 A brilliant suggestion from Whozitt: Have the students who are staying in after school for being late pick the dandelions, which are gracing the front lawns. We would have liked to have been where Jeanne Abis was Saturday night—she certainly fooled somebody that time.

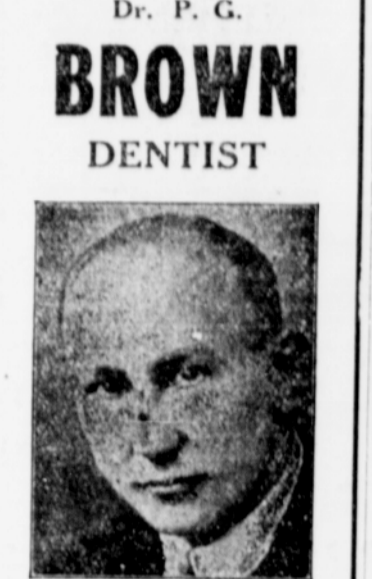

Sophomores had a meeting last week and from all reports had about as difficult a time trying to make up their minds as the Juniors did (only the Jrs. finally agreed). We probably won't do anything in the end anyway—that's the way Sophs are.
