

Mr. and Mrs. Inkley Celebrate Anniversary

BANKS—Mr. and Mrs. Sam Inkley celebrated their golden wedding Sunday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Clell Carstens. The affair was more of a surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Inkley, who expected only a family reunion and dinner at noon. Instead a most elaborate affair had been planned by Mrs. Carstens and other members of the family.

A wedding ceremony was performed in the morning when Mr. and Mrs. Inkley renewed their vows of wedlock. Rev. A. M. Stooks of Forest Grove read the ceremony in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Inkley wore a dress of dark green water silk taffeta and carried a corsage of yellow sweetpeas and rosebuds and blue forget-me-nots, with yellow streamers.

The couple were attended by their grandson, Harry Inkley, and his wife, who were recently married. Mrs. Harry Inkley wore a black dress and a bandeau of yellow rosebuds in her hair. She wore a corsage of salmon colored rosebuds.

The wedding march was played by Miss Ruth Boyles at the piano and Gerald Smith, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Inkley, who played the violin. Preceding the ceremony, Little June Inkley, the seven-year-old granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Inkley, sang "I Love You Truly." Little Sammy Inkley, a grandson, was ringbearer.

At noon a bountiful dinner was served to 52 relatives and friends. Centering the table was a beautiful bouquet of roses.

Open house was held all afternoon when friends and relatives from far and near called to offer congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Inkley. Cake and coffee were served to all visitors. Those who assisted with the serving were Mrs. Gus Gheen, Mrs. Wallace Smith, Mrs. Clem Inkley and Mrs. Lola Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Inkley were married in 1887 at West Union, Iowa. After living there a year Mr. Inkley was called to England to settle an estate. When he returned they moved to Nebraska, where they lived for 17 years. They moved to Oregon in 1905 and settled on a farm near Banks, where they still live.

Mrs. Inkley, who was Miss Elva Wells, was born November 6, 1862, at Eldora, Iowa. Mr. Inkley was born in England in 1864 and came to America when 18 months old.

Mr. and Mrs. Inkley are the parents of four children: Mrs. Clell Carstens and Clem Inkley of Banks, Mrs. Wallace Smith of Forest Grove and Clark Inkley of Portland. They have eight grandchildren. All four children, five grandchildren and the two great-grandchildren were present at the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Inkley received many beautiful presents, including a radio from friends of Banks.

Legislation and Rural Recreation County PTA Topic

Legislation and rural recreation were the subjects of the Washington county council of Parent-Teacher associations at an all-day meeting held at the Cedar Mill Grange hall Tuesday.

Mrs. William Kletzer, Portland, state chairman on legislation and national vice-president, spoke on both national and state measures affecting child welfare. The motion picture and food drug acts were explained. In regard to education, Mrs. Kletzer told of the state equalizing plan and said that funds from school lands had decreased from $12 to less than $1.25 per child in the last 25 years. This has made the equalizing fund especially important in Oregon.

Mrs. Inez Miller, Gresham, state rural recreation chairman, said that the community or the home is responsible for delinquency. Parents, schools and all agencies interested in children should be helping the children find ways to use leisure time. The example of the Yuletide merry-making in England as described in some of our carols could well be copied here, she said. The whole family should join in at such times.

Twelve associations were represented at the meeting conducted by Mrs. Gladys Green, president. The annual budget was read by Mrs. George Burns, treasurer, and accepted. New by-laws were presented by Mrs. Green and will be voted on at the next meeting scheduled for February at Garden Home.

A. M. Porter Named Red Cross Director

Complete reports of the membership roll call were not available at the meeting of the County Red Cross chapter last Thursday evening at the chamber of commerce, as many communities had not reported. However, it is assumed that the total will be about the same as last year.

A. M. Porter was named as an additional director in the Gaston community. According to communication from the national chapter, money may be accepted for relief work in China, but no active drive will be made.

This Week's Patterns

SIMPLE and unadorned, the afternoon frock of Pattern 8059 is designed for young moderns. The tucked bodice is shirred at the waistline to emphasize the curves of the figure. Comes in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20.

The new long lump-post silhouette so popular this year is presented in the day-time dress of Pattern 8066. A smart outfit for festive occasions. Designed in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20.

The diagram beside Pattern 8075 shows how simple this charming house dress is to make. This model in a variety of fabrics is sure to keep the lady of the house looking her best. In sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46.

A three-piece outfit to delight the girl of ten is shown in Pattern 8087. The blouse is as trim as a weskit and the calot cap and muff are made in contrasting material. Designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16 years.

A distinctly different gift is the evening ensemble of Pattern 8089. The bolero jacket is of velvet or metal cloth and transforms an otherwise simple daytime frock. Bag and calot are made to match. Comes in sizes small (34-36), medium (38-40) and large (42-44).

Good Citizenship Pilgrimage is Stressed by D.A.R.

Good Citizenship Pilgrimage in the high schools of the county was stressed at the D. A. R. meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. R. Manley. This is the giving of an award to the senior girl selected on her qualities of dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism. Three outstanding girls are selected by the faculty, and then the students elect by vote the girl who is to receive the award.

The girl receiving this award is given an equal chance with all winners in the state to represent Oregon at the National meeting in Washington, D. C. next year, with all expenses paid. She also receives a bronze D. A. R. pin.

It was announced that the D. A. R. magazine will be placed in the local library in the future. The magazine is now edited by the well-known writer, Frances Parkington Keyes, and the February number will feature Oregon.
