

Local Guard Will Become Artillery Unit

New Battery Needs 43 Men to Complete Quota Next Two Weeks; Personnel of Headquarters Absorbed

Hillsboro's own, Headquarters Company, Second Battalion, 162nd Infantry, 10 years old this spring, is on the way to becoming Battery E, 218th Field Artillery, according to notification received Friday night by Lieutenant Arthur Kroeger, commanding officer.

Recruiting opens at once. Lieutenant Kroeger said, with 43 men between the ages of 18 and 42 years needed within the next two weeks to bring the battery up to peace strength. The battery will have 60 men and four officers, two new officers being needed.

The battery will go to Camp Murray late in August to participate in maneuvers of the Fourth Army when national guard units from several states, and as far east as Montana, concentrate for two weeks intensive drill under conditions simulating war.

Use Six-Inch Guns

The battery will be equipped with six-inch howitzers of the latest approved pattern drawn by heavy trucks. The guns are mounted on pneumatic tires.

With a battery to be organized in Hillsboro and another in Newberg, with headquarters company probably to be located at Milwaukie, formation of a regiment of the heavy guns is completed.

The regiment had its beginning in the 148th Field Artillery of light guns formed shortly after the World War with Batteries A and B at a nucleus. Both these organizations saw front line service during the war as members of the 147th Field Artillery, 32nd division.

Colonel Is Veteran

Colonel of the 218th Field Artillery is William Jackson, who went to France with Battery A as a first lieutenant and who served with the artillery organization since, rising through the various grades to his present position. He is a former resident of this county. A large number of officers of the regiment are former members of the two batteries, winning their way to their positions from the ranks during the war or since.

By virtue of this service, and the all-train background, perpetuated since the organization of separate battery A during the Civil War, tradition has been established which will be carried to the new battery about to be organized in Hillsboro. Headquarters of the battery will be continued in the Shute park auditorium which, under the present plans, will be increased in size and changed somewhat to make quarters for officers, non-commissioned officers and enlisted men.

Seek to Solve Lunch Problem

Hot lunches for school children in Washington county are made possible through co-operation with W. P. A. should enough interest be shown by the various larger districts, it was announced this week by O. B. Kraus, county superintendent.

A conference with officials and principals of the larger schools of the county has been called for Wednesday, June 2, at 8 p. m. in the county court room. Miss Arline Howell, summer women's work supervisor, and Mrs. Jean Blake, superintendent of the hot lunch projects for the district, will conduct the meeting, Kraus said.

Twenty schools have been notified of the meeting, and if sufficient interest can be aroused, the plan is to draw up a project under W. P. A. to provide cooks for these schools without direct cost to the districts.

Chamber Commerce Election June 14; Portlander Speaks

Luncheon meetings of the chamber of commerce closed for the summer season with the meeting Monday at which Allan H. McCurtain, Portland attorney, was speaker. Annual election of the chamber officers will be held at night, June 14.

McCurtain, who says he is interested in the philosophy of living, read an article which he recently submitted to a magazine for publication. The title of the article is "Who's Afraid?"

Contrasts Success, Failure

He contrasted the successful men and women with the unsuccessful, pointing out that in his opinion there were many who never had been taught their capabilities, or had discovered for themselves through self-analysis. Along with the three Rs taught in school, he said, it was his belief that the child should be taught more about himself.

"Fev of us," McCurtain declared, "ever take the time for self-analysis. Genius generally is five per cent inspiration and 95 per cent hard work."

First Avenue Tracks Prove Danger Spot

Among the many dangerous traffic spots in Hillsboro is the First avenue crossing of the Southern Pacific railway, where hair raising escapes are apparently a common occurrence and accidents do happen.

In part the crossing is blamed, particularly to traffic approaching from the north as the tracks curve west of the street and are mostly hidden by a warehouse on the east.

One dim light burns on an intersection nearly a block wide where multiple tracks cross the street. The only warning given drivers that trains are approaching, is the presence of a brakeman.

Vigilance Necessary

Should this brakeman and his lantern be absent at night, drivers may crash into trains or be struck by engines. Now and then a car protrudes into the street with coupler extended to catch the unwary auto driver.

Latest victim of this death trap is Dr. C. P. Smith, Hillsboro physician, who crashed head on into empty log car about 3:30 a. m. Friday, thrusting the radiator of his car far enough under the train to catch and hold until the train had brought the train to a stop.

"Visibility was bad," Dr. Smith explains, "and I could not see the cars moving across the tracks. There was no signal of any kind. If the train had been moving faster I would have lost my life."

Paving on Main street, creek, in the busy intersections, emerged with yellow traffic guide lines for motorists making right hand turns and outflanking pedestrian lanes at all crossings.

Emergency stop signs, holding traffic entering Oak street from First avenue, were removed Monday night, leaving First street an unobstructed through traffic lane.

Rules Changed for Goddess of Liberty Contest

Invitations to sponsor a candidate for "Happy Days" Goddess of Liberty, will be sent this week by the Business and Professional Women's club to all clubs in the county, notifying the organizations of changes made in the rules this year.

Major change has been lowering the age limit to a minimum of 16 years with a maximum limit of 25. All candidates must weigh not more than 140 pounds and it is suggested that girls be at least five feet three inches tall.

Methods to be Same

Girls elected "Goddess" in former years will not be eligible this year, but attendants in any previous year are eligible. Method of selection will be the same as in the past with each of the girls receiving an envelope designating their selection or rejection.

Winners will be selected at a ball to be held in Shute park auditorium Saturday night, June 26, and the Goddess of Liberty dance will be held Friday night, July 2. Girls who fail to win either as "Goddess" or attendants, will be guests of honor at the "Goddess" Ball; the committee has announced.

Candidates Sell Tickets

To be eligible for competition, each candidate is asked to sell 35 tickets to the dance at 25 cents each, the number of tickets being lowered this year.

Plans were made for the event at a joint meeting Tuesday night of the club committee with the firemen in charge of the celebration. Mrs. Marion Hathorn and Mrs. Eunice Kimmeler are in charge of the committee, including Margaret Cady, Emma Mohr, Helen Stevens, Julia Tatom and Elaine Caldwell, to assist.

Clubs wishing to sponsor a contestant, or girls wishing to enter the contest, are requested to write Mrs. Hathorn, Hillsboro, route 4, or leave name at Argus office.

Local Business Houses to Close Doors Monday

Hillsboro stores, professional offices, and other places of business as well as the county court house will be closed Monday for Memorial Day observances. The Argus will go into the mail a day late because of the holiday.

Self Confidence Key

Self confidence is the key, McCurtain declared, is the key to success, and stimulates the will to win. While not all persons can be champions in their line of endeavor, they can at least give a good account of themselves if provided with self confidence.

All men are endowed with the same qualities in the beginning, McCurtain said, and therefore all might attain degrees of success if self confidence were not destroyed and replaced with fear. He declared that time spent in study and thought on any certain question was far more profitable than greater time spent in reading what others thought of the same question.

"Every man is master of his own destiny, and no man should rise above his desires to accomplish. We all should profit by self analysis," McCurtain said in closing.

Hillsboro to Honor Dead on Monday

Memorial Day Observances Begin With Parade from Veterans' Hall; Oregon City Attorney Speaker

Memorial day observances for Hillsboro and the surrounding territory will begin Monday at 9:30 a. m. when members of all local patriotic organizations will form for the parade at Veterans' hall, West Main street, from where they will march to the Venetian theatre for a patriotic program at 10 a. m.

Special efforts are being made this year by veterans' organizations to have all available members in the line of march and in attendance at the Venetian theatre. After the program, the parade will form again outside for the march to the cemetery, where the officers of the American Legion will give the G. A. R. Memorial Day ritual, followed by a short speech by the Grand Army of the Republic disbanded here.

Glen Jack Speaker

Glen Jack, Oregon City attorney and past department commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, is the speaker of the day.

Program in the Venetian will be in charge of Hugh Rogers, state commander of the U. S. W. V. The program was prepared by a joint committee of veterans organizations named by the commanders' council.

C. T. Richardson will lead the community singing which precedes a program which includes invocation by Rev. R. E. Hicks, recitation of various organization officers who will be seated on the stage, and special music by the Legion Auxiliary sextet.

"Taps" Special Feature

Special feature of the ceremony in the cemetery will be the sounding of "Taps" by Henry Barron of Huber, department musician of the U. S. W. V., and the echo, which will be blown by Nelson Weaver of Hillsboro.

Helvetia band has volunteered to play for the parade for which a maximum of 1000 people expressed their appreciation.

Immediately after the program, the parade will again form for the march to the cemetery led by the colors, followed by the National Guard, G. A. R. members, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the officers of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, and the Oregon City band.

Pubols Push Advancement

Ben H. Pubols, brother of John Pubols, West Union, and son of R. Pubols, Portland, the acting head of the department of farm management and agricultural economics at Washington State college since 1934, has been appointed head of the department and advanced from associate professor, to professor at Washington State college.

At the same time Pubols became agricultural economist and head of the division of the same name in the agricultural experiment station. Before going to Pullman, he was with the federal government in Washington, D. C., as agricultural expert in the tariff commission, agricultural specialist with the bureau of entomology and chief of examining unit, contract records section of the agricultural adjustment administration.

Prof. Pubols is a graduate of Oregon State college and received his master's degree from Kansas State college in 1927. He also has taken a year of advance work at Harvard university. Prof. Pubols is a former resident of the West Union community.

Pumpkin Ridge Mill Relocated

With schedule of completion set for the last of June, the J. W. Dixon mill, located on Pumpkin Ridge for the last four years, is being moved to the site of the Sherman mill, which burned to the ground last autumn. The site is in the valley north of Mountaineer.

All machinery from the Pumpkin Ridge plant already has been moved and foundations for the saws completed. Water already fills the log pond, the old dam across Dairy creek having been restored.

The mill site includes 120 acres of property surrounding the mill, and all of the office buildings, mess hall, dwellings and bank houses, formerly occupied by the Sherman crews.

J. W. Dixon of Hillsboro is owner of the industry and employs 20 men including the woods crew.

Health Association Sets Meeting Date

Officers of the Washington County Health association, meeting in the county court house Tuesday night, set June 14 as date for the county wide health rally. Sadie Orr-Dunbar will be the speaker.

Plans for the future activities will be made at that time and committees will be named. The meeting will be in the county court room. The association membership is 100 to date with 400 persons yet to be signed.

Rides Popular Entertainment for Youngsters

Children from all parts of the Hillsboro trade territory, responding to the piping of the merry-go-round organ Friday and Saturday, thronged Hillsboro to enjoy the carnival of free rides donated by Hillsboro businessmen.

At the peak of the day, the merry-go-round whirled 576 youngsters an hour astride gaily painted horses, while the ferris wheel, tapping the store buildings behind which it operated, did nearly as well.

Many Children Ride

Conservative estimate shows 14,600 free rides during the two days in which the rides were in operation Saturday, youngsters from all parts of the county rode as many times as they could collect tickets at the various business houses.

The crowd came from all distances and four families with 14 children were found from the Tigard neighborhood. Some of the children rode the merry-go-round for the first time. One child, crippled from infancy and unable to walk, was assisted to the Ferris wheel for the first ride of her life.

Event Without Accident

A crew of 15 persons was necessary to operate the rides and to handle the crowds. For safety sake and to assure all children of a (Continued on page 2, column 4)

Labor Resumes Stimson Strife; Mill Shut Down

Stimson mill in Scoggins Valley suspended operations Tuesday morning, and only half or less of the woods crew reported for duty, while picket lines, established Monday, peacefully covered entrances to the operating property.

Meanwhile, Glenwood local, Sawmill and Timber Workers' crew, was reported as accepting memberships from virtually all of the Stimson employees. A. J. Miller, company manager, was absent in California Monday and Tuesday.

Situation Seems Peaceful

Officials of the mill and union declared that the whole situation was peaceful, and violence of any kind was not expected. Stimson officials said that closing of the mill was because of a short crew, and that no action would be taken until the men had declared their intentions.

Nearly every man of the 300 employees of Stimson's was signing on as member of the union, according to J. L. Gregg, financial secretary of the Glenwood local crew.

He said, was making the move together and began applications for membership Monday. Pickets first appeared at the mill Monday morning.

An effort will be made at once, Gregg said, to reach an agreement with the Stimson company, and a meeting with company officials will be held as soon as Miller returns.

Movement Big Surprise

Officials at the mill reported that the movement came as a complete surprise, and while operations were continued through the week, only a few of the woods and mill crew missing Tuesday morning not enough of the mill crew was present to keep the machinery operating efficiently.

For more than two years, the Sawmill and Timber Workers' union has been trying to bring organization to Stimson employees. During the winter action was brought through (Continued on page 2, column 5)

Public School Band Winner in Annual Contest

Hillsboro public school band, competing in the annual Hill Military academy band contest Saturday, returned with first place in the B division. The band is under the direction of F. E. Bushnell of Portland.

The band appeared in new uniforms of white and red, including red caps, red jackets, red neckties, white shirts and trousers. There are 30 members, with several graduates this year into high school.

Another county winner was the Beaverton high school band, which took first place in the C division. This band also is directed by Bushnell.

Youngsters Prepare for Summer School

Seventy-five youngsters, 48 girls and 27 boys, will leave from Hillsboro, Beaverton, Tigard and Six Corners Monday, June 7, for 4-8½ summer school in Corvallis.

Most of this number will travel in the two large busses, one leaving Hillsboro at 8:30 a. m. Monday from the east entrance of the court house, and the other, east bound, making its first stop at the Beaverton post office at 8:15 a. m. Next stop is Tigard post office at 8:30 and Six Corners at 8:45. Bus fare is $2.

Argus Employees to Have Holiday

With Monday a legal holiday for observance of Memorial day, editorial and shop employees of the Argus will have a holiday, making publication a day later. The Argus will go to press Thursday night instead of Wednesday night, bringing your copy of the Argus to you a day later.

School Days End Friday for Seniors

University Professor Will Give Graduation Address; Diplomas Possible for 100 High School Students

School days in Hillsboro will be over for 100 seniors Friday night when diplomas are presented at exercises in the high school auditorium beginning at 8 o'clock. Prof. John L. Castell, head of the speaking division of the University of Oregon, will deliver the graduation address.

Classes came to a close Monday evening and final examinations occupied the students Tuesday and Wednesday with final details of the school year being completed today (Thursday) and Friday.

Class Same Size

Senior class this year is the same size as the graduation class of a year ago. B. M. Barnes, superintendent, said, a few more than the 100 were expected to complete work earlier in the year.

Program in the auditorium opens with the professional played by the high school band under direction of F. E. Bushnell, to be followed with the invocation by Rev. John F. Gibson. Preceding the address by Prof. John L. Castell, the girls' glee club will sing, "I Shall Not Pass This Way Again."

Following the address, Mrs. L. C. Kraumen will sing, "Will O' The Wisp," (Charles Gilbert Spross) and "Life," (Pearl B. Curran). Evelyn Roberts is the accompanist.

Awards for honor students, scholarships, and the B. W. Barnes cup, will be made by B. M. Goodman, principal, after which Mrs. William E. Hinds will sing, "At Parting," by James Rogers, and "A May Morning" by L. Denza. Mrs. F. J. Sewell is accompanist.

Program will be presented by T. P. Goodin, director. There will be an alumni party in the gymnasium immediately after the program.

Auditorium Filled

Sunday night seniors, their families and friends gathered in the high school auditorium for the baccalaureate services. The large auditorium was nearly full.

The sermon was by Rev. T. Arthur Dungan, pastor of the Hillsboro Congregational church. His subject being, "Toward That Which is High." He pointed out that the goal he is had been reached and the goal he is had been reached and the goal he is had been reached (Continued on page 2, column 5)

Berry Growers Plan Meetings

Strawberry field meetings will be held this Saturday and Sunday, June 1, as follows: Saturday, 1:30 p. m., Theodore Landwehr farm, four miles south of Sherwood on the Parrott mountain road; Tuesday, 9:30 a. m., Alex Eischen farm, south of North Bend; Wednesday, Tuesday, June 1, 1:30 p. m., Art Smith farm, two miles north of the Prickett school, northwest of Banks.

On each of these places both rotenone and lime dusts were applied for the control of spittle bug. The results are apparent and can be seen at these field meetings, says County Agent Cyrus. In addition to the results of spittle bug control work, strawberry root weevil control will be discussed.

On the Eischen farm comparison of hand dusting and power machine dusting can be noted, also the effect of fertilizer on growth as just a small part of this planting was fertilized.

On Tuesday a slight improvement in the boy's condition was apparent, although he still is unconscious most of the time. He is expected to make a slow recovery.

Templeton Asks Fund for Bust

Donald T. Templeton, county judge, has been named representative of the Governor Martin testimonial committee for this county by J. C. Almsworth, chairman.

Purpose of the committee, as explained by Judge Templeton, is to raise funds to having a recognized artist prepare a bust of Governor Martin for the new state capitol building. The county quota is $30.

"I wish that you would make an appeal through the columns of the Argus for subscriptions," Templeton said this week. "Subscriptions can be turned over to me and I will forward them to the state committee."

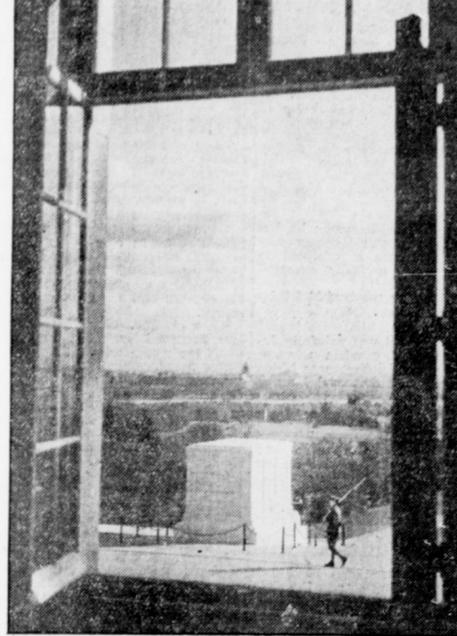

Subscriptions for this purpose also will be accepted at the Argus office.

Wagner Labor Act Discussed at Meet

The Wagner labor relations act was discussed at the Rotary club luncheon Thursday by H. C. Hollister of Portland, secretary of the Independent Bankers association. He pointed out that the act places many inhibitions on the employer, but none on the employee. Hollister said that the act is based on lack of incorporation of unions, is without financial recourse in case of willful destruction of property by striking unions.

W. C. Christensen, who introduced the speaker, declared that independent bankers were faced with a fight against the extension of branch banking beyond state lines. He said that a bill had recently been introduced in congress permitting branch banking to extend throughout the various federal reserve districts.

Guarding Yesterday's Memories

In solemn vigil this honor guard paces the marble tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National cemetery, living memorial to the sacrifices of America's yesterdays.

Auto Accident Mars Plans for School Picnic

Struck by an automobile as he ran from behind a school bus at the union high school Saturday morning, Raymond Eckhardt, 14, is in Jones hospital recovering from severe concussion and fractured skull.

The car was driven by Leon T. Wiley, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Wiley of Hillsboro.

Wiley said he was proceeding at moderate speed, east, past the high school, and had just reached the end and crashed into the side of his automobile.

The boy was rushed to the hospital in the Meltebeke bus by B. M. Goodman, principal, and others at the scene. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Eckhardt of West Jackson street.

The bus was awaiting a load of youngsters bound for the high school freshman picnic and Eckhardt was a member of the freshman class. Eckhardt was unconscious when he arrived at the hospital.

Late Wednesday a slight improvement in the boy's condition was apparent, although he still is unconscious most of the time. He is expected to make a slow recovery.

Car Gas Fatal Portland Man

Dead approximately 10 days, the body of Byron Baker, 40, Portland, was discovered Wednesday afternoon in the front seat of an automobile in a deserted garage near the Walker farm on the Cedar Mills road north of Beaverton. Baker was a former resident of this county, moving with his family to Portland about two weeks ago.

He formerly occupied the buildings where he was discovered. The body was found by William Ryan, who had been working in a cemetery nearby and had come to the deserted farm to view the buildings. An investigation was made by Sheriff John Connell and Coroner Fred Sewell.

Connell reported that Baker apparently had committed suicide by attaching an inner tube to the exhaust pipe and pushing the tube through a hole in the floor of his car.

In the car was a newspaper dated May 18 and a whiskey bottle nearly empty. The man left a note addressed to his family. The body was taken to Pegg's Undertaking parlors in Beaverton.

Court House Hours Will Change June 8

Court house employees, with the exception of circuit court, county court and district attorney, will begin a new schedule of hours June 8. This schedule follows a law passed by the last legislature.

Hours on all days except Saturday will be 8 to 5 o'clock with the offices open during the noon hour. Saturdays, offices will be open from 8 a. m. to 1 p. m. and closed the remainder of the day.

Under this schedule, employees point out, many will work two hours longer per week than before.

Meeting to Discuss Safety Measures

Number of Hillsboro businessmen, Mrs. C. E. Wells, councilwoman, and Mayor J. H. Garrett, will meet tonight (Thursday) at 6:30 in Hillsboro Pharmacy to discuss traffic regulations and safety measures in Hillsboro.

Mrs. Wells plans to organize a safety council among the citizens of Hillsboro in an effort to eliminate safety hazards and accidents.

Jersey Club Stock Show Here June 2

Royalty of County Herds on Display at Fair Grounds Wednesday; 4-H Calf Clubs Will Bring Stock

Royalty of the Jersey herds of Washington county will be on display at the fair grounds in Hillsboro all-day Wednesday, June 2, at the spring show of the Jersey Cattle club. More than 75 head of stock will be on display. The event is the first attempt at a showing in the county, and will take the place of the annual club picnic.

Arrangements are in the hands of a committee of Jersey breeders headed by L. T. Sills and including C. M. Bamford, Elmer Batchelder, and Mr. and Mrs. John Lindow. Judging will be by an expert from Oregon State college at Corvallis.

Special invitation has been extended to 4-H calf club members to exhibit their surplus Jersey calves. All calves exhibited must be from Bang's free herds, the committee ruled.

Other Shows Held

The show is one of several similar events scheduled successively in each county of the state where Jersey breeders are organized. T. R. Warren, field man for the clubs, will be present. Judging is scheduled to begin at 9 a. m.

Officers of the Washington county club includes D. G. Lilly, president; J. J. VanKleeck, vice-president; Mrs. Dave Stover, secretary-treasurer; William Putnam, Jr., secretary-treasurer of the state club. There are about 18 herds represented.

Picnic dinner will be served at noon in the Grange building and all persons interested are invited to bring lunches and join the members. Special invitation has been extended to Hillsboro businessmen.

Prize Cattle Listed

Among royalty to be exhibited is Standard Dandy Sultan, a new herd sire of the John Koppin Jerseys at Gaston for which $700 was paid last fall. There also will be champion cows from the Bamford herd, which has led milk and fat production consistently in the county and state. Junior champion 4-H club heifer and her twin calves, owned by David Hiatt, also will be on display. There also will be other prize animals of the county.

Feature of the display probably will be the ancient herd sire, Madris Tristram St. Mawes owned by Sills. The animal, now 14 years old, was sire of 38 daughters, which averaged 148 pounds of fat in 1936, and also sire of the (Continued on page 2, column 2)

New Industry Opens June 1

Gold Leaf Dairy Products company, something new in Hillsboro industries, will open Tuesday morning in the new Mohr building, just west of the Commercial building on Main street. Proprietors are Richard J. Doherty and Francis S. Barr.

Doherty is an experienced processor of dairy products, while Barr, former employe of The Argus, has been engaged for the past year in the operation of the Ben Franklin store as a partner of Bud Phelps.

Machinery was being installed this week to handle pasteurized milk, buttermilk, chocolate milk, cottage cheese, orangeade, butter, Mellow-Glo cheese, mayonnaise, salad dressings, relishes and other products. The plant is designed to produce milk as the federal milk standards and of Oregon.

Part of the equipment includes a modern pasteurization plant, including bottler and capper, steam sterilizer, and refrigerating system.

The company will also distribute Taylor's Guernsey dairy milk, which will not be pasteurized. It will be produced and bottled at the Taylor dairy, which grades A raw milk, the same milk and quality served their customers for the past five years.

Bowman Elected to State Lodge Office

Edwin M. Bowman, city recorder, was elected grand junior warden at the grand encampment of the Oregon Odd Fellows lodges held May 17 to 20, inclusive, in Portland. About 12 Hillsboro Odd Fellows were in attendance at the sessions.

Mrs. Hugh Lewis of Beaverton was appointed musician of the Rebekah assembly of Oregon.

Two Orchestras, Bands Engaged for "Happy Days" Celebration

Plans for the annual Hillsboro Firemen's "Happy Days" celebration July 3, 4, and 5, continue to move toward the largest summer event in the state.

Two orchestras have been placed under contract already to play in the auditorium in Shute park July 3 and 5, according to Wilbur Dillon, manager of the event. The orchestras are McDonald of the Navy and his Musical Mariners, and Paul Lamoreaux and his musicians, who are heard five times a week over radio station KOIN. A third orchestra still remains to be engaged.

Plan Sunday Event

This year there will be no dancing on Sunday as that day will be devoted to a special program designed to fit the occasion, Dillon said.

Two bands also have already been engaged to furnish music during the three days. They are the Bethany and Sherwood organizations. These bands will be a feature of
