P.-T. A. Xmas Program Draws Large Crowd

Christmas music and Christmas books, and the topic, "Efficiency and Keeping Fit," plus games and refreshments, made the meeting of the Hillsboro P.-T. A. Monday night a pleasant and profitable occasion. About 80 were present.

Mrs. Nathan Weinstein, Hillsboro school health nurse, gave a prac-tical health program of balanced diet obtained through use of a varlety of building and protective foods, and regular hours of sleep, rest, exercise and fresh air. She ad-vocated immunization from contagious diseases, and regular physicians' and dentists' examinations for both children and adults, that the laws of health may be expertly adjusted to individual resolutions. adjusted to individual needs.

Mrs. Weinstein closed her interesting talk by saying we must have satisfactory habits of thought, or mental health, and the total result will be what we seek, "health, wealth, and health, and health
