

Teachers to Hold Institute on Saturday

County teachers will convene at the Forest Grove union high school Saturday for their first institute meeting of the year, according to announcement made by O. B. Kraus, county school superintendent.

More than 200 of the county's 300 teachers are expected to attend the first of the year's three meetings, which opens at 9:30 a. m. Saturday with a musical program directed by Frances D. Arant. Following this, the institute will get under way with a business meeting and election of officers. Retiring officers include Thornburg, of Forest Grove union high, president; A. A. Baldwin, Metzger, vice-president; Marguerite Dooher, Cornelius, secretary, and Hila Cornelius, Hillsboro, treasurer.

At 10 o'clock, the teachers will divide into high school and grade school groups. D. A. Emerson, assistant state superintendent of public instruction, will address the high school group, while grammar school instructors will hear Marion Fulkerson, Marion county superintendent.

Professor R. Franklin Thompson of the Willamette University history department will be the featured speaker of the day, addressing the teachers at 11 a. m. on "Oxford of the Present Day." Thompson recently concluded study at Oxford university, and also at the University of Zurich in Switzerland.

Other meetings of the teachers during the year will probably be held in February and April at schools in the eastern section of the county, Kraus said.

Less Favorable Farm Market Foreseen for '38, Says Economist

A somewhat less favorable farm market demand outlook for 1938 than in 1937 is the most outstanding factor of general significance in the voluminous report prepared by the recent National Agricultural Outlook conference held at Washington, D. C., according to L. R. Breithaupt, O. S. C. extension economist, who represented Oregon at the conference.

This demand outlook is based principally upon an analysis of the general domestic economic situation and industrial activity. Foreign demand is expected to show little, if any, improvement, although experts may increase as a result of a necessity for finding outlets for a larger volume of farm products.

Commodity Costs to Rise

The report states that "both prices and buying power per unit of farm products are expected to be lower in 1938 than in 1937," and that cash farm income may be somewhat less than in 1937. On the other hand, farm wage rates and the cost of commodities used by farmers for production are expected to be higher, except feed and some kinds of seed. The cost of family living items may not change greatly on the whole, but over the country generally there will probably be less money available per family for living and savings.

The report deals extensively with the market outlook for all of the major crops and animal products from a national viewpoint, showing considerable variation in the outlook for the different products. Each county agricultural agent in the United States has been supplied with a mimeographed copy so that farmers may have access to the information, even though it is too lengthy for publication in entirety. Parts of the national report will be localized and supplemented from time to time by Mr. Breithaupt and his conclusion published in the form of agricultural situation and out-

The assembly council is sponsoring a program contest between the senior classes, Freshmen and sophomores, gave theirs early in October. November 10 the seniors gave a miniature senior play.

Sponsor Dance

After the Armistice game the Girls Athletic club sponsored a dance in the gym—18 complimentary tickets were given to the Tigard team, November 12 Miss Potts and Mr. Johnson visited Monroe and Corvallis physical education departments.

Annual Girl Reserve dance was held at the Masonic temple in Portland. Forty-five couples were from Hillsboro. Demonstrations were given of the Big Apple.

Senate Club Organizes

Senate club has organized and held a meeting with the new officers: Jack Christensen, president; Bob Sutherland, vice-president; Loren Bronckley, secretary; Don Hammer, treasurer; Jack Himmelright, sergeant-at-arms; Miss Weathered is advisor.

The Philas have had several meetings and are selling candy at the junior play.

To Attend Conference

Jean Person, Ann Peters, Betty Rosecrans and Mary Ann Garthofner are going to attend the Seabeck week in the city library. They attended the Girl Reserve training conference at Seabeck, Wash., this summer.

Aid in Book Week

Did you admire the posters on Book Week in the city library? They were drawn by Virginia Bunnell, promising Hilli artist. The biology class contributed to a nature study table, Jeanne Abts, Eva Peppard, Shirley Martin, and others were on duty in the library explaining the collection to visiting students.

Mascot?

Student Council has decided upon a mascot for its Thanksgiving game—the hilarious club will have charge of the mascot through the courtesy of Denzel Stunkard '36. Wotizit?—Come to the game! White chrysanthemums flaunting blue H's will again be sold for 35c for the Thanksgiving game.

Can you give a genuine African laff? Can you make a porch appear and disappear between scenes? Can you talk baby talk? Can you bark? If you can—come to the Hilli auditorium any night around 7 p. m.—the junior play cast would like a demonstration. If someone asks to borrow your top hat, your wash boiler, or your dog—just remember you were once 17 and give it to him.

And, oh yes, the play is tonight (Thursday). We are saving seats for those last minute minute makers-upperers—so after you've read your Argus, it still isn't too late to decide to come.

Several Accidents Reported in Week

Wet weather brought on a series of auto crashes, with ten collisions reported to the local police office for the county in the four days from Saturday to Tuesday, after a week that was startingly bare of any accidents.

Claude Ede, of Hillsboro, was injured last Monday when he walked into a car driven by Mrs. Raymond L. Miller of Forest Grove at the intersection of Second and base-line Ede was taken to Jones hospital, where his injuries were reported not serious.

133 Parents Visit in Education Week

American education week observed in Hillsboro was termed "very successful" by J. W. Poynter, superintendent of city schools.

One hundred and thirty-three parents visited the three Hillsboro schools during the five days of education week, it was announced. The Peter Boscow school had the largest number and captured the $3 prize offered the school attracting the greatest parent interest, Poynter said.

Tavern Changes Hands

Marian Andrews of Portland took over ownership of the Black Hawk tavern, east of Shute park on the highway, yesterday, according to an announcement made by Cyril Laflaie, former proprietor. Grand opening of the place under the new management has been tentatively set for Saturday, November 27.

New Partner Enters Local Auto Agency

R. D. Bolt, formerly Pacific regional business manager for the Pontiac Motor company, purchased an interest in the local Pontiac dealership this week from Roy C. Cartwright. Bolt will be manager of the local concern, while Cartwright plans to devote the majority of his time to his interests in Eastern Oregon.

Coming to Hillsboro from San Francisco, Cal., Bolt has been connected with General Motors for the past nine years. In 1935 he worked out of the Portland Pontiac zone office and is familiar with the local territory. He plans to move here with his wife as soon as the Ireland apartments are completed.

The new firm will be known as Cartwright & Bolt, replacing the former Cartwright Pontiac sales.

C. L. Harrison, until recently connected with a Portland automobile concern, was added to the Cartwright & Bolt staff this week as salesman.

Special Road Meet Called by Court

Saturday morning, November 27, has been set for a meeting of voters of road district No. 1, according to an announcement issued by the county court this week.

The meeting has been called to hold an election regarding levying of a special tax not to exceed two mills on all taxable property in the district for construction and maintenance of its roads. The meeting will be held in the county court room of the court house, beginning at 10 a. m.
