Revival Services Close on Sunday
 Revival services being conducted at Farmington church by the Christian church of Hillsboro with R. L. Putnam, minister, will close Sunday evening. This is the third week of the meetings. The Beaverton minister assisted the first two weeks by preaching week nights, but this week the local minister is continuing alone. The interest has been good despite the stormy weather. A delegation of thirty local members attended the meeting Friday. These are the remaining series of sermons: Friday, "How Can a Man Be Born Again?"; Saturday no service; Sunday, a m., "Meaning of Church Membership," p. m., "The Devil's Whirlwind and Brush." The public is invited.
OUT OF THE MIRE
 Thursday night at 10 p. m. when the boy from Memphis, Tenn., uprose from his knees to exclaim: "I feel better already." Of one of their church families down there and maybe we had been a bit rough so as to shock him into position. He had been dilly-dallying with salvation and must be shown what lay ahead.
 "And so you have condemned your eternal soul to go out into the horror of unending eternities, there to dwell with the murderers, liars and unclean. And with your soul, your immortal spirit that can know God." We pointed to the soul that must forever be heavy or glad. We dwell on the spirit of man that can never be at rest until it rests in God who made it for himself.
 While the lad was getting to see himself in the light of things everlasting, one of the converts brought in the well-dressed man whose clothes so set him apart from the rest on the benches in this Mission hall. The man had been in real estate in Michigan and was in the grip of the gambling mania. All he made slipped away in the game with lie upon lie to hide it from the wife. So we see him come to the end of himself.
 "I can't help it if I do cry," he said. Maybe we would be in tears too if we were all mired down and

The Art of Brewing Beer

No. 5. FILTERING for Draught Beer and Bottling Departments

By PETER G. SCHMIDT, M. B.

"Beer, the Light Refreshment Beverage of Millions of Temperate People."

A view of the cellar where the government measures and records the amount of beer going into bottles.

FILTERING... The beer is now filtered for brilliancy. It then is ready to be transferred as needed to the draught beer and bottled beer departments. For the draught department, it goes directly to the keg filling machine, and for bottling, it goes through the government bonded pipe line and metering tanks to the bottling department, and from there to the consumer.

Every process of Olympia brewing is improved by the exceptional brewing qualities and constant purity of our famous subterranean water — "It's the Water".
