Mayor Puts Thumb Down on Pin Games

(Continued from page 1) meeting of May 4 when the councilmen either will sustain Mayor Garrett's veto or repeal the ordinance. If re-passed, the anti-pinball factions in the city apparently will proceed to invoke the referendum in which case a petition containing 152 names, calling for a vote by the people, must be filed.

When filed, the petition will successfully stop pinball operations in the city limits until the next election, which is May, 1938, or until a special election has been called for some special purpose other than a pinball vote.

Report Heard Monday night, the Hillsboro P. T. A., which took an active part in protesting the action of the city council, voted to accept the report of a special committee named to appear before the council. Other action was lacking. The ministerial association of Hillsboro is marking time awaiting the outcome of the council meeting and the final vote of the members of the council. Meanwhile there is considerable conjecture along the street as to who, of the council members, will support the mayor, and who will continue to support the ordinance.

Majority of guesses in the matter, seem to place the pinball strength at four members with two scheduled to change their votes to support Mayor Garrett.

fight to prevent venereal diseases. Success is eradicating any communicable disease depends on the public backing which it is able to command. A large part of the failure to control venereal diseases heretofore has been due to public ignorance and fear of free discussion. Now that the ban on mentioning the unmentionable has been removed, we can speak freely of venereal diseases, calling the names of cases by their names. Syphilis is syphilis, and gonorrhea is gonorrhea. No longer can these diseases be considered simply as a problem of morals. Syphilis cannot be dealt with by calling it a sin. The truth is that there are a multitude of cases in which the sin is involved. Many of the most pathetic victims are virtuous housewives and helpless children, or men who contracted the disease quite innocently. In other cases, the moral side should be left to the moralist and the health side treated as what it is—a problem of prevention and cure of disease.

SYPHILIS IS PREVENTABLE (By State Board of Health)

Syphilis, though in every sense one of the most serious of all diseases, is robbed of many of its terrors by the fact that it may be rendered early and surely recognized and, cured, that he can be cured, providing Gonorrhea, on the other hand, the treatment is begun early. In though a disease with the gravest complications, it is so false and infectious, it escapes recognition, and its others is reduced to a minimum, cure, even if possible, is extremely difficult and troublesome. It could be placed under rigid treatment, the reverse is ment, the disease could be the case and, that though syphilis trolled. This has been clearly demis to be feared gonorrhea is to be onstrate in the Scandinavian regarded lightly, is so false and infectious, where syphilis has been wide-spread that the facts demanded through thousands of cases to general publicity. for the early diagnosis of the disease. There must be no delay in beginning the treatment; delay may mean failure. Sources of infection must be detected and treated to render them non-infectious. The family and all other contacts should be examined. Blood tests before marriages will make it possible to prevent the birth of syphilitic babies. Syphilis can be prevented if the public will support measures for the control of this really preventable disease.
