

Local Savings Firms Surpass U. S. Increases

Washington Savings and Loan association of Hillsboro is just in receipt of statistics from the Federal Home Loan Bank board of Washington, D. C., showing a healthy increase in all Oregon savings and loan associations. The Washington Savings and Loan association and Tualatin Valley Federal Savings and Loan association have made a much greater increase than the combined record, as shown by the report from Washington, according to J. M. Person, manager.

The report released is as follows: An improved financial position and heightened activity for Oregon savings, building and loan associations in 1936, as compared with 1935, is shown in a consolidated report issued today by the Federal Home Loan Bank board. For 1936 the report covers 38 thrift and home-financing institutions, both state and federally chartered.

Steady Gain Shown Combined assets of the institutions climbed from $18,228,000 in 1935 to $19,967,000 in 1936. Home mortgage loans outstanding increased from $10,855,000 to $13,398,000, a gain of 23.4 per cent, and a reflection of the rise in the volume of home building recorded in the state during 1936, which amounted to over 238 per cent. A jump of 46 per cent in the item "incomplete loans" is due to the greater number of mortgages on homes which were under construction.

Real estate owned by these units decreased by over 28 per cent, showing a liquidation of assets usually classified as slow, as well as a stronger residential real estate market. The accounts of investors in these associations increased from $16,197,000 to $17,627,000 over the year.

Annual County Fair Receives Support Here

Hillsboro businessmen this week continued to testify to the support of the county fair in September. Mer quotations will be given next week.

Halvorson Motor Co.: "An event such as the 1937 fair, that last year attracted 10,000 visitors, is an event that every business man should back to the limit, and we are very glad to encourage and support such an enterprise."

Perfecton Bakery: "Business concerns of Hillsboro should feel grateful to the 4-H clubs, Farmers' Unions and Granges for their continued efforts in making the Washington county fair a success. We pledge to them our sincere co-operation."

Sproule-Reitz Co.: "C. C. Webber, manager: 'In connection with the Washington county fair the 4-H club work should be encouraged and should have the whole-hearted support of the Hillsboro business men.'"

J. W. Kelley, manager Hotel Washington: "The Washington county fair is an outstanding institution as a means of creating interest to the farmer, orchardist, dairyman, businessman, in Washington county possible citizens of the community."

R. H. Tisdale, manager Hillsboro branch, First National bank: "Our Washington county fair has many worthwhile benefits to the county including encouragement to the many young 4-H club workers. It deserves the wholehearted help and co-operation of every businessman in the county."

Cady Motor company: "We think Washington county fair important and necessary and a benefit to all 4-H members. It also gives them some real competition to place for prizes and we should all work to make this a larger and better fair."

R. W. Well: "What interests the farmer is the county fair. We are one hundred per cent behind the Washington county fair. Let's all pull together for a bigger and better fair, and help build up our 4-H club members as outstanding citizens of the community."

Harry Bates, Hillsboro Pharmacy: "I expect a fair that helps outdoor communities and boosts Washington county, should be supported by Hillsboro businessmen."

Thomas H. Bailey, manager Portland Gas & Coke company branch: "In my opinion of the most worthwhile activities in this community is the Washington county fair held every year at our local Shute park. It is through the participation of the exhibitors of raw and finished materials of the county that further the development and prestige, not only in our own minds, but in those of our visiting neighbors. Furthermore, the young folk of the county derive both education and personal instruction in vocational and avocational work at this yearly exhibition."

C. T. Richardson, manager Carnation company: "I sincerely believe that the development of the dairy industry in this county owes a lot to the work done by the 4-H clubs. More progress has been made in the past ten years than during the previous twenty or thirty, and I believe the effects of the dairy development along this line will have the continued, and thorough backing of all future fair boards."

We are wholeheartedly behind this movement, and wish to congratulate those who have given so much influence to the work already in the progress made.

The showing of the cattle, by 4-H club members, is the best way that these young dairymen can show the public the effects of their labors. We sincerely trust that the development along this line will have the continued, and thorough backing of all future fair boards."

"Autocides" Loom Homeicides totaled five in Portland last year, suicides 22, "Autocides" 72.

River Claims Two as Mercury Rises

(Continued from page 1) brought to the scene. The body was recovered by Alized Reese and John Hara of Blooming about 6:30 o'clock, 30 feet from where the victim sank, and in 16 feet of water.

The boys were alone at the swimming hole, Robert related.

Charles Frederick Newman was born February 5, 1921, in Hoquiam, Wash., and came to this county with his parents 14 years ago. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon from the Donelson & Sewell chapel in Hillsboro with burial in the Blooming cemetery.

He is survived by his parents and brothers, John Robert and Lester.

Metzger Man Drowns Alsen sank to his death Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock, 100 feet down stream from the highway bridge at Roamer's Rest near Tigard. He had entered the water immediately after a heavy meal and it is believed that he may have suffered a cramp. His clothing was found on the bank.

Efforts immediately were begun to recover the body and Tuesday a professional diver was brought to the scene to search the river bottom.

About 10 o'clock, the diver, Fred Divine of Portland, located the body in 20 feet of water at the spot where Alsen was last seen by his companion, Robert Denman, who was with him when he sank. Coronor Fred J. Sewell was called before the boy was brought out of the water.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Alsen of Metzger and had been employed in the McNeil, Libby & McNeil packing plant in Portland, where he was a checker.

Portlander Injured W. J. Sleigher, 49, Portland, suffered concussion and head injuries Monday afternoon at the Churchley road a mile west of Reedville, when the car in which he was riding with Harry A. Anderson, also of Portland, crashed into the rear left end of a truck driven by Joseph DeFrestos. Sleigher was thrown against the windshield, but Anderson escaped with minor bruises.

Battery Seeks More Recruits

Battery "E" Hillsboro, recently organized, is awaiting equipment expected to arrive this month, according to Capt. Arthur Kroeger, commander, who also is seeking 10 more recruits to bring his command to full peacetime strength. Two good cooks are wanted in the next batch of recruits.

Following the recent muster, six members of the new command, all members of former headquarters company, 162nd Infantry, Second Battalion, were recommended to take the examination for officers. The battery required two more second lieutenants.

Recruits, taken in after the order to organize, rapidly are being taught the rudiments of drill and are expected to present a good appearance at inspections during the coming encampment in August.

ICE CREAM—FOR EVERY DAY USE

A new method for keeping ice cream in the automatic refrigerator has just been developed. Now you can purchase your favorite ice cream any time, store it in your automatic refrigerator and have it ready to serve whenever you want it. It is time-saving and economical, so much simpler than making it. The results will delight you.

As these are the simple directions: As soon as the ice cream is brought in, line a thoroughly chilled cube tray with waxed paper, run a spatula around in the inside of the carton in which the ice cream was purchased, turn into the tray in one lump, slice through the center, folding one-half the ice cream to each side of tray, smooth off, place in freezing compartment until ready to use. When ready to use lift ice cream from tray with the waxed paper, slice and serve.

To insure best results, follow the freezing directions of your automatic refrigerator. In most refrigerators ice cream may be kept from 12 to 24 hours or longer.

After all, ice cream is more than a delicious and refreshing dessert, it is one way of "eating" milk. It is milk prepared into a dish that is bound to find favor with everyone. Both inexpensive and delightful, it offers a wide variety of desserts.
