Republicans View Hare as Candidate

Hillsboro Attorney Draws Support from Prominent G. O. P. Editor; Regarded Leading Senate Timber

The name of William G. Hare, Hillsboro attorney and prominent Oregon republican, was injected into the state political situation recently scrambled by the announced retirement of Fred Steiwer, United States senator.

As leaders of the G. O. P. eyed possible candidates to succeed Steiwer, a half-dozen personalities came to the fore and Hare was listed as one of the probable front-runners, by no less an authority than C. C. Chapman, Portland editor and republican.

"William G. Hare, one of the leading attorneys of Oregon, a native of Hillsboro," Chapman was quoted as saying, "has the caliber and force of character that would be likely to make him an outstanding figure in the United States senate were he elected."

Legislative Record Good

Clayton Hovey, legislative record, Chapman goes on to say: "Hare represented Washington county in the Oregon house of representatives and in the Oregon state senate, serving with distinction in both chambers."

He spoke seldom, but when he did speak he spoke after preparation and was a major factor in every debate in which he was engaged. His integrity was never questioned and he was respected for firmness in his convictions. Having grown up and practiced law in his native city he shared and felt the viewpoint of rural Oregon rather than that of the metropolis, and on several occasions he fought and won for which he was leading city attorney they did not understand only to have to bite the dust of the legislative chamber under the doughty cudgeling administered by the country lawyer.

"In republican politics, Hare has been with the faction represented by Col. A. E. Clark, the late George W. Joseph and the late Julius L. Meier, his attitude may be described as against the big corporations while he has been on the left as the accept much of the LaFollette-Norris program."

Would Fill Needs

"Oregon always could feel pride in Hare in the United States senate."

Hare, informed of Chapman's statement, did not commit himself. "I am too busy with my law practice and cutting brush to make any statement," declared Hare.

A number of other candidates have presented themselves, most of whom, like Barkis, are "willing." Active candidates for Steiwer's place are known to be Guy C. Condon of Roseburg and prominent American Legion man, and Homer Angell, sharp-tongued state senator from Portland.

James Mott, United States representative from this district, told friends here last week that he had no intention of running for senator. He made this emphatically known, although he was, and is being mentioned as an outstanding candidate.

Likewise remaining out of the picture for the time being is Earl Snell, popular secretary of state, who has a large number of friends.

State Representative O. Henry Oleen of St. Helens, three times elected from Columbia county, announces candidacy for democratic nomination for governor. His campaign was disclosed Saturday night at the Clackamas county home of Howard F. Latourette, democratic national committee man. A number of those present was Senator E. L. Ross of Washington county.

Grangers Hit Spotted Fever

A resolution urging control of the spotted fever menace was passed Wednesday at Tualatin by Pomona Grange, Washington county, and will be sent to the Oregon legislature. The resolution is confined to the control of the wood tick that enters the state with sheep and cattle shipments.

Another resolution, to congress, was passed asking that crop control not be enacted inasmuch as foreign agricultural products are allowed to enter this country.

The meeting was attended by 178 grangers. Next Pomona session will be held at Gale Grange, Forest Grove, in January. Winona Grange, hosts for the occasion, presented the program. Following the program, 10 candidates were taken into Pomona.

Mrs. H. R. Hudson resigned as Pomona secretary, and Mrs. A. L. Whitaker of Leedy Grange was elected to fill her place.

U. Frosh Battle Hillsboro Alumni Eleven

Game Scheduled Tonight on Local Grid-iron for Benefit of Hilhi Lights; 'Gigantic' Between Two Elevens Predicted on Slate as Graduates Round Up Promising Crew

Alumni football players of Hillsboro union high school, coming out from retirement long enough to play for the benefit of the lights on Hilhi field, will meet Orv Oleen's Pacific university freshmen Thursday (tonight) at 8.

Boasting an impressive array of former prep and collegiate stars, the alumni are confident of carrying the battle to the P. U. yearlings, who have enjoyed fair success this year.

A backfield headed by Don Batchelor, former Linfield university lumbar, looms as the alumni hope in the freshman contest. He will alternate with Les Batchelor at left half position, where their all-around ability is expected to spark the alumni offense.

Backfield Listed

Jack Rushlow, alumni coach, will share fullback duties with Thwaites while either Cook or Torbet will open at quarterback. Wahner is expected to play right half.

A strong forward wall has been lined up. Shattuck and Grozan will start at ends. L. E. Schumacher at tackles, Coslett and Goodin at guards and Stout at center.

Education Week in Hillsboro Opens Monday

"American Education Week" will be observed in Hillsboro next week, according to plans released by J. W. Poynter, superintendent of schools, and the Parent-Teacher association.

The week set aside begins November 7 and closes November 13. The first of the week school work will be carried on in regular fashion and no special programs will be given in the grade schools.

"It is the regular work, day by day, that counts and we can see no special virtue in stopping any special programs," Poynter declared.

Parent-Teacher association has arranged for a program and tea at the high school Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, following the first of the week school work. Dr. F. J. Leasure of Portland, city director of vocational education, will be the speaker, and his topic will be "Training Our Children."

The P-T-A. is also sponsoring programs and teas at the grade schools Monday and Tuesday afternoons.

The P-T-A. has taken special efforts to bring out a large attendance of parents to view daily class work, by offering a prize to the Hillsboro school with the largest number of visitors during American Education week.

Schools Close

Both the grade school and high school will remain open Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, when visitors are urged to attend. Schools will be closed on Armistice day, when teachers will visit other schools but the high school will remain open.

"We want our visitors to survey the week with a critical eye, and we shall be glad to hear suggestions," Poynter said. "Teachers will discuss the special effort to answer questions about procedures that visitors do not understand."

"To do that effectively," he said, "we will ask visitors to stay until the day's work is over that they may sit in a 'huddle' with the teachers to discuss the items that bring questions to their mind."

"The importance of public education to the welfare of American democracy has been recognized throughout the history of the United States," Poynter declared.

Bank Remodeling Features Two Reinforced Vaults, Six-ton Door

A $14,000 remodeling project at the Commercial National bank was well under way this week, with bank officials predicting that repairs would be finished by the first week of December.

Installation of two new vaults to replace the old vault torn out by a repair crew was in the closing stages, and remodeling of the lobby will start soon.

The area formerly occupied by the vault will now be combined with the lobby to provide more room. There will be space for five paying and receiving windows and one note window, where formerly there were only three windows.

Mayor Urges United Action on Airport

Organization CityWide Committee is Initial Step to Push Completion of Local Aviation Project

Initial steps to revive interest in Hillsboro's uncompleted "airport" have been taken with the call of Mayor J. H. Garrett for the formation of a citizens' committee.

Garrett indicated that he would talk with officers of leading organizations in an effort to sound out public opinion on the topic.

"It would be a shame to let this project fail for lack of action," he asserted, referring to the 100 acres northeast of Hillsboro, which has seen considerable development.

The city's lease on this land expires in February, 1939, and action in the near future is imperative, Garrett declared.

Procedure Told

Here is the method of procedure outlined by Garrett:

The leading organizations of Hillsboro would appoint representatives to a city-wide committee that would draw up a program, pointing to the eventual completion of the project. Members of the airport committee would be those who have a strong interest in aviation matters and airport development.

There has been no concerted action on the airport site since the federal government spent $20,000 on the project, Garrett pointed out. Expressing faith in the value that Hillsboro and Washington county would receive from an airport, Garrett denied "impracticable" aspects of the proposition.

Private Co-operation Urged

While the city council has fathered the project to its present status, Garrett said that the council is anxious to get private organizations actively interested in the airport situation.

Furthermore, it appeared that the city government would not care to assume any further financial responsibility without consent of the taxpayers.

A few weeks ago the Aviation club appeared before the council, asking permission to go ahead on "building" repairs. The council did not act on the offer and the status of the airport property remains unsettled.

Car Plunges 60 Feet, Man Hurt

Failure to see a turn on the Scoggins Valley road early Monday morning brought near tragedy to Vernon Blair, 43, of Gaston route 1, and his companion, Lee Stevens, 61.

Stevens was brought to Hillsboro, where physicians said he had suffered serious internal injuries and fractured ribs, received a bad eye cut and bruises.

The accident occurred a mile east of Stinson's mill. The car rolled and turned over one and a half times.

On Thursday afternoon, near Beaverton, Mack Caddell of Portland route 6, who was riding a motorcycle, received a compound fracture of his left leg when the automobile driven by Dr. J. B. Dinsmore, Caddell was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital. His companion, Charlotte Sullivan, and Dr. Dinsmore escaped with bruises and cuts.

Mrs. S. E. Fayram sustained several broken ribs and a broken finger as the result of a collision at 8:30 Friday morning between her car and Mrs. Marie Dinsmore's car at the intersection of Third avenue and Lincoln street. Mrs. Fayram, the only occupant of the car, was driving west on Lincoln, and Mrs. Dinsmore, accompanied by her little son Tommy, was driving north on Third. Mrs. Dinsmore and son were slightly bruised and shocked. Both cars were badly damaged, the impact sending them onto the lawn at the northwest corner of the intersection.

Robert N. Raymer, Vernonia, and Charles O. Korn were involved in a crash near Beaverton Sunday. Mrs. F. J. Conroy and Mrs. D. M. Raymer, 27, suffered slight injuries.

Boys' Importance Cited by Speaker

Boys' work should be a personal assignment with every Rotarian, declared L. Clark Oberlies of Tacoma, a speaker of national reputation, who addressed an inter-city meeting of the Hillsboro and West Linn-Oregon City Rotary clubs in the chamber of commerce rooms Thursday night.

He advised letting the boy dress like other boys with whom he plays rather than dressing him up like a "Little Lord Fauntleroy."

Tricks of magic were given by William Cole of Vancouver, Wash. Mrs. V. W. Gardner sang two numbers and was accompanied by Mrs. Fred J. Sewell.

C. T. Richardson was in charge of arrangements and acted as chairman of the meeting.

Kraus Finishes Semester Test for State Use

O. B. Kraus, Washington county school superintendent, has completed a set of questions for state-wide use in fifth-grade geography classes and will send them into the state superintendent, he disclosed.

The assignment was given in connection with a new program to give members of the state board of education an examination at the end of the eighth grade.

Kraus, with a number of other county superintendents, was named to examine the questions in geography subjects in each grade. In some counties these examinations will be given as low as the fourth grade, but Washington county has set them at the sixth grade, Kraus explained.

At the Salem office, the set of questions will be checked before being sent out to those counties conducting fifth-grade geography examinations each semester.

Armistice Day Plans for City Taking Shape

Plans for Hillsboro's nineteenth annual Armistice day observance are rapidly rounding into shape under the direction of the Allied Veterans' Council, composed of the United Spanish War Veterans, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Hillsboro business houses, including banks and court house, will be closed in the parade day. As the day is not a national holiday the post office will not be closed and all deliveries will be made.

Parade Assembles 10-15

Veterans and patriotic groups will gather at the Veterans' hall on West Main street at 10:15 a. m. Thursday, November 11, for the parade. Captain Arthur Kroeger will be grand marshal and organizations will be invited to participate in the day's date of organization. Bands participating will include those from Bethany, Helvetia and the local grade schools. Flag raising ceremonies will be held at the flag pole at the court house square.

Patriotic exercises will be held in the Venetian theatre at 11 a. m. with Allan Bynon of Portland, former state senator, as speaker. Fred Corn, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will preside. Heads of the various patriotic organizations are invited to take seats on the stage.

Immediately after the program, members of the Legion Auxiliary and Legionnaires will join in a pot luck dinner in the Veterans' hall. An invitation has been extended to Banks American Legion post and Auxiliary to participate in the day's events, including the pot luck dinner. Those attending are requested to bring pot luck dinner for number in family. Coffee, cream, bread and butter will be furnished.

Feature of the afternoon will be a football game between Hillsboro union high and Tigard high on the Hilhi gridiron at 2 p. m. Plans call for making this an annual Armistice day game, one year here and the next at Tigard.

Dance Called Off

"The Days of 1918 Frolic" and dance, which was to have been given at the Legion, Armistice night, has been cancelled because of difficulty in making suitable arrangements. The legion, however, will hold a dance in the near future with Hilbur Dillon as chairman, it was announced by Jake Weil, post commander.

Family Farm Loans Sought

Washington county farm security administration offices are being swamped with applications from tenant farmers for loans to purchase family sized farms under title "F" of the Bankhead-ones farm tenement act, says Victor S. Madsen, county rehabilitation supervisor, Hillsboro.

As allotments for tenant purchase loans in Oregon, based on farm population and percentage of tenancy, are being increased to 100,000 or 12 families in the state can be brought under the program this year, said Madsen. The act calls for doubling the allotment next year and further increasing it the third year, if congress allots funds.

Formal applications for tenant purchase loans cannot be accepted in the county offices until machinery has been set up for administering the program and the rural areas selected where the program will be initiated this year. Not less than five or more than 10 loans will be made in any county selected.

The county supervisors have been advised that nominations for state advisory committees have been forwarded to Secretary Wallace for approval and no county committees will be set up until the state committees have recommended counties where the tenant purchase loans will be made this year.

Meanwhile there are sufficient funds to meet all immediate needs in the county in the way of rural rehabilitation loans to qualified farm families without adequate commercial credit for necessary livestock, feed, seed, farm equipment and co-operative accounts. Farm debt adjustment is available to all farmers in the county.

Plays Presented at Breakfast Club

Two presentations by a dramatic club of Mrs. H. H. Stannard featured the Thursday morning meeting of the Hillsboro Breakfast club.

Archie Ellingson and Velma Abundredth gave a skit "Through the Week with Mr. and Mrs. Dobbs" and Mrs. Stannard gave an excerpt from "Advertising Pays."

Grand Jury Reconvenes on Thursday

Several Cases Scheduled for Early Action; Circuit Court Draws Up Panel for November Duty

Grand jury investigation of Washington county cases will open Thursday according to G. Russell Morgan, district attorney.

The present grand jury will again serve although a new panel has been drawn for the November term of circuit court.

After making little progress at the last session on the death of Sven Lundstrom, the grand jury will probably continue its investigation into the finding of Lundstrom's body last summer. There will be additional witnesses called to testify, Morgan disclosed.

Make Investigation

The grand jury will also investigate a morals charge against Frank Davis and an assault and battery charge against Edward M. Greeley, Forest Grove.

The November jury list, which will be called November 22, follows:

Robert M. Banks, Banks; Clarence J. Crook, Gaston route 1; Hazel B. Stretcher, Hillsboro route 2; Perry G. Gabbert, Timber; Clarence G. Pettison, Portland route 6; Hulda A. Wilson, Cornelius route 1; Mammie Miller, Forest Grove; Norbert I. Chartter, Forest Grove; William L. Stevens, Hillsboro.

Rilla M. Webb, Beaverton; John D. Hare, Hillsboro route 1; Sherman G. Rhodes, Beaverton route 3; Hugh E. Moore, Banks route 1; William John Keller, Hillsboro; Robert H. Kelly, Hillsboro; Eva Meek, Cornelius route 1; Carrie Kinnaman, Aloha; Frank Turk, Cornelius; Imogene Bellinger, Forest Grove; William VanDowlen, Banks route 3; William H. Boscow, Hillsboro.

Unemployment Check Planned

A census of Washington county's unemployed will begin November 16, it was announced Tuesday by Postmaster L. T. McPheeters, who will be in charge of distribution of questionnaires.

Mayor J. H. Garrett has been named to head a committee to assist McPheeters in completing the census by November 20.

Printed forms will be sent to all Washington county residents, with a view to obtaining replies from: Total unemployed persons, who are able-bodied and want work; Partially unemployed workers; Those who are working in government relief agencies.

As fast as forms are received from registrants, they will be segregated into a unit designated as a checking section, in which are handled all replies from the area served by that post office. After November 25 the Hillsboro office will forward all forms and cards to the census administrator at Washington, D. C.

McPheeters emphasized the necessity for answering all the questions on the forms. If this is not done, he pointed out, much important information may be omitted.

Red Cross Membership Drive Starts Here Armistice Day

Armistice day will see the beginning of the Red Cross Membership drive in the nation, when everyone who can possibly afford to do so is asked to contribute to this noble cause. The Red Cross is always the first in time of disaster or emergency, and it is interesting to note the different phases of work the Red Cross is engaged in, including first aid stations on highways, at recreation resorts, swimming and life-saving campaigns, health work and many others. All of this is done by a corps of volunteer workers.

Listed in some of the emergency work done in this county so far this year is included $316.45 for fire disaster, $261.20 emergency relief, and $183.60 for glasses for children unable to procure them.

There are four different enrollment memberships—the annual membership of $1; contributing membership, $5; sustaining membership, $10, and supporting membership of $20. These different memberships only 50 cents is sent to the national, the remainder to be used in this county. Any one of these memberships will entitle one to partnership in this international organization. Contributions of less than $1 may be given but do not entitle contributor to membership.

County roll call chairmen have been named by W. F. Norman, president of the County Red Cross chapter, as follows:

Park Commissioners in Council Flare-Up

Traffic Code Falls Heavily on Motorists

A large number of anxious Hillsboro motorists are feeling the impact of the new traffic restrictions which went into effect last Friday with the posting of signs.

Chief of Police O. O. Freeman estimated that he had exhausted three books in four days of "tagging," while over 25 motorists have made their appearance at the city hall.

The new restrictions provide one-hour parking limit in restricted areas, and prohibit double parking except in those cases where a driver is in the car, when five minutes' grace is allowed.

These are the restricted areas: Main street between First and Second on the south side of the street to Second and then on both sides to the middle of the block between Third and Fourth.

Third and Second avenues: from Washington to one-half block north of Main street.

Baseline: First avenue to the Seventh Day Adventist church. City officials pointed out that there was no restriction on parking in the block that includes the courthouse, provided that the motorist stays on the courthouse side of the street.

Those drivers who fail to heed the tag will suffer correspondingly heavy penalties on their next offense, Freeman warned.

The present traffic code was adopted following many complaints because of congested traffic and difficulty in securing parking places. Heeding the complaints, the council passed the code in order to provide a solution to these problems.

Relief Budget for '38 Shows Record High

A relief allocation that will be the largest in Washington county history was made in the budget of the 1938 budget, examination has revealed.

Relief expenses for next year will come to a total of $50,900, including $14,000 additional to the old-age pension fund.

This will not include the state and federal contributions, and represents only the Washington county relief expenditures. Budget committee members pointed out.

County officials expressed hope that relief money would hold out longer next year than in 1937. By mid-summer of this year, nearly all of the funds allocated to the relief administration had been spent.

New Old-Age Set-Up

The large increase in the old-age funds comes as a result of the legislative act passed at the last session of the Oregon legislature, which set the age limit at 65 years and the maximum amount at $30. The state and county match the funds put up by the federal government.

Thus, while the county expenditure for old-age assistance comes to $32,000 next year, the Washington county aged will receive $128,000.

The allocation for the blind was raised from $800 to $1000, and direct assistance was raised from $9,000 to $12,000. The mothers' pension fund was eliminated and in its place a $5000 fund for dependent children was established.

Several salary raises were made in the court house, chiefly among clerks and deputies. Eleven such raises were authorized.

Hearing for the county budget has been set for November 29, it was announced by Judge Templeton.

Life scout—Jack Bauman, troop 247.

New Charge Faces Eugene Hammack

Eugene Hammack, who recently received a suspended sentence in circuit court on an auto theft charge, will be sent to Wheeler county, where he will face trial on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Hammack was brought back recently from Vale to face trial here, Sheriff W. Connell, informed of the Wheeler county charge, arrested Hammack and is holding him for Eastern Oregon officers.

Holiday Poultry Added Want Ads

An additional heading "Holiday Poultry" has been added under poultry for the holiday season for the benefit of subscribers.

Hundreds of satisfied repeat customers are using the want ads in the Argus and it truly has become "The Great Market Place of Washington County." The cost is small, but the results are worthwhile. A trial is convincing. The thousands of readers each week insure plenty of attention for the ads.
