Two Local Women Attend Camp Fire Leaders' School

Mrs. Hayes L. Bickford and Miss Blanche Britton attended the National Camp Fire training course for leaders of Camp Fire girls from Thursday to Sunday at Camp Timpana on the Sandy river. Miss Edith Kemphorne of New York, a national executive, who has been connected with the Camp Fire girls organization since its beginning 25 years ago, was in charge, and the session was attended by 160 guardians and members of executive councils.

The following states were represented: Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, and California. Special emphasis was placed on the fact that the Camp Fire girls' program leads to a fuller and deeper appreciation of the world in which we live. Joy in activity, and that activity—learning by doing. The Camp Fire program is well adapted to town or country, as the girls are taught to observe, and in that way learn so many interesting things without realizing they are doing anything but having fun.

Miss Aho Bride Richard Schoeler

BLOOMING—The marriage of Miss Gertrude Kivi Aho and Richard Schoeler was performed in St. Peter's Lutheran church Saturday night, Rev. E. W. Hinrichs officiating.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Wayne Aho of Seattle. She was attired in a white satin dress with full-length train. The sleeves, yoke and standing collar of her dress were of lace and she wore a hooded veil of lace and net. Pale yellow roses predominated in the bride's bouquet.

She was attended by Miss Martha Schoeler, the groom's sister, who wore a dress of pink net with pink flowers in her hair. The bridesmaids, Miss Bertha and Irene Aho, wore dresses of pink and blue lace. Each of the attendants carried a dainty bouquet of pink flowers. Walter Reese served as best man and Theodore Pfahl and Paul Koppelman as groomsmen. Myrtle Hinrichs carried a white basket and strewn white rose petals in the path of the bride. She was dressed in white and wore a bandeau of tiny white flowers in her hair. Richard Moeller Jr. was also dressed entirely in white and carried the ring in the heart of a flower atop a white cushion. The ushers were Philip Beaverton and Willard Wilson.

Richard Moeller Sr. played the professional. Mrs. E. W. Hinrichs sang "A Song of Faith" by Galbraith, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Carl Schlotman. The church was decorated with roses, blue delphiniums, gladioli and greens, and crepe paper bows of blue, pink, yellow and white adorned the end of each pew.

Photographs of the bride, the bride and groom, and the entire wedding party, taken in the church before the altar.

About 125 persons attended the reception held in the church basement after the ceremony. Many beautiful flowers were presented to the couple. A large wedding cake trimmed with white rosebuds and topped with a miniature bride and groom stood on a table under a large white bell. The basement was attractively decorated with pink, blue, yellow and white crepe paper.

Refreshments were served by Misses Melba and Alda Edman, Ruth Lind and Virginia Kraemer and Mildred Meyer.
