Dust Continues Work of Desolation in Southwest

Most of the nation received plenty of moisture during the last winter, but the dust bowl area, including parts of Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico, and Texas, is suffering again from lack of rain and snow, as dust storms continue from where they left off late last fall. The deserted farm-house above, just across the Texas line in western Oklahoma, has been buried almost completely by sand and dust. Many farmers in this region have given up the battle against nature and moved away. There is one encouraging aspect—the storms did not start until March this year. In 1934 and 1935 they began in January.

Display Hobbies at Annual Show Here Last Week

Miscellaneous awards were made as follows: Minerals—Walter Chalmers of Forest Grove, 1st. Oil painting—Mrs. H. R. Chantler, 1st. Buttons—Mrs. E. E. Bentley, 1st. Enlarged kodaks—Mrs. R. F. Peters, 1st. Sketching—M. M. Romig, 1st. Hand carved models—Raymond Meltebeke, sweepstakes; Donald Cady, 1st. Wood working—Ernest Brown, 1st; M. M. Romig, 2nd.

Rotarians and their wives enjoyed a dinner meeting in the basement prior to the judging. Judges were Harry Swart, president Oregon Stamp society; E. G. Rockwell, leader in the stamp society, and Mr. Fry, 1935 prize winner. All were from Portland.

Mrs. Bentley had on display a large collection of buttons, made by her since the first of the year. They were attractive and unusual in design and caused considerable comment.

Chehalem Mountain Boys Organize Club

A course for senior 4-H club members in the principles of rural electrification has been organized by Ben Fisher, Portland General Electric rural service agent, for Washington county, and L. E. Francis, assistant county agent. The course is being given in the Chehalem Mountain district with Harry Schmelzter acting as local leader for the group.

The work will consist of training in the fundamentals of electricity, the principal types of wiring, principles of construction, application and care of motors, and the application of electric power on the farm, which includes studies relating to feed grinding, water heating, irrigation, lighting, brooding, etc. Should the course prove satisfactory and popular, other communities will be included. Any group desiring work along this line should contact the county agent's office.

County Grangers Hold Meet Here

The transportation act which prevents railroads from charging more for a short haul than for a long one over the same line in the same direction. Another resolution favors the enactment of the Wheeler-Gillett bill now before congress, which would extend the 3 1/2 percent interest charge on federal farm loans for another year.

The meeting was on record as favoring the congressional investigation into the cost system now used in the manufacture and distribution of farm implements to determine why cost of farm machinery is so prohibitive to the farmer.

Levy of a 10 mill tax to provide funds for a county fair was favored also. The meeting also voted to have a drill team at the county fair in the fall.

R. Hornecker was named alternate delegate to the state Grange meeting. Kinton was selected for the next Pomona Grange meeting to be held in July and Grange Sunday will be held in Hillsboro next year, it was decided.

Pomona on request of Mrs. Edith Tozier Weathered, Oregon historian, will sponsor a statewide grange picnic at Shute park July

Revival Campaign at Local Church

On Sunday morning the pastor will speak, while Sunday evening

J. P. Magruder Dies in Boise

James P. Magruder, 79, early day Hillsboro druggist, died Friday in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ella L. Braun, in Boise, Idaho, of pneumonia, and funeral services were held from the Donelson & Sewell funeral chapel here Monday afternoon with burial in the Masonic cemetery.

He was born, October 12, 1856, in Marysville, Cal., and came to Washington county in 1868. From Hillsboro he went to Dallas, where he worked as a druggist before returning to Hillsboro, where he managed the Linklater drug store for 16 years.

From Hillsboro he went to Lebanon, where he operated a drug store for Milton Miller, going from there to Forest Grove and later returning to Hillsboro, where he remained for a few years before going to Walla Walla, where he operated a pharmacy until three years ago, when he retired, going to live with his daughter in Boise. He has been gone from Hillsboro for the last 20 or 25 years.

Surviving him are a son, Samuel L. of San Francisco and the daughter at Boise.

He was a Spanish-American war veteran, having enlisted from Hillsboro in 1898 in Company E, Second Oregon infantry. He was also a member of the A. F. & A. M. lodge.

possession of the cattle. This was about September 4, 1935. He is alleged to have lived on the farm until January, when he disappeared. All of this time, and up to the time of his arrest, he has been making small payments of interest, the loan company alleges, having the letters mailed from various places so that he could not be traced.

Becoming suspicious when the Merrills disappeared from the Scholls ranch, the loan company began checking on the cattle to discover that they were owned by French, the officers declare.

Warrants were issued and the tedious task of tracing the Merrill family began and ended when they were found this week in Portland.

Orchards Bloom in Summer Weather

Sunny, warm days, prevalent during the last two weeks, have brought requests for showers from owners of lawns, flowers and farms. Orchards are in full bloom and nature seems attempting to make up time lost during the inclement weather of March.

Temperatures have clung consistently to points above 70 degrees with temperatures of 83 degrees registered on April 15, and 79 on April 17, according to records kept by A. W. Moore, observer for the biological survey.

During the last week, five days were recorded as cloudy with a trace of rain Wednesday. During the two weeks' period, minimum temperatures have fallen as low as 39 above zero on April 20 with the average around 41. Wednesday was the coldest day in two weeks with a maximum of 68.

State Groupings for Soil Program

This map shows how the United States has been divided into five districts for administration of the new $500,000,000 soil conservation program. The regional directors are: East Central and Northeast, John B. Hutsong; North Central, Gerald B. Thorne; Southern, Cully A. Cobb; Western, George E. Farrell. These four men were in charge of commodity programs under AA. The directors will have headquarters in Washington and will work under the supervision of Harold R. Tolley, acting AAA administrator.
