All girls over ten years of age are invited to attend Day Camp in camp Saagawa at MacKenzie park, beginning June 1 and extending for four weeks on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Day Camp is an annual camp held by Girl Scouts in order to let the members enjoy the outdoor program of scouting and to introduce it to the girls, who are interested in joining. Day Camp is free of charge and anyone wishing to attend will find it most interesting.

Argus Founder Dies Monday

Robert Hugh Mitchell, 83, who with the late W. C. Clow founded the Hillsboro Argus in March, 1894, died Monday at his home at Woodland, Wash.

He was born in Marshall county, Illinois, in 1853, and after being engaged in newspaper work here moved to Woodland, Wash., to follow his journalistic career.

Aside from his work he found time to be an active member of the Methodist church of Kalama, the Rebekeah lodge of Kalama, was master of the lodge of Kalama for 10 years, past master of the Covell county Pomona Grange, past chief patriarch of the I. O. O. F. and second grand master of the same group.

Survivors are his widow, Emily Jane; two daughters, Mrs. Jessie Lindquist of Vancouver, and Mrs. Elbert Towne of Longview; three sons, T. P. and S. S. of Woodland, and Royce H. of Woodland.

Value of Small College Cited
Value of a small institution of higher learning to the student and the high type of men and women turned out at Pacific were stressed by Dr. Dobbs, president of Pacific university, in speaking before the Hillsboro Rotarians Thursday, F. L. Brown was chairman.

Dr. Dobbs declared that it was not bigness that makes a college, that Pacific is not competing in the matter of bigness and is not seeking great numbers in students. A sufficient number of students to be efficient is desired, he said. A small institution, declared Dr. Dobbs, can do a better job in education.

He pointed out that in his research he hasn't found a school where such a proportion of its graduates have gained fame. Praising the faculty, Dr. Dobbs declared that there was not a weakling among them.

Walnuts Suggested for Cut-Over Land
Forests of black walnut trees, worth more than the original timber, is the dream of J. F. Tuttle, Hillsboro route 4, who reports that experiments made by himself have convinced him that reforestation of cut over lands is possible with this tree.

Tuttle suggests that plantings on waste lands be organized and the nuts placed in the ground and allowed to develop naturally. Black walnut trees thrive in this climate, he points out, and are in big demand for lumber.

Irland Property Changes Ownership
Robert N. Torbet, cost accountant in the office of J. W. Barney, county highway engineer, has completed purchase of the Lester Ireland dwelling and lot on West Main street next the E. B. Tongue property. Ireland reported this week, Torbet will take possession June 15.

Earl Naught has completed construction of a small store building at the city limits on West Baseline street. Entrances to the store building now are being built from the highway.

Historic Trowel to Serve at Capitol
The laying of seven cornerstones in Oregon, including the post office at Newberg; post office at Marshfield; First Congregational church at The Dalles; court house at Oregon City, the union high school at Sherwood, and city hall at Dallas.

Cornerstone of the first capitol was laid October 8, 1873, with grand lodge ceremonies and Grand Master Thomas Patton handling the trowel. The ceremony June 17 will be the last for Judge Peters as his term of office in the lodge expires with the meeting in Portland and the election of a new grand master.

Pre-school Clinics Close for Summer
Final pre-school clinic was held Wednesday morning and afternoon at the school house in Tualatin when 20 children were given complete physical examinations by Dr. D. C. McDonald, county physician, and Miss Clara Engelbrecht, nurse.

Reports from the tuberculin tests given in Hillsboro schools to 550 pupils, disclosed 26 reactors to the test. These children are receiving further check to determine whether or not the disease now is active.

Local Man Named Judge Taft Contest

W. Verne McKinney of the Argus has been appointed judge of the annual Redhead Roundup contest at Taft, June 20. Royal decree of appointment from his imperial highness, "Eric the Red, Ruler of Tularia," was received this week.

The royal appointment reads: "Having proved himself by many tests to be thoroughly competent to pass judgment on the feminine form and to authoritatively appraise womanly beauty and character, wherever and whenever afforded the opportunity—is hereby appointed a judge."

Higher Prune Price Promised Growers
Reports of a smaller crop of prunes this year, and a smaller crop-over, with a stronger market prospect, brought about a minimum price of $32.50 a ton from the Oregon Prune Control Board, Inc., meeting Tuesday in Salem, this week.

This price is almost double the average of $17 per ton received last year when the top was $20 for 12 or larger prunes, to $12 for 17's or smaller.

Lincoln Production Surpasses Last Year
Production of Lincoln-Zephyr motor cars already has exceeded the entire 1936 production, season by season, according to H. L. MacKenzie, owner of the MacKenzie Motor company of Hillsboro, sales produced 22,000 for 1937. Export sales during the last four months also were up 50 per cent over the total in the same period a year ago.

Drivers' Licenses Blanks Arrive
Blanks for renewal of drivers' licenses may be obtained from the Argus office following receipt this week of a supply. Forms were sent all newspapers in Oregon under the direction of Fred Snell, secretary of state, to aid in their distribution.

Current licenses expire June 30 and consequently little time remains for renewal. It is pointed out. All valid licenses in the state can be renewed without examination providing the applicant has not reached the age of 70 nor suffered any physical disability.

Blanks also may be obtained at the garages and at the sheriff's office.

Snarl Develops in New Dependent Law
Snarl in Social Security board approval of the new Oregon dependent children's assistance law, may bring complication in county funds, it was indicated this week. Payment to mothers of dependent children was repealed under the law effective June 7.

With only $900 in the fund to carry the county for the next seven months, match money from the state and federal governments will be insufficient to meet the situation.

Value of Small College Cited
Value of a small institution of higher learning to the student and the high type of men and women turned out at Pacific were stressed by Dr. Dobbs, president of Pacific university, in speaking before the Hillsboro Rotarians Thursday, F. L. Brown was chairman.

Dr. Dobbs declared that it was not bigness that makes a college, that Pacific is not competing in the matter of bigness and is not seeking great numbers in students. A sufficient number of students to be efficient is desired, he said. A small institution, declared Dr. Dobbs, can do a better job in education.

Walnuts Suggested for Cut-Over Land
Forests of black walnut trees, worth more than the original timber, is the dream of J. F. Tuttle, Hillsboro route 4, who reports that experiments made by himself have convinced him that reforestation of cut over lands is possible with this tree.

Tuttle suggests that plantings on waste lands be organized and the nuts placed in the ground and allowed to develop naturally. Black walnut trees thrive in this climate, he points out, and are in big demand for lumber.

Irland Property Changes Ownership
Robert N. Torbet, cost accountant in the office of J. W. Barney, county highway engineer, has completed purchase of the Lester Ireland dwelling and lot on West Main street next the E. B. Tongue property. Ireland reported this week, Torbet will take possession June 15.
