Total Repairs $23

in 3 years' work on 880-acre farm.

Here's proof of "Caterpillar" Quality

Dear Sirs:
I have used a "Caterpillar" THIRTY-FIVE Diesel as the source of power on my 880-acre farm since the spring of 1934 and I think you will be interested in knowing that to date I have only paid out $23.00 for repairs and also that this machine is in first-class shape today.

I hired a gasoline powered tractor to do my work in 1933 and it cost about twice as much to operate that machine as it does to do the same work with this machine.

In 1934, my total fuel, oil and grease cost for doing all my farm work except harvesting, was $186. In 1935, my total fuel, oil and grease cost for all my work was $256. And in 1936 to date, my total fuel, oil and grease cost has been $250.

I ordinarily pull six 16-inch plows, 55 feet of steel harrow, 24 feet of rod-weeders with 30 feet of harrow behind, a 16-foot Combine, and two 12-foot drills.

I am entirely satisfied with my "Caterpillar" and would not farm without it.

Very truly yours,
L. H. CARSTENS.

What better proof of in-built quality could you ask than low cost up-keep records like this. "Caterpillar" doesn't skimp on quality.
