Big Trees Felled to Construct Barn

J. W. Gates Jr. of Lelyville and his father have nearly completed a Louden gable roof barn, 40 feet by 72 feet long with concrete foundation. It is 35 feet from mow floor to the rafters, with no obstruction in the center. The hay capacity of the barn is more than 100 tons. Early in the spring Gates bought stumpage and contracted the lumber to be cut. The barn took from 20 to 25 complete trees, making about 52,000 feet of lumber. The shingles were purchased from one of the local shingle mills. The barn is what is called a double, with one end for 20 cows. The dairy portion will have all modern conveniences, such as drinking cups and steel stanchions, with the cows facing toward the wall. The other end will have horse stalls and granary. The barn is fixed so that one may drive through the center. Gates has a swing for mowing hay.

The guests departed Sunday for the Olympics, and after visiting relatives in Seattle, will return home by way of Spokane, Calgary, Lake Louise and Banff, expecting to reach Chicago in two weeks. Gordon came loaded with fishing tackle and plans to try the streams of the northwest.

Scenes Re-enacted at Pageant

Scenes like the above, taken from the real-life drama of Oregon's early pioneer history, will be re-enacted by a cast of 2000 persons on July 22, 23 and 24 when the city of Eugene presents its triennial Oregon Trail Pageant celebration in honor of the hardy people who settled the Oregon country.

General Relief Ends in County

All general assistance for relief to Washington county families will be suspended at once under an order being carried out by the Hillsboro relief office, according to R. W. Weil, chairman of the county relief committee. The shut-down, which is for an indefinite period, is because of the exhaustion of county funds budgeted at $9,000 for this year. The fund now is $2,000 overdrawn.

"If it were not for administration of three federal projects," Weil said Wednesday, "the office would be entirely closed. These projects are old age, dependent children, and blind assistance."

During the closed period all general assistance cases will be given a thorough review with a view to closing as many as possible to relief, and transferring as many as possible to the care of their relatives, Weil said.

In closing the general assistance funds, payment of all rents, lights and water bills will be eliminated. Alice Maxwell, administrator for the county, said.

"The budget for this type of aid," Miss Maxwell related, "was exhausted before June 1, and the emergency fund is not large enough to carry general assistance and the county home expenses both."

New Grand Jury Completes Work

Completing its first session Tuesday afternoon, the new Washington county grand jury returned seven true bills, three of the indictments being secret.

The four open indictments were brought against Clarence Beard, Aloha, statutory; B. E. Waldorf, statutory, and two against Warren Wahner, charging reckless driving, and assault on Bruce Adams, Aloha. All are under arrest, or on bail.

In circuit court, the trial of Glenn W. Emrich against the State Industrial commission on an appeal from an award by the commission, began Monday and closed Wednesday. Emrich alleged that he had been permanently injured by a logging accident and had been denied full compensation.

Ruling Upheld

Under a ruling of the state supreme court, filed here this week, decision of Judge R. Frank Peters, in the case of George B. Ledford against Mark Skinner as superintendent of banks, was upheld.

The suit was brought to test the question of disposal of funds left over when all savings deposits of the defunct Shute Savings bank had been liquidated. Judge Peters ruled that such surplus must be turned over to the commercial department of the bank to liquidate claims of depositors in that department.

Contention of plaintiff was that the surplus in savings should be applied to pay interest on savings deposits from the time the bank closed.

New cases filed in circuit court this week include State Industrial Accident commission vs. Troy L. Kay to collect insurance premium alleged due; C. Jones, administrator estate Laura J. Slayman, deceased, vs. Mary L. Smith.

Grand jury selected Monday included three men from Hillsboro. Members are E. C. Brown, Guy Powers, Albert Spiering, Earl E. Fisher and Louis Houshon of Beaverton, and Ray Chase, Hillsboro route 4. Fisher is chairman.

Rene Ardeel and Bessie Larigan, held on a morals charge, were arraigned Monday morning and pleaded guilty. Sentence was postponed by Judge Peters until some future date pending good behavior.

Orders filed this week in probate court include Stephen Sell, Ervilia Tigard, T. A. Martz, Pauline Von-Platen Avery, Noah Dick Jamison, Malissa A. Dodds, Edward L. Naylor.

Land Grant Money Assured in New Law

Restoration of federal payments, in lieu of taxes on O & C grant lands in this county, were in sight again this week with the passage in Washington of a new law, according to Judge Donald T. Templeton of the county court.

Under this law, which now is in the senate, the county will receive about the same amount as under the Stanley act, which was between $3500 and $4000. Templeton said. The law also assures payment of approximately $10,000 in funds held up for more than two years.

C. I. O. Grows Rapidly to Become Powerful Rival of A. F. of L.

WASHINGTON.—The C. I. O. has grown so fast, that while it is a recognized rival of the A. F. of L., technically it is little more than its name implies, a Committee for Industrial Organizations.

The C. I. O. has no constitution and it has held no national convention. It hasn't had time yet to settle the question of the future relationship of the international and local unions. There has been no time for these details in the short turbulent life of the organizing committee which has grown and spread rapidly and is sending down roots of a national central organization of labor unions. There no longer seems the slightest chance of a reconciliation with the A. F. of L.

The C. I. O. sprouted last March when in a full meeting authority was given for the issuance of certificates of affiliation to national, international, state, regional, city central and other local groups.

International unions affiliated have begun to pay per capita dues to C. I. O. Just as they used to pay them to A. F. of L. There are some 227 local industrial unions which have been chartered since March in various industries, but are not covered by the 26 national and international unions affiliated with C. I. O. so they are responsible to the central C. I. O. and pay per capita dues to it.

WHEN the plans of the committee conflicted more and more with those of the A. F. of L., the committee and most of the unions it represented broke away from the federation.

The A. F. of L. has a complex constitution with a system of voting strength allotted to federal unions, city centrals and international unions which has been worked out over many years. So far, the C. I. O. has no such equipment. Many small local unions which have affiliated with the C. I. O., but their relationship in voting strength has yet to be settled. The relationship of unions claiming the same field is complex and must be untangled. But this is in the future.

C. I. O. is still a committee, accepting new members as national and international unions and their leaders volunteer to join. But this group will not and cannot continue for long that way.

SIMILAR to the state federations or central labor unions of the A. F. of L., the C. I. O. has some 30 industrial union councils to which it has given charters.

Beginning with eight affiliated international unions, the C. I. O. now claims to be adding about one a week, and about 10 local industrial unions every 10 days.

ment where Earl was washing the noon dishes.

Pointing the gun at his friend, he again pulled the trigger and nothing happened. Earl remonstrated and declared he would take the gun away unless Lyle stopped pointing it at people. Again Lyle pulled the trigger and this time the shell exploded.

Calls Dr. Robb

Frightened by what happened, Lyle called Dr. J. O. Robb, and the young ambulance was sent to the apartments for the wounded lad.

At Jones hospital, where Earl was taken, four doctors immediately set to work to repair the damage. The boy rallied nicely from the operation. Dr. Robb reported.

This is the second accidental shooting in the county this summer, the other being Norman and Merle Meyers, 12 and 14, both punctured by the same bullet in an accident with a companion on Pumpkin Ridge June 6.

The bullet which shot Estep is declared by Mrs. Raynor to be the same bullet which came with the play-gun, and an investigation is to be made by state police to determine whether or not the Portland store was supplying real bullets instead of make-believe.

Bread Is NOT Fattening!

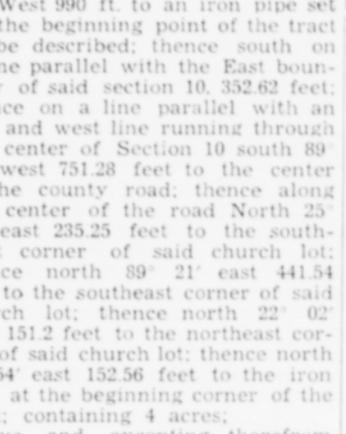

It is your best food Eat more of it!

Bread is often incorrectly called a "Fattening Food." The fact that bread is high in Food Energy does not mean that it alone will produce overweight. The control of weight depends solely on the amount of Food-Energy intake of the diet as a whole, not on any one specific food in the diet. Bread is used by those who are reducing weight under their physician's instructions. Remember, you should never think of bread as a fattening food but as a food high in Food-Energy.

No food is entirely complete in itself—a combination of various foods is necessary to supplement the deficiencies of each. A reduction in total calories per day does not mean the elimination of any or all basic foods.
