TO A TREE IN DECEMBER
Majesty atop a willow-shrine
That bronze-hued leaves have flown,
That know not how it could be kind
Or call a thing its own,
That standeth there, in sad salute
Beside of all thy summer's gold:
Bared to the blast of winter's cold,
That could'st complain, but thou art mute.

Your hired man eats more than the DIESEL RD4

One owner reports it costs more to feed his operator than to buy fuel for his "Caterpillar" Diesel Tractor. At present food prices, three "squares" a day would equal $1.50. With Diesel fuel priced at 7 cents per gallon, the 5-pow RD4 does heavy plowing for about $1.40 worth of fuel per day. Ask us for more facts.
