Primary Election Vote by Precincts on Contested Places

Table with columns for REPUBLICAN and DEMOCRATIC, and sub-columns for State Senator, District Attorney, Commissioner, County Clerk, County Assessor, State Representative, County Clerk, County Sheriff, County Assessor. Lists precincts and vote counts.

Record Vote Cast County Primary

(Continued from page 1) was the candidate of groups seeking lowering of assessed valuations on farm and residence property. J. E. Carpenter, with more than 3300 votes to his credit on the republican ticket for nomination to succeed himself as county assessor, led the republican ticket in the most votes received. Second on the list was Charles L. McNary, who was near the Carpenter vote and overwhelmingly ahead of his two opponents, Theodore G. Nelson and Sam H. Brown. Brown was a poor third in the face of the fact that he carried the county for nomination as governor in 1934.

ing far in the rear on a public ownership platform. On the democratic ticket, the state senatorship was uncontested and E. L. Ross of Aloha is the Thornburgh opposition in the November election. Democrats contested the nomination for state representative with Richard G. Scott, leading the ticket by more than 1000 votes and Ray L. Antrim of Aloha second and Dr. G. F. Via of Forest Grove third. Scott and Antrim will contest this fall with A. M. Janssen of Reedville and J. W. Hughes of Forest Grove, republicans, unopposed in the primary. James Lewis, republican contestant to succeed himself as county commissioner, won an easy victory over Oscar M. Taylor of Aloha and Grant C. Dodge of Farmington. Taylor led Dodge, but Lewis received three to one as many votes as Taylor. Lewis now is matched with Bert C. Hagen of Tigard, unopposed on the democratic ticket. M. K. Abraham of Forest Grove, democratic candidate for nomination to sheriff, took a two to one lead over his opponent, E. C. (Curley) Bennett, Hillsboro well digger, and will be the opposition for John W. Connell, republican fall election peace officer, in the fall election. George H. Beazan, Tigard businessman and farmer, won with a small lead over his opponent, W. F. Young of Sherwood, and will contest this fall with Tupper for the clerkship. In the contest for state treasurer, Jack Allen, former liquor administrator, came into the lead over U. S. Burt on the democratic ticket. The race was so close at times that first one and then the other seemed winner. Rufus Holman, the republican ticket, led W. E. Burke by a substantial majority. While the republicans entered James W. Mott for congressman to succeed himself, there was no contest, but in the democratic ranks E. W. Kirkpatrick of Clackamas county led his opponent, Curtis D. Stringer, two to one, and four to one over Byron G. Carney. Kirkpatrick carried on an active campaign on an anti-Townsend plank. Willis Mahoney of Klamath Falls led John A. Jeffery for the nomination to United States senate on the democratic ticket to oppose Charles L. McNary in the fall. Tally sheets from county precincts were in excellent shape, according to Edw. C. Luce, county clerk, who took a two to one lead over his opponent, E. C. W. Johnson, who has been on the canvassing board since 1928. Luce also denied that tally sheets, which are the legal returns from which the official canvassing board makes the legal count, were snarled or incorrect to any extent. In fact they were remarkably free from errors, he said. Statement in a daily newspaper that the count in one Beaverton precinct was garbled, was not true, Luce said. Luce particularly complimented the county clerk on the appointment of an exceptionally good list of election officials all over the county. Telephone calls to the clerk's office on election day concerning election questions were fewer than any primary election in his experience, he declared. Another feature of the election returns to which Luce called attention, was the fact that but five boards locked poll books and tally sheets in the boxes which was no more than usual compared with previous elections. The election laws, as they must stand, are very confusing to election boards on this point.

Chris E. Anderson Buried on Tuesday

Funeral services for Chris E. Anderson of Hillsboro, route 5, who died in a Portland hospital Saturday were held in Holman & Son funeral parlors in Portland Tuesday. Interment was in the River-view cemetery. R. L. Putnam, Christian minister of Hillsboro, had charge of the service. Mr. Anderson was suddenly stricken at his farm home only a few weeks to his death. He was rushed to Portland for medical aid but steadily grew worse. He had been a resident of Oregon since 1908 and came to America at the age of 32 years from Denmark in 1892. His first residence was in Viroca, Wis. He met and married Miss Stella Holton in Fillmore, Minn., moved to Preston, Minn., and lived there until he brought his family west. He was an experienced creamery man and gave the greater part of his life to the business as a butter maker and standardizer. Previous to coming to his small farm near Hillsboro he worked as a lumber grader. He lived at Boring and Portland previous to coming to this community. He leaves besides his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Schroeder, Spring Valley, Minn., and Mrs. Esther Bowen of Portland, and four brothers, Hans and Loren in Denmark and Martin and Rasmus of Boring. APPRECIATION To all voters supporting my candidacy, I sincerely thank you. To all who did not, I hold no rancor or bitterness, and I thank you all just as sincerely. I also commend the clean campaign conducted by my opponent. Cordially yours, R. E. BARRETT, "Still a Townsendite."

Townsendites Meet Sunday

Kelly Chairman for July 3 Gathering Here

(By R. L. Putnam) Mrs. Nora Ivy and her twin daughters will be featured at the Townsend club meeting Sunday at 2 p. m. at the M. E. church. Mrs. Ivy is one of the most dynamic speakers on the Townsend platform. Her subject is "O. R. P.—Our Republic Promoted." Mrs. Ivy challenges those who think the Townsend plan is "cockeyed" to hear this lecture in which she shows the Townsend plan is now in operation in the U. S. government and large corporations. Arrangements have been made for a big entertainment in I. O. O. F. hall, June 1. Roy Nelson and his family will give an evening of cowboy stunts, fancy roping and a reel of "Pendleton Round-Up" pictures. At the meeting Monday evening in I. O. O. F. hall in a vote by the local Townsend members Elbert Eastman, attorney of Portland, was chosen as their candidate for "Citizen Maximum"—the one outstanding Townsendite of Oregon. G. N. Taggart has been delegated with J. F. Buckland as alternate, to take this nomination to the state convention in Salem May 31. The candidate elected by this convention will be citizen maximum of the state and the states representative on the National Advisory committee of Townsend clubs of America. Robert Kelly was appointed its general chairman to plan the program for Townsend day in Hillsboro July 3. He will choose his committee from members of other clubs of the county co-operating with the celebration. G. N. Taggart, program committee chairman, presented an exceptionally fine juvenile program Monday evening, consisting of music, rhythm band—the first graders of Aloha, and tap dancing by local talent.
