Ray-Maine cannery took the measure of the National Guard softball team last Thursday evening in the feature game of the series, going into a tie for first place with the soldiers. The score was 9 to 8. Both squads draw second division teams in the final game of the schedule tonight (Thursday) and a play-off game is possible for the second-half title.

Play progressed even up in the first two innings with each team scoring two runs. In the third the cannery crew moved into the lead and were never headed. Betzer of the cannery connected for a homer with one aboard.

The Soda Works moved into third place by turning back Irelands 9 to 7. Perfection Bakery came from behind in the final innings to down Cady Motor 12 to 9, while Ray J. Mann cut short a determined Safeway last-inning rally to win 10 to 9.

Schedule for tonight (Thursday), the final games of the 1936 season are: Irelands vs. Safeway, west union high diamond; Ray J. Mann vs. Soda Works, north junior high field; Guards vs. Cady Motor, south junior high diamond and Perfection Bakery vs. Ray-Maine cannery, east union high field.

Harold Russell, who plays first base and manages the National Guard team, suffered a bone fracture in his left foot while playing ball Thursday night.

Built for the BIG Farm With Fast POWERFUL Tractors

These are the Disc Harrows for the man who farms a large acreage on a big scale—where the going is tough—where you sometimes need to operate day and night to get your field work done on time—and where a harrow must be extra rugged and strong to stand punishing service.

On such a farm, you want a harrow that will do a fast, dependable job of discing at uniform depth—with handy, easy and simple controls. That's exactly what Oliver engineers designed for you in their TDM & TDW models.

You will find many improvements on these new Oliver Disc Harrows which no other similar equipment can give you—but there's so much that's interesting about them that it can't all be crowded into small space like this. Drop in and let us explain the construction and operation of these really modern harrows.

Many Americans—including Many Girls—Played in Leagues

BY PHILIP MARTIN

SOFTBALL rapidly is losing its swaddling clothes and taking its place among major American sports. The public interest it has aroused in less than three years of organization has been nothing short of amazing.

And the new regulations recently put into effect by the rules committee of the American Softball Association, the governing body of the game, are likely to sharpen ball fans' already keen appetite for the pastime, for the rules speed up play materially.

A fast game always appeals to the fans. Introduction of the rabbit ball into regular baseball made it speedier and more thrilling from the spectators' point of view, and revived waning interest in the national game.

Among other things, the new rules provide for a longer distance between the plate and the pitcher's box, increasing it from 38 feet 8½ inches to 40 feet. This isn't a greatly added distance, but it gives the batter a tremendous break, allowing him an extra fraction of a second to view the hurler's offerings and get his bludgeon around in time to hit the sphere.

Up to now 15 or more strikeouts during a game have been common, and this made rather tedious watching for fans, the majority of whom love to witness a barrage of base hits.

The double windup, used to befuddle the batsman, has been banned. Also, a standard baseline distance of 60 feet, when the regulation 12-inch ball is used, has been agreed upon.

The base runners, too, come in for a little consideration. They now are being permitted to steal and to score on a balk or illegal pitch. Under the old rules, a man on third was not allowed to score on a balk.

Dog Tax Collector Explains Statutes

So far this year there have been few arrests for failure to pay licenses. Skee related, but at present some 50 dog owners are facing arrest unless the license is paid soon. The law places the fine at $10 and costs and the costs average about $3. After arrest and fine the owner still must buy the license and pay the penalty, it is pointed out.

Softball has universal appeal.

"Wild Bill" Peenick, left, has hurled 32 no-hit games in six years of competition. George Sisler, below, one of baseball's greats, fathered softball in the middle-west, where it has shown its greatest development.

In six years of active service he has hurled 424 games, annexing 231 victories of which 32 were no-hitters. Also, he distinguished himself at the plate with a lifetime batting average of .375.

Peenick is but one of the many colorful stars of softball, and though the names of these players are hardly household words right now, you can depend on it that within a few years these men will be much better known to the public. Softball has a great future.
