BLITZ-WEINHARD BEER
SINCE 1856, when Henry Weinhard first produced his fine beer in the 10-barrel brew kettle shown above, the Blitz-Weinhard Company has been keeping pace with the constant growth and development of the Pacific Northwest. In contrast is pictured the huge 15,000-gallon brew kettle in use today, the largest brew kettle west of St. Louis. The above scene shows the addition of Northwest hops to a brew. Through 81 years of steady growth of this modern brewery, the Blitz-Weinhard Company has adhered rigidly to the principles of its founder: FINE BEER, CAREFULLY BREWED. Since 1856, this Northwest Beer has been made from Northwest products, for Northwest people. Scenes below illustrate cleanliness and care with which Blitz-Weinhard Beer is made. Always a refreshing thirst-quencher, Blitz-Weinhard Beer is available on draft or in Steinies at better dealers everywhere throughout the Northwest. Order it by the case today.
