

Legion Juniors Blast Hope of Championship

Overshadowed by unlucky breaks, Hillsboro Legion Juniors saw their hopes of a district championship go to pot Saturday afternoon when Woodburn, champions of Marion county, battled through to a 6-1 victory. The game was hard fought from start to finish, with Hillsboro getting several bad breaks on base running and fielding.

Without score to the first of the third inning a couple of 5-4 throws to first base, allowed Woodburn to score once. A long hit to right field scored another man, and a third was ruled out when the baserunner failed to touch third base.

Hillsboro made its first threat to score in the last of the fifth when Ketchum, shortstop, banged out a long one to strike the left field fence for a two-bagger, and a home run by inches. He made third base and died there.

Hillsboro again threatened in the last of the sixth, after Love held the Woodburn batters in one, two, three order. Taylor hit and went to second base on a sacrifice bunt and made third base on a sacrifice by Kerkman. The inning closed with the locals still scoreless.

In the seventh, Woodburn went into scoring position with one man on, and a fumbled bunt allowing the second man up to reach first safely. Third man at bat was thrown out at first by Love on a bunt, and then Love walked the fourth man, filling the bases. The next man struck out and the sixth, Woodburn player, hit bat hit a grounder to Ketchum, at short, and was thrown out at first.

Love, first man up in the last of the seventh, hit an infield grounder and was safe at first on a fumble. He stole second base Ketchum fled out to left field and LaPorte struck out and Schlegel knocked a short fly for an out.

Hillsboro came out in the eighth to make a lone score when Jansen went to first on an error at short, stole second and scored on a high fly dropped by the second baseman.

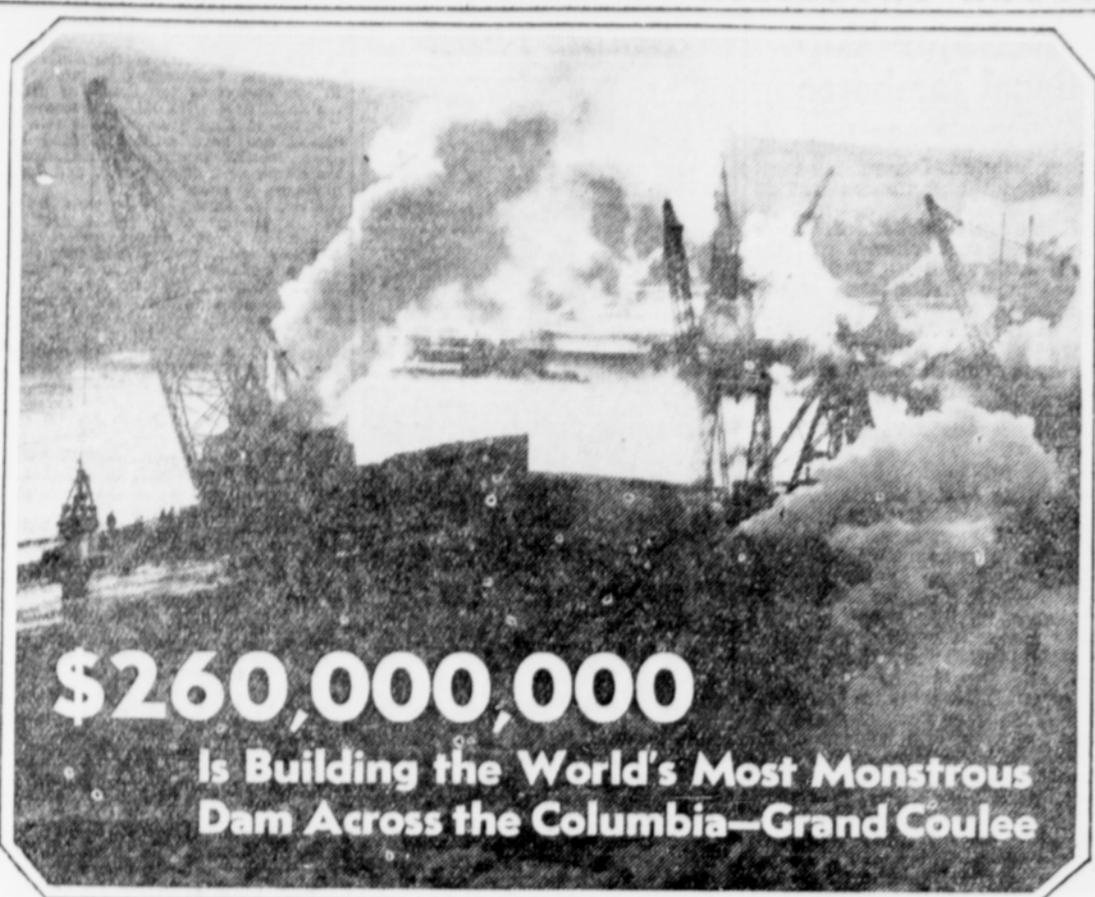

The disastrous inning was the last, when the first Woodburn man to bat hit a ground ball through second base. Next man went out on a foul caught by Kerkman, and the third man hit through Bishop at second. The next man hit to make three on, and Woodburn scored once on a fumbled high fly. The next hit, to drop right field against the fence, brought in three scores.

Hillsboro, with two hits in the last of the ninth, was unable to score again.

Both Love, Hillsboro hurler, and Jeli, Woodburn pitcher, were even on hits, while Love had the edge on the number of walks.

Game which was to have been played here Thursday with Dallas was forfeited when Dallas failed to show up.

Lineup for Hillsboro was Ketchum, rf; LaPorte, ss; Sahnou, 3b; Steele, lf; Jansen, cf; Taylor, 1b; Kerkman, c; Bishop, 2b; Love, p. Kerkman was substituted for Steele at left field in the last two innings.

$260,000,000 Is Building the World's Most Monstrous Dam Across the Columbia—Grand Coulee

Dense clouds of smoke fill the sky, and hissing jets of steam pierce the air daily, as huge cranes and excavators swing into action on the Coulee dam site. The striking photo above captures the full spirit of the Coulee project.

COULEE CITY, Wash.—The staccato rat-tat of compressed air drills; the creaking of gigantic winches; the muffled roar of exploding dynamite charges; the dull, steady throbbing of powerful pump machinery—

And 4000 tolling human beings, appearing almost microscopic against the setting in which they work.

That's Grand Coulee, the colossal engineering project which, when finished, will be the largest dam in the world. More than that, it will be the largest man-made structure of all time, surpassing even the Great Pyramid of Egypt.

Since time immemorial, man has found it to his advantage to harness the power of nature and the elements, and today as an army of laborers swarm over this huge dam-site, engineers visualize the greatest possibilities for hydro-electric power in North America.

Rising at the north end of a weirdly beautiful natural setting, Grand Coulee is a chasm carved by the Columbia river in a prehistoric age. It is 50 miles long, two to six miles wide, and varies in height from 600 to 800 feet. Ninety-two miles west of Spokane, the project itself is in the hands of the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation, Department of Interior, and the cost of construction is expected to exceed $260,000,000.

What then are the facts behind its inception, and the benefits to which it will give rise? This is the picture:

When farms first sprang up in the Columbia river basin during the settlement of the great northwest, the land was fertile, crops were plentiful and rich. And then the rainfall dwindled, fell off to nothing. Agriculture in the territory became "dry-farming."

The farmers themselves became known as "dust-eaters," and for good reason. Today, there are 1,200,000 acres of arid but potentially fertile land waiting to bear crops again—when Grand Coulee is finished.

Although the immediate need for the huge dam is a source of water supply, three purposes are evident. They are:

1.—To irrigate the entire Columbia basin for farming.

2.—To provide thousands of kilowatts of waterpower for industrial use.

3.—To act as key unit in a 10-dam exploitation of the basin proposed by United States Army engineers.

On July 27, 1933, the PWA appropriated $63,000,000 to start work, and on Sept. 25, 1934, the signal to go into action was given. As a result of the tremendous undertaking, cities and towns mushroomed overnight in the area.

Largest of these communities are Coulee Dam and Mason City, where the greater part of the laborers reside.

Nor is theirs a rough makeshift form of life. Neat, modern homes have been built. Complete electrification and modern conveniences have been installed, and facilities for recreation and relaxation have been developed to the utmost.

Actual work on the project assumes tremendous proportions. To cite a few examples:

1.—Grand Coulee will be 500 feet high, 4300 feet wide, 500 feet thick at the base and 36 feet thick at the top.

2.—Sixteen million cubic yards of dirt and rock will be excavated.

3.—Eleven million two hundred thousand cubic yards of concrete will be poured (enough to build a solid column as large as a city block and almost twice as high as the Empire State building).

4.—It will impound waters of the Columbia river to form a lake 151 miles long, holding 5,000,000 acre feet of water, the deepest spot of which will be almost 300 feet.

Several years will be needed to build Grand Coulee dam. Several years will pass before this vast store of water and power is marshalled for use for hundreds of miles around.

Only then can the results of the time and expense involved be measured.

of this number 13 children already have been born.

In the work among the children there have been 143 complete examinations of infant and pre-school children at special clinics held in various parts of the county, Miss Engebretsen reported.

During the school year, 2217 school inspections have been made which include personal or group contacts with the children by the nurses. Dr. McDonald, also made 51 individual examinations, and 429 office visits were made by the school officers.

Among the numerous office calls, 174 cases of chronic disease have been treated and the physician in charge has made 19 examinations for insanity. Under the set-up of last year, the part time health officer received $5 for each insanity examination.

Thirty-five picnic grounds and auto camps in the county have been examined this year by Dr. McDonald.

Then it was discovered that the Perfection Bakery and the Royal Soda Works clinched the first half pennants in the county and city softball leagues, respectively, last week by swamping their opponents by lopsided scores. The Bakers dumped the Cornelius "Venetians" 11 to 2, while the Soda Works hammered out a 16-to-7 win over Irelands.

Feature game of the week was Battery "E's" last inning victory over Blooming Wednesday. The soldiers trailed all through the game and went into the last half of the seventh on the short end of a 12-to-8 score. Five runners crossed the plate in the final frame to keep Battery "E" in second place.

Ray-Maling Wins
Ray-Maling broke into the win column the same evening with an upset 16-to-12 victory over the Men's Shop. The canners hammered their way to an impressive 16-to-5 lead in seven innings but weakened in the last of the seventh to yield seven runs to the Men's Shop.

Bunching their runs in the last two innings, the Royal Soda Works crew trounced Irelands 16 to 7 Friday night. Wayne Patterson and E. Schumacher smacked homers for the winners, while Baker and Deck duplicated the feat for Irelands. B. E. Maling turned back Bergeren & Johnson the same night 12 to 2, both winning pitchers displayed plenty of stuff.

Monday night Ray J. Mann downed Cady Motor 9 to 2 while the Perfection was taking the number of Cornelius "Venetians" 11 to 2. Both winning pitchers displayed plenty of stuff.

Final Score Close
The Men's Shop nosed out Cady Motor 12 to 11 Thursday night in the benefit double-header game. Battery "E" took the special challenge tilt from Ray J. Mann 9 to 6 after trailing 1 to 5 at the end of four innings. Seven runs in the fifth frame gave the soldiers a winning margin. Dillon turned in a four-base hit for Battery "E."

Final games in the first half of the season will be played Friday night. Ray J. Mann and the Men's Shop close the city league schedule, while Blooming and B. E. Maling will clash in the county league final.

The health department has performed 13 major and 22 minor operations at the county hospital and cared for 2 fractures while 70 medical cases have been cared for there.

Taking a schedule of public clinic prices for the various services performed free of charge by the new department approximately $5136 has been saved had all of operations, office calls, medical care, vaccinations and births been referred by the county to medical clinics, other hospitals, or placed under the care of private physicians, it is pointed out.

All of this still fails to tell the story of what is taking place in the department's drive against tuberculosis in the county. As the days pass and more cases of this disease are traced down, it becomes evident that numerous lives in the future will depend on the thorough investigation and handling of each new case.

For example, the plight of one family recently discovered, is cited by Miss Engebretsen. Here, before the advent of the new department, a tuberculosis test revealed a child with symptoms of the disease. The case was not followed through to the county hospital, a new unit had been made to function.

Then it was discovered that the

Baby Carriage, Car Sold on Ads

E. G. Paine has had such good results in recent weeks with Argus classified ads that he is convinced that it pays to advertise. A 32c ad sold a used automobile for him on the Saturday after publication for $175 and another small ad, published twice at a cost of 25c each, sold a used baby carriage for $12.50.

Many others are having the same success that Mr. Paine is having. The cost is small and a few trials will convince the most skeptical. The Argus classified page reaches thousands of readers each week and truly furnishes "The Great Market Place of Washington County."

There are a lot of things around every place that are no longer wanted by the owner, but might be desired by others. A few cents on classified may bring in quite a bit of spare change.

Without indemnity payments, it is said, American flour exports to the Philippines would have been extremely small. The purpose of this program is to reduce a regional surplus of wheat in the Pacific northwest and to regain a normal United States flour market.

Including office service and visits to schools in all parts of the county, there were 1296 tests given for tuberculosis and 45 x-ray pictures taken. Of the children tested a considerable number of early cases of tuberculosis were found and several have been assisted in making application for admission to the state sanatorium.

There have been 2046 vaccinations for small pox given in the county and 190 immunizations for diphtheria, both in office treatments and visits to the schools. The nurses and doctor also interviewed and examined 29 pre-natal cases in the office and
