

Battery "E" Tops Bowlers in Doubles

Battery "E" fourth-place team in the City league's first half play, raked in top honors in the Hillsboro mid-winter bowling tournament for team play concluded here this week, piling up a score of 3050 for a 97-point margin over their nearest competitors.

C. C. Store's aggregation, which rated championship class in the City league, came second with 2953, followed by Birdseye Frosted Foods, 2898; Oakes Grocery, 2886; and Fix-it Shop, 2873.

Top honors in the doubles events, which had not been concluded yesterday, were claimed by Bert Vandye and Tony VanGrunsven, with 1240, trailed by George Zimmerman and Clem Eslinger, 1233, and Lyle Oakes and Bud Peschka, 1204.

Doubles and singles events will be brought to a close this week, it was announced by Ray Dillon, manager of the City league, and the way will be cleared for resumption of league play next Monday. A different handicap system will be in vogue during the second half, with a three-quarter instead of a two-thirds system in use. New bowlers are being added by a number of the teams, he reported, particularly in the lower divisions.

Rock Creek Farm Draws Two on Air Flight from New York

"We blew in with the snowstorm!" It was Miss Ava Lobdell speaking. Or maybe it was Mrs. Lea Moulin. They both talked at once, exchanging Christmas greetings, buying holiday gifts, and answering questions last Friday afternoon as they conducted a two-person Christmas-eve invasion of Hillsboro stores.

Only a few hours earlier the two women had arrived in Portland via airliner from New York City, and by mid-afternoon were carrying on a belated but vigorous Christmas shopping tour.

"We passed up Macy's for Hillsboro," one of them said. And both Miss Lobdell, who is personal representative for President Jefferson of the Union Pacific railroad, and Mrs. Moulin, prominent song writer, seemed to be enjoying themselves.

Glad to be Home

"We're certainly glad to be back home again," one of them said—or maybe it was both. The pair of country-crossing women travelers have zig-zagged back and forth across the United States several times in the past few months, visiting Los Angeles, San Francisco and New York within one week's time recently.

Home for Miss Lobdell and Mrs. Moulin is "Merlo on Rock Creek," an almost brand-new farm about two miles northwest of Hillsboro. Although both of the trans-continental travelers were elated over Christmas, their arrival here on a "Yule" festivity and the excitement of New Year's Eve and New Year's season, the thing that elicited most comment from them was the crop of record breaking turnips their farm produced.

"To put it mildly," Mrs. Moulin said, "they were whoppers!"

The two New York-to-Hillsboro fliers also claim some distinction as pioneers, having taken over the Rock Creek farm after it had been turned down by many, and in two years clearing over 20 acres, setting out a 20-acre filbert grove, and producing two huge turnip crops.

"For a couple of amateurs," they said, "it's not so bad."

Two Tell Highlights

Thirty songs in the past three months is the personal record set by Mrs. Moulin. They are being published by New York firms and will be out during the early part of the coming year. Mrs. Moulin remains at the farm for most of the winter.

Chapelle Music company is sending a representative, Mr. Howells, to Portland in ten days to hear some of Mrs. Moulin's songs which are out of bed long enough to develop the pangs of hunger. By getting up sufficiently early to wash, dress and exercise in the outdoors the chances are that you will be ready to eat. The morning should have these fixed periods: A time for getting up, a time for eating breakfast and a time for arriving at school or work. At least one hour should be allowed for the time of rising and the time of leaving home. This will give everyone time for eating a substantial breakfast.

The breakfast may include a variety of food but it should be built around certain essentials. For children as well as adults, a cereal—preferably a whole grain cereal such as oatmeal—milk, bacon or eggs, bread and butter, and fresh or stewed fruit. The food should be appetizing and tempting. Old foods should be served in new ways. Variety is essential in serving eggs and cereals. Eat a moderate breakfast at a regular time every morning. Watch your weight: Eat just enough so that you neither gain nor lose. Growing children should gain continuously.

Men and women in business or industries should not go to work breakfastless as such custom leads to inefficiency and is in time-harmful. Experience teaches that regularity in eating is the only safe and satisfactory practice. The person who has not time for breakfast should change his hours of rest so as to allow plenty of time for the most important meal of the day—breakfast. The one who has no appetite should see that his digestive tract is kept in a healthy state by drinking at least two glasses of water before breakfast. Time and again it has been observed that those who have the greatest number of absences from their work are usually those who have cultivated the habit of going without breakfast. Start the day right with a good substantial breakfast.

Many grownups and children go without enough breakfast or have the wrong kind. It is practically impossible to get enough food in the remaining meals and very often the desire for food will have gone by noon time and there is no appetite for a good lunch. A chain of poor eating is then started which will lead eventually to under nutrition. Late rising with its rush and hurry is one of the main reasons for having an inadequate appetite for breakfast. No one can be expected to eat a substantial breakfast unless he can sit down to the table with from 20 minutes to half an hour set aside for the sole purpose of eating. If you have no appetite for breakfast, it may be that you have not been using the Want Ads in the Argus. Thousands profit by their use.

Judge Bagley Will Return to Bench

Judge George R. Bagley of Hillsboro, formerly circuit judge here, has been called in as special master for further hearing of CIO woodworkers charged with contempt of a federal court restraining order, beginning today at either Newport or Toledo.

This decision was made by Judge James Alger Fee in United States district court in Portland Tuesday. Judge Fee has been sitting in the contempt cases recently. Judge Bagley will hold hearings to determine if a temporary injunction, sought by the Waterfront Employers' association and 40 shipping lines, should be issued, and will also hold hearings on the rule to show cause in contempt for 15 defendants, CIO timber workers and loggers, who were on the Port of Newport dock after the injunction was issued. Claimed curiosity as the reason for their presence, and none admitted picketing the Steamer Anna Shaffer, which longshoremen were attempting to load.

County Project Bids to be Opened

One Washington county highway project is included among the 16 for which the state highway commission will open bids in Portland January 6.

Grading and surfacing 11-mile and construction of an 87-foot pile trestle on the West Fork Dairy creek section of the Nehalem secondary highway constitutes the county project coming under consideration at the highway commission's meeting next week.

Resolutions for Drivers Given by Earl Snell

Taking advantage of the open season on New Year's resolutions, Secretary of State Earl Snell this week listed the following seven pledges which, if observed by motorists, would in his opinion go farthest in cutting this state's traffic toll.

"I, holder of an Oregon driver's license, hereby resolve:

"First, never to insist upon the right-of-way when to do so might cause an accident.

"Second, to use my horn as a warning device and not as a public address system.

"Third, to keep my car in tip-top mechanical condition at all times.

"Fourth, never to drive my car at a speed greater than would permit me to bring it to a stop within the distance I know to be clear and unobstructed—whether by day or night.

"Fifth, to know the traffic law and to give 100 per cent co-operation to traffic officers.

"Sixth, to treat everyone I meet on the road, whether pedestrian or motorist, with utmost courtesy and consideration.

"Seventh, to keep my mind on my driving."

Purebred Stock Bought in County

Three purebred Guernsey bulls were recently added to Washington county dairy herds, according to an official report of the American Guernsey Cattle club issued this week from headquarters in Peterboro, N. H.

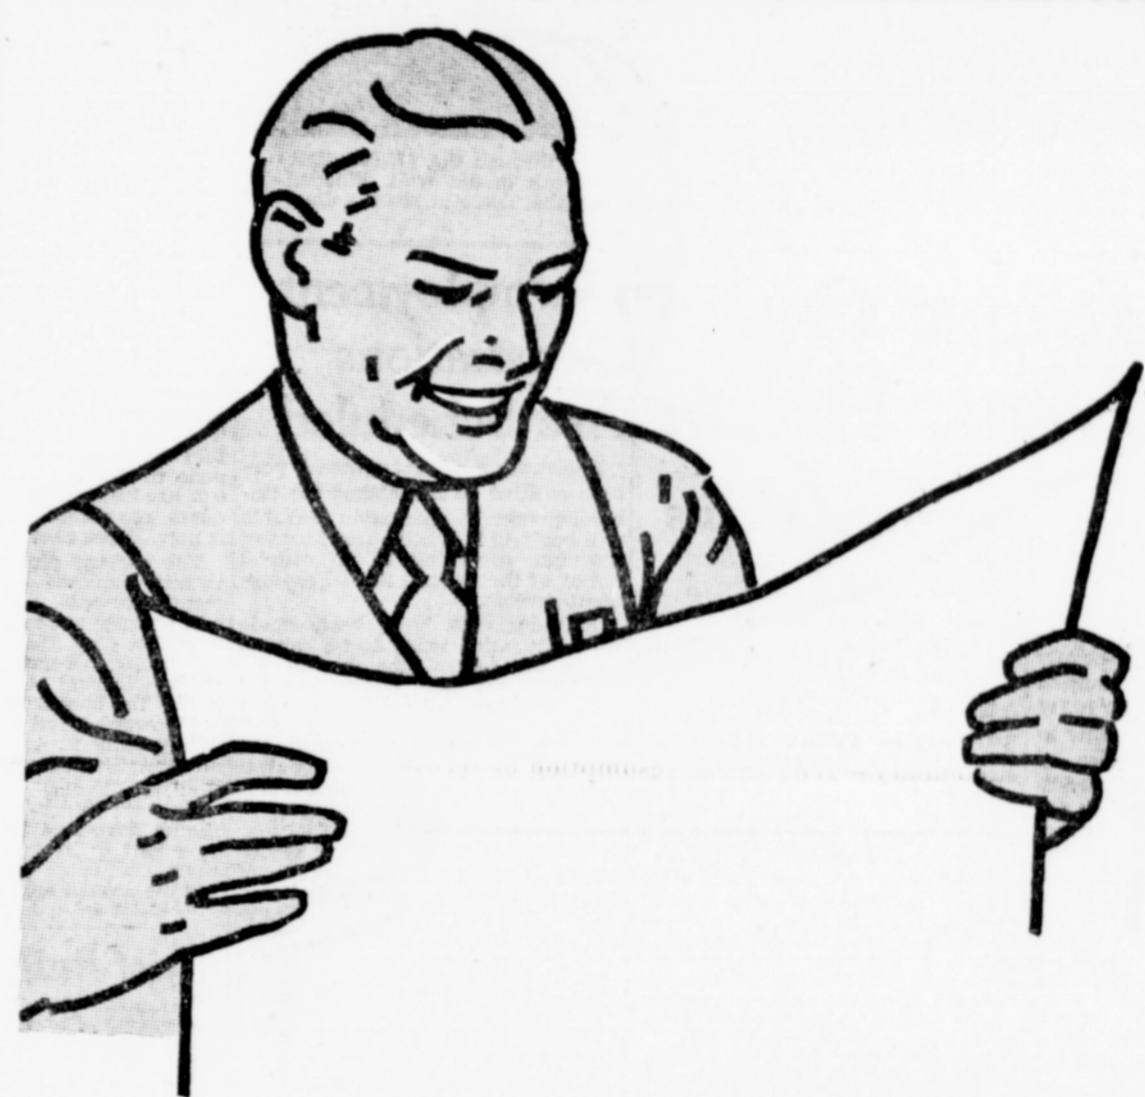

Two of the bulls were sold by Peterboro and Wilson of Greenham, Sam Hill and Sons of Hillsboro, purchased Sheikh's Buddy of Mildale, 210508, and Hermina Unger of Cornelius bought Gloria's Pride of Springcrest, 233399. The third, known as Lassie's Bing Cross, 233390, was sold by G. W. Thieson of Milwaukie to Walter Schmidt of Laurel.
