

Mrs. Romig Elected President of P.T.A.

Mrs. M. M. Romig was elected president of the Hillsboro P.T.A. at a meeting Monday night in the union high school. Mrs. R. P. Rasmussen and Mrs. Ben Faber receive Charles Reed and Mrs. S. W. Melhuus as vice-presidents. Mrs. J. L. Searcy succeeds Mrs. Jake Well as secretary and Charles Douglas as treasurer for the coming year.

Mrs. H. H. Stannard, retiring president, presented the new officers with corsages after they were installed by Mrs. J. M. Person, who was president a year ago.

It is the aim of the Summer Round-Up program to send to school each fall a beginning class of children, who are as nearly perfect physically as is possible.

Mrs. R. P. Rasmussen, state chairman, in explaining the "Summer Round-Up of Children." The program includes an early examination, corrections during the summer and a fall check-up. This work was started by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers eleven years ago and Oregon held its first Round-Up ten years ago.

This health project in Hillsboro is being carried on by Mrs. Charles Douglas, chairman. Mrs. George Reule and Mrs. J. W. Barney, Miss Margaret Dixon, county nurse, and the members of the medical profession of Hillsboro are co-operating.

Dr. Harrison D. Huggins spoke briefly on the need for early examination. Miss Ruth Jones, first grade teacher at Peter Boscov school, told how health affects school progress.

The association voted to sponsor the "Cut" scouts after a request was made by Mrs. R. P. Rasmussen, who explained the need for an activity for boys from nine to boy scout age.

"The Last Days of Pompeii" is the show May 27 that the P.T.A. will sponsor to raise money for summer play-grounds. Mrs. Paul Patterson is in charge of plans and promises an intermission feature of interest to all. The play is spectacular, involving both to children and adults, according to Orange Phelps. In order to help the association, tickets must be purchased from Parent-Teacher members or officers before the night of the performance.

Cornerstone Laid for New Church Mountain Home

SCHOLLS—Ceremonies of the laying of the granite cornerstone of the Mountain Home Evangelical church took place Wednesday at 12:30 p. m. with J. M. Stretcher as the official mason. District superintendent, Rev. C. P. Gates of Portland, was the speaker, and Rev. Virgil Speece, pastor of the church, gave the Scripture reading. These ministers were assisted by Rev. E. Fisher, a former pastor, and Rev. J. E. Good of Portland. Assembly singing of "Faith of Our Fathers" and the "Doxology" concluded the program.

The old church was built and dedicated in 1883, and the names of the first trustees, the late E. E. Brooks, J. W. Baker, William Vincent, Daniel Gubser, and A. J. Vincent, were placed in the cornerstone, as well as the names of the present trustees, Richard Joyce, John Schmelzler, and Sam Body. Many of those present at the ceremonies wrote their favorite Bible verse or quotation with their name placed in the cornerstone.

The land for the church site was donated to the Evangelical association in 1881 by the late Elizabeth and Jacob Wunderli, pioneers of this community, but the church was not built until 1883.

Congressional investigation reveals Dr. Townsend wrote R. E. Clements, his chief lieutenant, that there would be a "hatful of money" for those who stood by the movement and that he and Clements had "the world by the tail on a downhill pull." Authorship admitted. Dr. Townsend strikes out against administration as the "hostile force" behind the congressional inquiry into his old-age pension movement and denies assertions that he was acting from selfish financial motives.

Memorial Services at Mountainside

SCHOLLS—Memorial Day services at Mountainside cemetery will be sponsored by Scholls Rebekah and I. O. O. F. lodges. A large tree now growing in the cemetery will be dedicated to E. E. Brooks, deceased, donor of the land for the cemetery. All organizations are asked to contribute. The cemetery association will hold its annual meeting and election of officers on this date.

Library News

Gardening days are here again, so let your library help solve some of the garden problems—there are many fine garden books on our shelves.

"Green Gables Garden," by Margy Bianca. In this little book there are interesting stories about growing flowers from seed, making a rock garden, planning a camp flower patch, housecleaning in the garden, house plants, and many other garden adventures that will not only be highly entertaining reading for young people, but will start every boy and girl off on gardening as a favorite hobby.

All amateur gardeners will enjoy this book. Also "Complete Garden Book" by Taylor; "My Garden Book" by Weathers; "Gardener's Bed Book" by Wright, and many others are among those your library can furnish you.

The following list of fiction books may be found on the rental shelf, and are books that have been purchased this year:

"Alleged Great Aunt," Webster; "Blood Relations," Gibbs; "Beachcomber," McFee; "Career," Strong; "Case of the Care-takers' Cat," Gardner; "Dead Man's Manor," Williams; "Dust of the Ruins," Ashton; "Faster, Faster," Delaney; "Freedom Farewell," Bentley; "Ginkgo Tree," Jarrett; "Great Love," Oliver; "Here Lies a Most Beautiful Lady," Blaker; "Hurricane," Nordoff and Hall; "If I Have Four Apples," Lawrence;

Auxiliary Ladies to Sell Poppies Here This Week

Selling of Memorial poppies will engage many members of the American Legion Auxiliary on Friday and Saturday this week, and the committee in charge is composed of Mesdames C. Esslinger, John Gardner, Ralph Dresser, B. M. Goodman, and Leon S. Davis.

These flowers are made exclusively by disabled war veterans and the proceeds go to the veterans for their personal needs or for the relief of their families.

The poppies sell for 10 cents each, and the general public is asked to buy and wear one in memory of the dead who lie in Flanders Field, and the disabled living, who are still in hospitals.

"Last Puritan," Santayana; "Last Cavalier," Glaeser; "Private Pavilion," Edwards; "Rolling Years," Turnbull; "Sound Wagon," Stripling; "South Riding," Holtby; "Sparken Broke," Morgan; "Thinking Reed," West; "Take All to Nebraska," Winther; "Tragedy of Beechcroft," Fielding; "To the Mountain," Smith; "Through the Wheat," Boyd; "Valiant is the Word for Carrie," Benefield; "Winds of Chance," Farnol; and "Wooden Indian," by Wells.

ON OREGON FARMS

To Try More Katahdin Potatoes
DALLAS—Katahdin potatoes, a new variety rapidly becoming popular in western Oregon, will be tried out again this year by Martin Van Groos, C. Bulher and Emil Stevens, reports J. R. Beck, Polk county agent. This variety was tried out locally for the first time last year, and although the yield was disappointing because of the dry summer, the growers were pleased with the type of potatoes produced and their cooking quality.

Quick Results on Ads Reported

Quick results and a little cost is the experience of most Argus classified advertising users. L. I. Davis ran a side ad and a fellow came the next morning after the paper was out and took it.

W. T. Putnam of Farmington wrote in to say that two of the bulls advertised were sold the same day the Argus was distributed.

The hundreds of Argus subscribers in Washington county make the Argus classified page the great market place of Washington county.
