lowry entertained in honor of her mother, Mrs. D. B. Dant of Reedville, who is 76 years old, with a birthday dinner, A. W. Dant and wife and Mary Anderson of Portland were among the guests.

R. L. Chamberlain has moved from the Shoemaker property into a house near the school house. The Shoemaker family will soon return to Aloha to live.

Mrs. Huntington is rapidly recovering from an illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt King visited Mrs. George Fish in Portland Sunday.

Party Enjoyed

Grange card party Thursday evening was a successful event. Guests from Portland were among the guests. Aloha filled 18 tables at cards. Al Janssen of Reedville and Mrs. Walker of Beaverton had high scores.

Church News

Ladies' Circle will meet at the church Thursday at 2 p. m., giving a silver tea. Mrs. Valshere from Portland will address the ladies.

Sunday school each Lord's day at 10 and preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Rev. Redman will speak on "The Coming King." Mr. Redman has been with the community church here for the past five years. He has been an inspiration to the members and friends of the church. He has traveled quite extensively and his talks are interesting.

Kirkpatrick Buys Store

R. J. Kirkpatrick has purchased and taken possession of Harry's Place and will continue the policy of the old management. E. J. Bloom, former manager, will seek a new location in the gold fields.

Commend Letters Received Locally

Officers of Hillsboro Christian Council are the proud recipients of letters of commendation and blessing from two of the highest officials of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, both of which are posted on the bulletin board at Pilgrim House, council headquarters. The letters will later be framed and placed alongside similar messages from President Roosevelt and Governor Martin on the walls of the house office. Letters were from Dr. Ivan Lee Holt, pastor of St. John's Methodist Episcopal church, South, in St. Louis, Mo., and Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, pastor of Central Congregational church, Brooklyn, N. Y., who is probably the best known Protestant clergyman in the world.

Advertising Right Upheld by Group

With the formation of The Right to Tell the Truth league, headquarters in the Graphic Arts building at Portland, announcement is made by Dr. Virgil MacMickle that a campaign will be waged for the so-called Donohue amendment to be on the ballot during the November election.

Dr. MacMickle said, "The direct simplicity of this amendment shall leave no doubt in the minds of the voters that the issue is clearly between petty tyranny and the people's interest. The amendment merely provides that no state government shall ever limit or inhibit honest, truthful advertising. There has been a constant effort on the part of special interests endeavoring to forbid advertising. The people have the right to be informed through educational, honest, truthful advertising and no bureau or board should be allowed to abrogate this right."
