(By Mrs. F. L. Brown)
LAUREL—Many tons of hay will be put in barns this week, weather permitting. The past wet weather caused a deterioration in food value in much of the hay as it became too ripe before it could be cut. An acute shortage of help is being felt by farmers at this time. Miss Irene Stevens attended some of the sessions of the National Educational Association in Portland this week. Miss Stevens is a teacher in the Oswego grade school.

Mrs. Fred Schmidt and her granddaughter, Marjorie Will, went to Twin Rocks last Wednesday for a week's vacation. Mrs. Schmidt is not convalescing from injuries received a month ago in an auto accident as rapidly as relatives and friends would like her to.

Friday guests at the Dewey Mercer home were Elaine Pickrell of Seattle, Lyle and Jimmie Dunsmuir, Mickey Dean and Gerald Buchanan of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Peterson and two children of South Bend, Wash., visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson, two days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Stoller and children were Sunday dinner party guests of his sister, Mrs. Frank Hamausko, of Portland, who entertained for another sister, Mrs. Hobson (Grace Kauffman) and three children of Lewiston, Idaho, who are spending the summer with relatives in and near Portland.

Beverly Tykesson of Chehalis Mountain was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Raleigh Whitmore, from Wednesday until Sunday.

Blackcap berries are being harvested now. The L. A. Whittle Co. started Saturday on their 10 acres with fourteen pickers, which will be increased to about 26. Their electric drier is taking care of their crop and also that of several other growers.

Harvest Interferes
The canning demonstration given at the hall last Wednesday by Miss Blanche Eickworth was attended by about a dozen homemakers. Hay and fruit harvest kept many at home.
