Sunday School Plans Rally and Promotion Day

HAZELDALE—School opened Monday with an enrollment of 43. Twenty-three are in the primary grades and 20 in the upper classes. There are eight first graders.

W. P. Brooks spent last week in Eugene visiting relatives. The officers and teachers of the Sunday school met at the home of Mrs. W. P. Brooks last Friday evening. A promotion and rally day was planned for September 27. After the business a social hour was enjoyed.

Two Slightly Hurt in Auto Accidents

Two persons received slight injuries in automobile crashes recently, according to reports filed in the office of John Connell, sheriff. E. L. Morris, 41, Portland, was bruised on the head when the car in which he was riding driven by Ellen B. Morris of Warrenton collided with one driven by Mrs. J. D. Hendrickson of Portland, two miles south of Sherwood, on September 11.

Ben Olson suffered slight injuries in an automobile crash recently, according to reports filed in the office of John Connell, sheriff. Olson was driving a car when it struck a PEP cable stretched across the street at Beaverton. Richardson reported that he failed to see the cable.

County Clubs Make Good Fair Record

(Continued from page 1) with potatoes. In the wheat class, first, fourth and fifth places were won by Clayton Nyberg, John Hansen and Marvin Heynderickx. First and second places in duck classes were won by Willis Evers and Marvin Heynderickx.

Marvin also placed sixth with his pen of three White Leghorn hens. In the three divisions of the demonstration contests, the Washington county teams placed first in crops, first in miscellaneous and second in livestock. The rabbit judging team won second place, the crops judging team third, the livestock team eighth, and the poultry team ninth place.

This makes an unusually fine record for the club members of the county and is a good indication of the quality of work which they are doing under the supervision of their local leaders, states Francis. The club members who took part in state fair activities this year follow:

Marvin Heynderickx, Norman Hermans, Henry Dickman, John Hansen, Jack Bauman, Clayton Nyberg, Fred and John Bernau, David Hiatt, Donald Meier, Elmer and Albert Grossen, Jerry Schwanke, Albur Nyberg, Merle Pennington, Herbert Lafky, Ira Staus, Herbert Schneider, James and George Allison, Joe Berger, Carol Scheese, Donald McIntosh, John and Joe Santoro, Willis Evers, Walter Wendt and Billie Everett.

Ben Olson suffered slight injuries in an automobile crash recently, according to reports filed in the office of John Connell, sheriff. Olson was driving a car when it struck a PEP cable stretched across the street at Beaverton. Richardson reported that he failed to see the cable.

Local Man Makes Camping Trailers

While America is learning to trail their camp cabins behind their autos, E. G. Paine of Hillsboro has set out to help supply the demand for this type of travel by producing a camp trailer of his own for sale.

The outfit displayed at the county fair was complete in every detail, allowing the owner to collapse it into a small amount of space while traveling, and expand it into quarters for two or four persons in a camp.

Inside, the trailer is equipped with two double beds which fold making long, cushioned seats. The table can be set up between the seats, and a cupboard and sink at the front end with a compartment for a gasoline stove, complete the house. There also is a running water wheel. The weight of the equipment is about half a ton mounted on a two-wheeled trailer. Sides are made of waterproof cloth.

Sheriff Searching for West Slope Girl

Search has been instituted through the sheriff's office here for Cecil King, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee King of West Slope, who disappeared September 3 from her home. She was reported to have stepped from the back door of the house early in the evening and has not been seen since.

The sheriff's office also is seeking the person who Friday bought $13 worth of chicken feed at the Farmers' Cash store and paid for it with a forged $25 check drawn on the account of Dr. W. B. Holden in the First National bank of Portland. The man explained that he had recently purchased a farm near Hillsboro, according to the report given Sheriff John Connell. He received $12 in change from the check.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, John Trachsel, wore a long white satin dress with a finger-tip length veil and carried a bouquet of bouvardia and lilies-of-the-valley. Her attendant, Miss Katherine Jacoby of Portland, wore a pink voile dress and carried a bouquet of bouvardia. Little Darlene Glasse, great-niece of the bride, sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. John Croeni, who also played the wedding march.

FISHIN' Supposin' fish don't bite at first. What are you goin' to do? Throw down your pole, chuck out your bait. And say your fishin's through? You bet you ain't; you're goin' to fish. An' fish, an' fish, an' wait. Until you've ketch'd a bucketful. Or used up all your bait. Suppose success don't come at first. What are you goin' to do? Throw up all sponge and kick yourself. And growl, and fret, and stew? You bet you ain't; you're goin' to fish. An' bait, and bait ag'in. Until success will bite your hook. For grit is sure to win.—Ex.

WHY REGISTER BIRTHS AND DEATHS

(By Oregon State Board of Health) There are good reasons for keeping track of births and deaths of thousands of Oregonians. Some of the uses of these records are very important. It seems a birth certificate is the best evidence for proving when and where you were born. A properly prepared death record relieves the family of many legal difficulties in securing a settlement of their estate.

The state health officer is the registrar of vital statistics in this state. In the Division of Vital Statistics of the State Health Department the records of births, deaths, marriages and divorces are recorded.

Vital statistics are collected by local registrars. They are scattered throughout the state so that they can be contacted directly by the doctors, midwives, undertakers, or others who file certificates with them. The local registrars send the birth and death certificate to the state registrar. The original records are all on file in the archives of the State Board of Health. The records are corrected, edited, classified and indexed in this department.

If your birth is not registered, you may have some difficulty in securing a passport or other legal instrument requiring the facts concerning your birth. One of the principal uses of both birth and death certificates is concerned with the inheritance of property. Often the property is held in trust and proof of age must be submitted before it can be released. Also the settlement of insurance claims or the legal execution of wills connected with the administration of estates are in part dependent on proof of death, proof of age, and sometimes proof of the cause of death. If the life insurance policy has been issued within a year, it is usually contested. Likewise a death certificate is needed before there can be payment of war risk insurance, or pension claims to widows and orphans.

Death certificates are usually filled out by the doctor in charge of the case. Before the body can be buried or moved from one district to another the undertaker must file the death certificate and obtain a burial permit from the local registrar. The death certificate plays an important part in the community health program. How people die is a question of the utmost importance to the public health officer and the family physician. Inability to obtain health service to obtain promptly information required on the death certificate may mean that the community will pay the price in precious lives. This is one reason why
