

Rotary Sponsors Play Friday at Union High

All togged out in comic costumes the members of the cast of "Casey's Trial" went through dress rehearsal paces Wednesday night in final preparation for the presentation of the Rotary club show Friday night at the union high school auditorium. The curtain rises promptly at 8:15.

It is not often that a layman has the opportunity to see such a galaxy of stars as will be presented by the Rotary club. Such as Mayor Garrett, the famous Fritz Bumbleburg-horndorfendosten. Many hearts will flutter over the "great lover" Dennis Casey (Fred Amacher) real estate man who is sued by the "sweet beautiful young girl" (about 40th) with innocence written in each line of her classic face. This great star is Dettie Perkins (Fred Holzmagel). The attorneys Skin (A. J. Foelker) and Take (Fris Brown) give an excellent interpretation of the law.

Judge Kurall doesn't have a chance with a child played by the "League of Nations" jury. Of all the jury members Fay West (Gene Hornback) is the most charming and even the attorneys forget law and order when "Fay" invites them to "come up and see her some time."

Also speaking of flower girls at a wedding, the management guarantees you have never seen more daintily clad, lightly tripping, girls, than those presented in this show. There have been some changes in the cast. Atty. Take, Finis Brown in place of M. H. Stevenson, Dr. H. D. Huggins as "Fritz Bumblemore" in place of Dr. Ralph Dresser; "Rev. Potts," Pete Kalkwarf, "Mary Perkins," Jack Barr; "Henry Perkins," J. N. Wiley.

The committees have been working hard toward a successful presentation here on Friday night. Several special numbers will be given between the acts. John Ryan calls the square dances in the play and how he calls them.

County Council of P.-T. A. Has a Fine Program

Co-operation and tolerance is the keynote in the new school, described by Mrs. Emily Roberts Martin, kindergarten-primary supervisor of the Portland public schools. Mrs. Martin spoke to the members of the Washington County Council of Parents and Teachers at the Aloha Grange hall Tuesday on "Education for the Art of Living." She said many teachers have given of their ability to make the young child's school home a place of joy and growth. The children show improvement in emotional stability, in initiative, and in mental and manual skills.

In the old schools the desks, the children, and the teachers were fastened down, and Mrs. Martin lamb was sent away because it made the children laugh and play. In today's school the seats are pushed back and the children are given space and equipment for activity and experiences which prepare them for life. Mrs. Martin spoke of the need of eye examinations for children who find the first years of school difficult, and exhibited beautiful low-priced books children like to read at home.

The first grade children of the Aloha-Grange school, under the direction of Mrs. Lulu Barker, their teacher, gave rhythmic band numbers demonstrating school work in the art of music. Mrs. Barker spoke briefly on the help that mothers may give to very young children to help them enjoy music and rhythm. The fourth grade gave a health play directed by Miss Mary Grand, which showed how children may be given an interest in health habits.

Mrs. W. F. Blum, state corresponding secretary, gave the third lesson on the use of the manual. She emphasized the value of conducting meetings according to correct parliamentary procedure, and pointed out that the ideal Parent-Teacher association is a parent education group rather than a money making group.

The founders of the Parent-Teacher association were honored at a luncheon served at noon by the Aloha Grange Home Economics club, with Mrs. Culbertson as chairman. The P.-T. A. colors of blue and gold were carried out in the candle-lighting ceremony, in which officers and members took part. Entertainment of the council was arranged by the Aloha-Grange unit under the leadership of Mrs. Lawrence LaDue, president.

Mrs. Allen Knight, county president, conducted the business meeting. She urged that local presidents be nominated soon so that they may take advantage of the school of instruction to be given by Mrs. W. E. Roe, national field secretary, the last week of March, in Portland.

Mrs. R. P. Rasmussen of Hillsboro, Mrs. A. J. Modin of Forest Grove, and Mrs. Garfield Hite of Sherwood were elected as a nominating committee. This committee will report at the next council meeting at Garden Home in April.

Radio Group Hears Lecture

Behavior of children when led into mob activities was studied by the Hillsboro P.-T. A. Radio study group in their bi-monthly meeting Tuesday with Mrs. Nye Bristol. The discussion followed a radio lecture over KOAC by Dr. O. R. Chambers, professor of psychology at Oregon State college. Dr. Chambers explained that some factors which effect the power of suggestion that starts mob actions are emotional stress, prejudices, absence of usual restraining forces, such as parents and teachers, and ignorance of the field in which the suggestion falls. He showed ways of developing resistance to easy acceptance of mob control.

Human Interest Story of Great President Told

Mrs. Fred Bowly of South Tualatin tells a true human interest story of the late President Abraham Lincoln, whose birthday was observed Wednesday and whose memory will live forever in the hearts of American people.

Mrs. Bowly's mother, then little Katherine O'Hara, lived in Washington, D. C., and attended school there. She said that when the children went to school they were often accompanied by President Lincoln, who took his morning walk at about that hour. The children had the habit of giving cookies or part of the contents of their lunch pails to the Federal prisoners, who were housed in a low building which permitted the passing of food through the bars. One morning when the president was with them only one boy was brave enough to give food to a prisoner, fearing that Mr. Lincoln wouldn't like it, so the little girl explained to him that they were sorry for one of the prisoners, a young man in his teens, who was ill (and later died from tuberculosis). Lincoln picked up the boy's hand and said: "That is all right. He is some mother's boy."

Mrs. Bowly's grandfather, Francis O'Hara, owned a store and stable on Pennsylvania avenue with living quarters above the store. This was commandeered during the war and the store building was used for a hospital, with Mrs. O'Hara as matron. As Lincoln often visited the hospital, she was well acquainted with him. The horses in the stable were also used for army purposes.

The girl, Katherine O'Hara, later married Charles Akins. Mrs. Bowly's father.

Return from Trip
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sewell and daughter, Marjorie of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Schumann of Portland returned Sunday night from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jensen at San Diego, Cal.

Miss Sewell had been a guest of her sister, Mrs. Jensen, for several months, and the others were on a two weeks' trip. They report a fine trip and nice weather with the exception of two days' rain, which was badly needed. They also visited Dr. Lloyd Ellbury at Ocean-side, Mr. and Mrs. James Miltenberger at Ocean Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Cooper at Petaluma, all former Hillsboro people. They also saw Mesdames Lester Ireland and Florence Reynolds at Long Beach, Mrs. Natalia Vanhook at Coonaco, and Sidney Ellingson at San Diego. The return trip was made over the coast highway.

Beaverton Club Entertained
Twelve members of the Past Noble Grandeur club of Beaverton were guests at the meeting of the Hillsboro club at the I. O. O. F. hall Wednesday evening of last week. Mrs. R. C. Munson, Miss Angie Harrington and Mrs. Etta Hanel were hostesses, and games were the evening's entertainment. The Valentine motif was carried out in decorations and refreshments.

Local P.-T. A. to Honor Founders Monday Night

Thirty-ninth anniversary of the founding of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers will be observed Monday at 8 p. m. at the Hillsboro P.-T. A. meeting in the union high school. This celebration, commemorating the founding of the National Congress in 1897, keeps alive the ideals of the founders and unites all those who believe in safeguarding the best interests of the children of this country in the home, school and community. Programs observing this day are being given in more than 300 Parent-Teacher organizations throughout the state during this month.

A group of senior Girl Reserves, directed by Ann Munkres, are preparing a ceremonial showing the ideals of the organizers and what has been accomplished. The pageant will include the lighting of candles on the birthday cake, made and donated by the Perfection bakery, honoring this day.

Hillsboro Boy Scout troops will also assist by the presentation of colors, a review and reveille. Lohese and Wahkeena Camp Fire girls will also take part by demonstration of an evening around the camp fire.

R. R. Easter will bring a message from the adults about youth activities. The cake will be cut and refreshments served by the hospital-ity committee, with Mrs. G. Laver as chairman.
